SWEETSER DUE TO FACE JONES IN SEMIFINALS

M'CARTHYY DEFEATED BY FORMER CHAMPION

Loses, 5 and 4, Despite One-Hole Lead on Morning Round.

SEAVER AND HOMANS ALSO CLASH TODAYY

By ALAN GOULD
(Associated Press Sports Editor).

Merion Cricket Club, Ardmore, Pa., Sept. 25 (A.P.).—It isn't news when the ordinary golfer drives out of bounds, slices into a trap or takes three putts. It is hot news when Bobby Jones does these things, but after a day and a half of embarrassing moments, the great Georgian suddenly snapped out of his slump this afternoon, applied the par crusher to Fay Coleman, 23-year-old Californian, and swept into the semifinals of the national amateur golf championship.

Jones, after an erratic morning round in which he looked like anything but a triple champion, staged a characteristic return to form to wallop Coleman by 6 and 5, in the 36-hole quarter-finals. As a result Bobby has only two more all-day battles between him and the goal that no other golfer has ever approached—a clean sweep of all four British and American championships in one year.

Tomorrow Jones will play an old rival, Jess W. Sweetser, Kentucky-bred New Yorker who shared with Jones the distinction of having held both the American and British amateur titles. Sweetser, who had to engage in a play-off to qualify in this tournament, put on a comeback himself today to beat the youthful ironman, Maurice J. McCarthy, of New York, conqueror of George Von Elm in a record-breaking 28-hole second-round match. Sweetser captured his quarter-final match, 5 and 4, after being one down at the end of the morning 18 holes.

Two Youths Survive.

Two other semifinals tomorrow brings together two youngsters who have been upsetting golfing dope by the wholesale in this tournament—18-year-old Charles Seaver, thickset Los Angeles youth, and Eugene V. Homans, of Englewood, N. J., 22-year-old, frail-looking former Princeton golf captain.

Sharp contrasts in physique and playing style, the two youngsters came through their quarter-final contests in smashing manner. Homans, in the biggest upset of the day, swamped Johnny Lehman, of Chicago, the Western amateur champion, 8 and 7, with a game that was close to par all the way. Seaver, after a nervous start, just managed to gain a one-hole lead at the eighteenth hole in the morning and then settled down to eliminate 37-year-old Billy McPhail, of Boston, 5 and 4.

Seaver, who has just entered as a freshman at Stanford University, has never so much as reached the match play of a national tournament before, while Homan's chief claims to fame heretofore were his Metropolitan championship victory in 1928 and a tie with Bobby Jones for the medal at Pebble Beach last year. Yet these two comparatively inexperienced youths have survived a flock of favorites and tomorrow will battle for the right to enter the championship final and—probably—play the one and only Mr. Jones.

Sweetser Beat Jones in 1922.

In the only other time they have met in the national amateur, Sweetser walloped Jones by the lop-sided margin of 8 and 7 at Brookline in 1922, the year that big Jess won the tournament. But the Georgian has become the giant of the links since then, holder of more national titles than any other man in golfing history. Moreover, Jones has the record of never having been beaten twice by the same player in any championship competition and especially since his manifestation of a return to form this afternoon.

Had Coleman been able to do any consistent work at all with his putter today, the Californian might have given Jones an unpleasantly close call, for Bobby was clearly off his game throughout the morning round. On the fourth hole, 595 yards, the Georgian topped his second shot and put his third in a trap, but he got a half in six. He three putted the first, but so did Coleman. He three putted the sixth and lost it. He drove out of bounds on the fifteenth and lost the hole, but nevertheless he finished the round 2 up on a youngster

Calvin Coolidge

Says: Because we do not approve of the aims and objects of the Soviets of Russia is no reason for becoming hysterical. They might cause a temporary flurry by a raid on any of our exchanges but in their present state they are not likely to smother us in that. In order to get foreign wheat in here it takes 42 cents per bushel of real money to pay the duty. It is something of an anomaly that foreign interests can sell on the exchange without paying a duty. But in that kind of operation it is necessary for them to repurchase at a later date. Brokers will therefore demand ample security before executing orders.

But, while averting hysteria, we may as well ascertain facts and face them. The legitimate use of our market machinery is one thing. Using it for the purpose of public injury is something else. If investigation shows that foreign sales are made for the purpose of creating artificial prices in the hope of disorganizing our markets, causing depression and loss, with resulting unemployment and public unrest, both our Government and our exchanges should act at once to end such operations. But we need not be unduly alarmed. We shall not be overwhelmed.

OPINION SPLIT BARED IN WHEAT SALE QUIZ

HYDE TAKES OTHER VIEW

(Associated Press)

What steps will be taken by the Chicago Board of Trade to prevent short selling of wheat such as that indulged in by traders for the Soviet government was undecided after a conference here yesterday between members of the board and high Federal officials.

Silas H. Strawn, general counsel, and three members of the Chicago board conferred at length at the Agricultural Department with Secretaries Hyde and Lamont and Chairman Legge of the Farm Board, but aside from informal statements by both sides that no unfriendly feelings existed and an expression by board members that they would cooperate in any preventive measure, nothing concrete developed.

"We have left it with them in the hope they will do something," said Secretary Hyde after the meeting. "We are not asking that they do anything but clean their own house."

Strawn was reluctant to talk. He did say, however, that the board entertained the most friendly and sympathetic attitude toward the government and "not the slightest hostility" existed.

Differences of opinion as to the effect on prices of short selling of as much as 7,500,000 bushels of wheat, the amount Hyde complained was sold by Soviet traders over a period of four days, developed after the meeting between Hyde and the Chicago visitors.

Replying to questions of newspapermen, Strawn said it was his personal belief short selling of this amount of grain was insufficient to depress prices. Peter P. Carey, board member, agreed with the general counsel.

The Agriculture Secretary, however, took the view that it all depended on who did the selling. If it was an individual trader like himself, for example, he said, it would make little difference, but with a whole government backing the transaction and prepared to continue similar activities, it was more than likely prices would be affected.

The contention that a 7,500,000-bushel short sale is negligible in so far as the effect on prices is concerned was described by Hyde as the "traditional attitude of grain exchanges."

Regarding the conference, Hyde said a general discussion took place on

MUSICIANS ACCEPT COMPROMISE TERMS

37 MEN TO LOSE JOBS

Contracts insuring the employment of musicians in chain motion picture theaters of Washington were signed in New York yesterday, following an all-day conference between officials of the local Musicians Protective Union and representatives of Loew's, Fox, Warner Bros., R-K-O-Keith and Universal interests. According to the agreement—which definitely ends a contract row of nearly two months standing—21 musicians will be employed at the Fox and Palace, 16 in the Earle, and at least twelve organists. Just which theaters will have organists was not definitely decided.

While local musicians regarded the new compromise contract as a distinct victory, its terms call for a reduction of Washington orchestras from about 107 to 70. The agreement is binding only on operators of chain theaters, it was stated, and independent theaters here must settle their own differences with the musicians.

Such details as wages and hours were said to be the same in the new contract as in the one that expired August 31, but was extended until today by operators of downtown theaters.

Officials of the local musicians' union who attended the conference yesterday were A. C. Hayden, president; John E. Birdsell, secretary, and Richard Ashby.

Maryland Woman Sues For Breach of Promise

Special to The Washington Post.

Cumberland, Md., Sept. 25.—Alleging breach of promise and asking $5,000 damages, Miss Ella Kroll, Frostburg, has entered suit in the Circuit Court here against Emmett McAteer, also of Frostburg. Both are middle-aged and unmarried.

Miss Kroll alleges that McAteer, a miner, promised to marry her and then failed to go through with the ceremony.

Fleeing Falls Church Boy Sought by Father

His hair is red and his eyes are blue and when last seen 15-year-old Lee Kerns was lugging a straw suit case in the direction of this city, his father yesterday told police.

The anxious parent, John W. Kerns, of Falls Church, Va., said that his son wore a tan suit and a blue cap. A lookout has been sent to all police precincts in an effort to locate the boy.

Beauty Parlor Is Provided Women Workers of Senate

Secretaries and Clerks, Led by Curtis' Aid, Favored With Make-Up Retreat Located in Rat-Infested Basement of Office Building.

By EDWARD T. FOLLIARD.

The 200 women who work on the Senate side of the Capitol at last have won their fight for a beauty parlor; one has been established for them in the Senate Office Building.

There is a fly in the facial cream, however. The beauty parlor, a cozy little place decorated in soothing pink and blue, and equipped with a canary cage and a goldfish bowl in addition to the usual beauty benches, is located in a room that once was used as a paint locker, a room far down in the basement on the Delaware avenue side.

Now, it is not generally known, but the basement of the Senate Office Building is a favorite hang-out for rats; huge, bold rats that never heard of senatorial dignity, and among the places in the basement that they like to visit on their rounds is the aforementioned beauty parlor.

There have been no casualties among the customers as yet, however, nor, for that matter, any exciting flights. And if Charles E. Alden, the custodian of the building, has his way, there are not likely to be any.

Mr. Alden, who is largely responsible for making the building the comfortable and thief-proof structure it now is, plans to exterminate the rats by gunfire. He is going to put a sharpshooter on the job down in the basement.

He has tried traps, but evidently the rats are too wily to walk into them. One of them recently walked around all the traps in his path, and,

FORD REJECTS PLEA FOR FUND TO AID FASCISM

German Hitler Leaders Repulsed by Magnate in Munich Hotel.

PREDICTS SCRAPPING OF VERSAILLES PACT

Paris Points to French Army in Commenting on Views of "Man Without Country."

Munich, Germany, Sept. 25 (A.P.). The Jewish Telegraphic Agency reports that Henry Ford, now staying at the Bayerhof Hotel here, today declined to see leaders of the national Socialist party (Fascists), who called on him in an attempt to enlist his support for the Hitlerite movement.

Repulsed by Mr. Ford, Hitler's representatives then placed their proposal before Ford's staff. Among them was the suggestion that Mr. Ford support the Fascists to the extent of 20,000,000 marks (about $4,800,000), which Mr. Ford and his representatives declined to do.

Leipsic, Germany, Sept. 25 (A.P.).—Adolf Hitler, chieftain of fascism in Germany, took advantage of a ready-made platform in the Leipsic supreme court today to tell Germans and the world how he would set up a German "third empire."

Predicts Gigantic Rally.

The plan he sketched while a witness in the trial of three German Reichswehr officers on charges of subversive activities involved tearing up the Versailles treaty, with such consequences as might follow that action, and intimation that blood would flow at home once his "revolutionary tribunals" were set to working.

With all of the conviction and confidence of a man who stakes his all on a cause, he asserted that 35,000,000 or 40,000,000 German voters soon would rally under the Fascist banner.

The court at intervals exerted a modulating influence on the Fascist leader and the Boerse, ever senstive politically, reacted downward.

Police Disperse Crowds.

The trial itself, occupying public attention for several days, lost its own prominence in the light of Hitler's personality. While he testified in the courtroom swarms of his followers remained in the streets before the building, lustily voicing their slogan, "Germany, awake!"

So great did the pressure become in the area around the court building that finally after police reinforcements had been unable to make enough of an impression on the mob, firemen turned streams of cold water on the shouting Fascists and the throng gave way quickly.

Hitler was outspoken. He said that just as soon as German Fascists by legal means had attained political ascendancy they would disrupt the peace treaty, if necessary by means looked upon by the world as illegal. He said his party did not regard Germany's international postwar agreements as law but as something "forced upon us."

Outspoken on Revolution.

He asserted that Fascists did not acknowledge Germany's war guilt, "especially not the guilt of future generations." He said his party intended to oppose Germany's postwar treaties "both diplomatically and by completely evading them."

Hitler declared that after two or three more elections his party would be in the majority in Germany.

He made frequent use of the word revolution. Asked by the court why he did so he replied promptly:

"What other name can we give to a movement which aims to overturn

U. S. OFFICIALS PLAN FOR NEW ARMS PARLEY

Cotton Says Hoover and Gibson Discussed League Session.

MEETING IN GENEVA SET FOR NOVEMBER

State Department Sees Little of Interest to This Country.

ENVOY TO BELGIUM LOOMS AS DELEGATE

Special Exemption Vessels May Be Included in Conference Agenda.

(Associated Press.)

The question of disarmament last night claimed the attention of State Department officials for the first time since the London Naval Treaty was ratified by Congress.

Acting Secretary of State Cotton confirmed reports that Hugh S. Gibson, American Ambassador to Belgium, during a visit to Washington several days ago, conferred with President Hoover and himself regarding the forthcoming meeting of the Preparatory Disarmament Commission of the League of Nations.

This meeting, which will begin at Geneva November 3, is the second part of the sixth session held by that body to devise a formula for world-wide disarmament on sea, land and air in preparation for a general disarmament conference next year.

Agenda Not Received.

While no agenda has been received by the American Government for the forthcoming meeting, State Department officials said that it was assumed that questions included in the London Treaty of such general nature as rules for scrapping ships and special and exempt classes of vessels would be taken up in November.

It was also believed that the question of land forces would be considered.

This question, officials pointed out, is one in which the United States maintains it has no particular interest, since its land forces are, in proportion to population, smaller than those of almost any other power of sufficient size to be considered.

Gibson, Wilson May Be Delegates.

There have been no indications as to whom President Hoover will select as American delegates, although the fact that Ambassador Gibson, assisted by Hugh R. Wilson, American Minister to Switzerland, has served at previous meetings, was taken by some to indicate that they would continue in the capacity of delegates at the forthcoming meeting.

Ambassador Gibson will confer again with President Hoover and State Department officials on the question before he sails for Europe at the expiration of his leave.

Woman Sues Moffatt For $20,382.77 Fund

William Lee Moffatt, who is now serving a five-year term at the District Jail on an embezzlement charge, was named defendant in a suit for $20,382.77 filed yesterday in District Supreme Court by M. Maude Douglas, of the Clifton Terrace Apartments, Fourteenth and Clifton streets northwest.

The plaintiff alleges that she turned over to Moffatt various securities and cash to invest for her. She claims he converted the money to his own use.

Moffatt's jail term followed his indictment on similar charges involving other money and securities alleged to have been entrusted to him by clients.

14 Students Hurt in Crash.

Ogden, Utah, Sept. 25 (A.P.).—Fourteen students of Weber College were injured, five of them seriously, and H. W. Randall, driver of the school bus, received a fractured skull in a collision north of here today between the bus and a truck.

The Automobile Dollar

The prices of automobiles are today the lowest in history! Not only are prices lower, but quality is higher, and there has been a marked improvement in performance. Today your dollar will buy greater speed, comfort, dependability and beauty. Automobiles will doubtless be further improved in design and in mechanical perfection during future years, but it is inconceivable that their cost can be further reduced in relation to their character . . . There can be no advantage in deferring an automobile purchase. On the contrary, present slackening of demand has induced dealers to offer concessions of greatest benefit to the purchaser.

Campbell Advocates Amendment's Repeal

Believes Evils of Prohibition Are Far Worse Than Those It Was Meant to Remedy and Suggests Congressional Control.

Nineteenth and last of a series of articles by the former prohibition administrator of the Eastern New York district.

By MAJ. MAURICE CAMPBELL.

It is a great satisfaction to me to be relieved of the responsibility for prohibition enforcement. No one except myself, or a man similarly situated, can possibly realize this.

As a Government official sworn to enforce the law, to be constantly embarrassed in public restaurants by the display of illegal liquor on adjoining tables, to attend a football game and see the man next to you take a swig from his flask and pass it to his friends, to go into the lounge car of a train for a quiet smoke and be compelled to watch the attendant serve the set-ups into which liquor is poured from the inevitable flask, to be obliged to decline invitations to public dinners and other functions because of the display of liquor all about you, or to visit the home of a friend who thoughtlessly serves cocktails in your presence, is not my idea of a happy life.

And frequently, in all these situations, your life is made more miserable by the presence of your immediate family or intimate friends, who are aware of your official position and seem to expect this disregard for the law to cease in your august presence with

CARDS SCORE AGAIN; NEED ONE MORE WIN

CUBS ALSO TRIUMPHANT

St. Louis, Sept. 25 (A.P.).—Cheered by more than 20,000 home-town fans, the Cardinals shut out the Pittsburgh Pirates, 9 to 0, here this afternoon and now need only one more game to clinch the 1930 National League pennant.

That veteran right-handed spitballer, Burleigh Grimes, pitched superb ball to win the Redbirds victory, while his hard-hitting teammates blasted Kremer from the hill in the second inning.

Jim Bottomley, big Redbird first baseman, sent the noisy fans into a frenzy of joy early in the first inning with a long home run over the right-field pavilion, scoring Adams and Frisch ahead of him. Just before this, Douthitt, who had doubled when the inning opened, had scored on Frisch's single.

Spencer went to the mound for Pittsburgh in the second, but the confident Cards kept on hitting, scoring two more runs in that inning, one in the third and two in the sixth. In the second Gelbert tripled and scored on Grimes' single. Grimes advanced on Douthit's single and Frisch's walk, then scored on Bottomley's sacrifice fly. Watkins tripled in the third and came home on an infield out. In the sixth Grimes singled, Douthit doubled, scoring Grimes and went to third on the throw to the plate. Adams singled and Douthit scored.

Manager Gabby Street and his Birds were happy men tonight and vowed they would go out to clinch the pennant by taking the second game from the Pirates tomorrow. Since the Chicago Cubs won today from the Cincinnati Reds, the Cardinals must win one more game to assure them the National League cham-

MINISTER ANSWERS CANNON'S MESSAGE

Dr. Prettyman Says Church Law Was Observed in Latest Charges.

BISHOP ON WAY HOME

(Associated Press.)

Dr. Forrest J. Prettyman, of Baltimore said last night he and three more, said last night he and three Episcopal Church South, had followed the "spirit and the letter" of the church law in filing charges against Bishop James Cannon, jr.

He made this statement in commenting on a radio message to the Associated Press last night from Bishop Cannon, who gave notice that he would protest the procedure on the ground that he had not been conferred with before the charges were filed. The bishop is returning to the United States from Brazil.

Dr. Prettyman, a former chaplain of the United States Senate, said the four ministers had notified the bishop in Brazil that they were preferring charges against him and that Bishop Cannon acknowledged receipt of the information.

"We took special care," he added, "that no steps should be taken not in exact accord with the spirit and the letter of the law."

The Baltimore minister asserted that the requirement of the Methodist discipline that notice be given the accused had been met.

"The purpose of that paragraph," he explained, "is to require the elders to come into the open so that the accused bishop may know from the beginning that a process looking forward to the creation of a committee of investigation has been started."

Dr. Prettyman added that, "having started the legal process by full inquiries into the facts upon which all reports have been founded, we are of the opinion that we have neither the moral nor the legal right to hold up that process until all the facts pertaining to this case are brought into full review."

The committee, he said, started its investigation as the result of "certain

Police Records Are Seized In Capone's Headquarters

Department Head Astounded to Learn That Week-Old Secret Data Had Found Its Way Into Gangsters' Hands; Probe on Leak Looms.

Chicago, Sept. 25 (A.P.).—A slashing offensive against racketeers today resulted in more than a score of arrests and revealed that Capone henchmen have been receiving copies of official police communications.

The documents, carbon copies of plans for a campaign against hoodlums, were seized in a spectacular raid on the Carleon Hotel, where twenty men and two women were arrested and records of dealings of the Capone gang were found.

The records were secreted in the upholstery of a chair in one of the rooms. Some were only a week old. Among the communications seized was one headed "From Deputy Detective Chief John Ryan to Chief of Detectives John Norton." This communication listed names of 30 men, some of them notorious underworld characters, against whom vagrancy warrants were to be issued. It was dated September 18, 1930.

Chief of Police Alcock announced that he was astounded at the discovery of police memoranda, and indicated he would immediately start an investigation to discover who was responsible for the leak.

The raid on the Carleon Hotel was led by Clarence Converse, Government intelligence ace, and participated in by Federal agents and detective squads who took complete possession of the hostelry for several hours. Converse had hoped to capture Frank (The Enforcer) Nitti, chief disciplinarian of the Capone gang. Nitti is Commissioner and Bride Will Confer Today on Situation.

SEEKS INFORMATION ON DETAILS OF LAW

STORIES OF VICTIMS ARE OF LITTLE HELP

Facts Developed by Inquiry of Post Under Study of Authorities.

Commissioner Herbert B. Crosby yesterday took a hand in the drive against usurious loan sharks who have been mulcting thousands of persons who have fallen into their debt, as revealed in a recent series of articles in The Post.

Gen. Crosby inquired into the loan shark situation yesterday and asked that William W. Bride, corporation counsel, confer with him on the subject today.

Just what will be the result of the conference, Gen. Crosby said he could not forecast. He said that he is not familiar with the details of the law and the means necessary to obtain sufficient evidence to bring about the conviction of the usurers in court.

May Use Police Force.

This information he will get from Mr. Bride at their conference today, and he may subsequently confer with Maj. Henry G. Pratt, superintendent of police, with a view to detailing one or more policemen to the task of getting whatever evidence is needed to bring about conviction of the loan sharks.

Information developed through a series of stories published in The Post is being studied by Thomas P. Cameron, assistant corporation counsel, to whom Mr. Bride has given the task of pursuing the investigation. This information consists of statements of various persons who said they had knowledge of the workings of the loan sharks' business, some gained through unfortunate personal experience.

Nothing definitely incriminating has been developed so far against any of the loan sharks named in the letters and statements, but the investigation has hardly more than begun.

Careful in Dealings.

District officials said they did not expect to find in the statements of victims of the usurers an open and shut case against any of the many loan sharks operating in the National Capital despite the law forbidding the charging of the extraordinary exorbitant rate of interest exacted by them.

Doing a business which is in violation of law, the loan sharks, officials pointed out, are careful to surround their dealings with such circuitous safeguards that it is most difficult to get adequate evidence for presentation to a jury, especially in view of the rule of law which requires that the usurer on trial shall be given the benefit of doubt.

Bride to Continue Inquiry.

Mr. Bride yesterday said that the investigation by his office would be continued until every possible proper means had been exhausted in the effort to stamp out the loan shark business in Washington.

Mr. Cameron yesterday attended the national convention of the personal loan organizations being held in the National Capital in an effort to get information from the legitimate small, personal loan business men. The purpose of his visit was to find additional weapons which might be used against the loan

Officers Take Private Dry Agent to Topeka

Special to The Washington Post.

Danville, Va., Sept. 25.—O. O. Goben, private undercover agent, who was arrested here recently after being trailed for a year by Federal authorities, left yesterday in charge of officers for Topeka, Kans., where he is wanted as a witness in a major prohibition case. A local officer was to accompany him as far as Roanoke, where a Federal officer was to be appointed to return him to Topeka.

Goben was arrested following several days of activities as an undercover agent and during which he made a number of whisky purchases as part of a plan to conduct wholesale raids throughout Pittsylvania County. Secrecy shrouds the identity of prominent county citizens who employed Goben through Prohibition Inspector W. T. Shelton.

Hoover to Make Stop At Charlotte October 7

(Associated Press.)

President Hoover yesterday decided to make a brief stop at Charlotte, N. C., October 7, during which he will shake hands from the rear platform of his special train, but will make no address. The train will be halted briefly as he returns late in the day from the Kings Mountain battlefield, where he is to deliver an address in the afternoon.

Mr. Hoover had already declined to leave his train at Charlotte and motor to the battlefield celebration, because of the limited time allowed between his addresses in Boston the preceding day and the Kings Mountain speech.

Midshipman Sued By Girl for $25,000

Alleging that she had been assaulted near Bethesda, Md., on the night of September 27, 1929, Fern Myers, of Ellicott street near Forty-seventh street northwest, yesterday filed a $25,000 damage suit in the District Supreme Court against Archibald Wilson Greenlee, a third classman at the United States Naval Academy, and son of Commander H. R. Greenlee, U. S. N., of 5510 Thirty-ninth street northwest.

The suit is in two parts, the first declaring that the alleged assault was made against the complainant's will, and the second asserting that there was no provocation.

The assault is said to have occurred during an automobile ride following a party at a road house on Wisconsin avenue extended. The party was given on the night before young Greenlee returned to Annapolis from his September leave.

In her complaint, filed by Attorney James T. Crouch, Miss Myers claims that news of the alleged assault circulated among her friends, causing her great humiliation and mental suffering.

Two From Capital Held In Baltimore Rum Case

Special to The Washington Post.

Baltimore, Md., Sept. 25.—Charged with the possession and transportation of liquor, two Negroes, arrested yesterday by police and later turned over to prohibition agents, were held in $500 bail by J. Frank Supplee, United States commissioner, for a preliminary hearing next Thursday.

At the time the men were arrested the police also seized a truck carrying ten barrels of beer, the driver of the truck escaping after a chase. The Negroes, Joseph Taylor and Robert J. Johnson, both of Washington, told the police they were waiting for the truck which was coming from Smithsburg, Washington County, and were planning to drive it to Washington.

Check-Up Reveals Prisoner Missing

Special to The Washington Post.

Frederick, Md., Sept. 25.—Checking up on his prisoners in jail for the trial of criminal cases, which began in the circuit court today, Sheriff William C. Roderick discovered that one, Edgar Webb, about 25, charged with robbing a filling station and also wanted for larceny in West Virginia, had mysteriously disappeared.

Thirty other men in jail were questioned, but none gave any clew to Webb's method of escape. It developed that he got away by ducking into a stairway at the courthouse last Saturday when the prisoners were arraigned for trial. They were brought to the courthouse in a bus and marched into the courtroom by guards and deputy sheriffs.

The guards then stationed themselves along the corridor en route to the bus. Webb, in passing the basement stairway, crouched down the steps and was not missed. He finally made his way to the street through the basement door locked on the inside, and has not been seen since.

Three Jail Breakers Caught After Battle

The latter are Roosevelt Cunningham, of Mount Zion, and Aaron Keen, of Akron, Ohio. Various charges, including liquor violations, are charged against the trio. A fourth escaped prisoner is still at large.

The charges, understood to involve Bishop Cannon's stock speculation operations and political activities as well as new accusations, have been forwarded to Bishop Ainsworth, of the College of Bishops, who may appoint a committee to determine whether a church trial is necessary.

AID OF FARM BOARD SEES LOWER WHEAT

Stone Says Price Trend for Next Few Years Will Be Downward.

EARLIER GAINS ARE LOST

Chicago, Sept. 25 (A.P.).—Wheat prices fell from momentary gains today as James C. Stone, of the Federal Farm Board, subscribed publicly to the theory that the price trend for the next few years would be downward.

The report precipitated a flurry of last-minute selling, brought stop-loss orders into execution and wiped out earlier advances of around 2¼ cents. The close found quotations at one-half cent lower to five-eighths cent higher than yesterday's finish. Corn and oats scored fractional advances.

Mr. Stone's statement furnished a denouement for a day of assurances that things were not as bad as they seemed. Among earlier reports contributing to gradual gains were:

London traders discounted the scare of Russia's exporting of wheat to Europe by pointing out that Argentina at this time last year exported 165,000,000 bushels of wheat without creating excitement. Russia's exports are estimated at 58,000,000 bushels.

Winnipeg receipts of wheat fell off sharply and Liverpool quotations were higher.

The business conduct committee of the Board of Trade was recessed in the investigation of Secretary of Agriculture Hyde's charges that Russia sought to depress wheat prices through short selling on the Chicago exchange. It will meet tomorrow.

Meanwhile, Silas Strawn, attorney for the Board of Trade, and two members of the organization conferred with Mr. Hyde, Secretary of Commerce Robert Lamont and Chairman Alexander Legge of the Farm Board.

His attention called to the Stone statement, George S. Milnor, general manager of the Farmers National Grain Corporation, expressed a conflicting view.

"Many commodities are selling in the United States on a basis of world price, plus the tariff," he said. "It is not improbable that grain will be on that basis long before another crop is harvested.

"Reports from agents whom we have had investigating conditions show clearly that enormous quantities of wheat are now being fed to livestock. What the total feed consumption will be can not be accurately estimated. Exports of wheat and flour since July 1 exceed those for the corresponding perid last year and the demand continues good."

Winnipeg, Manitoba, Sept. 25 (A. P.).—Winnipeg's wheat market registered its second day of slight gains today after having made greater advances during the middle of the session.

WHEAT SALES QUIZ BARES OPINION SPLIT

the "point of making that kind of trading impossible," meaning the Soviet transactions.

Besides Strawn and Carey, other Chicago members present were James Norris, vice president of the board, and Siebel C. Tarris. All left shortly after the conference to return to Chicago.

Ottawa, Ontario, Sept. 25 (A.P.).—Canada will not send a representative to the inquiry into Soviet short selling of wheat at Chicago Monday. Sir George Perley, acting prime minister, explained the Canadian government is trying to ascertain whether there is any ground for a report that there has been manipulation in Canada. This method of cooperation, he suggested, appears preferable to sending representatives to the Chicago hearings.

Wheat in France Quoted At Nearly $2 a Bushel

Paris, Sept. 25 (A.P.).—Current wheat in open trading on the bourse today was quoted at 172.50 francs per hectoliter, weighing 163 pounds, or close to $2 a bushel. October wheat was at 171.

The price of wheat in France is regulated by the law of supply and demand, inasmuch as the entire French crop must be consumed before any foreign wheat may be imported.

Military Funeral Is Given Stedman

Company in Which He Served in Civil War Sends Guard of Honor.

Fayetteville, N. C., Sept. 25 (A.P.).—Maj. Charles Manly Stedman, for two decades representative in Congress from the Fifth North Carolina District, was buried here today with the full military honors of his rank as a soldier.

The services were held at the First Presbyterian Church here, where Maj. Stedman's body was brought this morning from Washington, where he died Tuesday in his 90th year. The Rev. H. W. Koelling, pastor of Highland Presbyterian Church, conducted the service, assisted by the Rev. Archer Beogher, rector of St. John's Episcopal Church.

From the church a flag-draped caisson, drawn by six black horses, bore the soldier-statesman's body to Cross Creek Cemetery, where his grave had been prepared beside those of his parents. A platoon from the Fayetteville Independent Light Infantry, in which Maj. Stedman served during the War Between the States, formed his guard of honor. The House and Senate were represented by delegations.

Preliminary Tryouts Held in Radio Test

Preliminary tryouts for selection of four young women and four young men to represent the District of Columbia in forthcoming competitions in the fourth national radio audition of the Atwater Kent Foundation for determining the best male and female singers of 1930 were held yesterday in the studio of Station WRC.

Of the 62 young women and men entered here, 29 contraltos were heard yesterday afternoon by a committee of judges including Dr. Albert W. Harned, chairman; Kenneth Berkeley, representing the Atwater Kent Foundation, and Mrs. Gertrude Lyons. An unnamed board of judges from 2:30 to 5:30 o'clock this afternoon will hear soprano entrants, and as many tenors, basses and barytones as possible within the time allotted. Singers not heard today will be given auditions tomorrow afternoon.

CANDIDATES TO GET LIST OF QUESTIONS

FEE SYSTEM IS RAPPED

The questionnaire to be sent all candidates for State and county offices asking their stand on matters relating to town affairs was last night prepared by the Municipal Officers Association of Prince Georges County.

The association, meeting in Hyattsville, went on record favoring the abolition of the system by which fees are divided between the trial judge and the arresting officer. They also favored the election of the greater number of county officials and the regulation of professional bondsmen.

Candidates will be asked whether they favor the election of the president and members of the county board of education, and the county superintendent and assistant superintendent of schools. They will also be asked if they will support a constitutional amendment to allow corporated towns to designate the persons to be appointed by the governor to the position of town police judge.

The association favored the abolition of constables on a fee basis and the candidates are queried on their attitude toward the substitution of a salaried police force of not more than one officer to each election district. These county policemen will be appointed by the county commissioners and fines will go into the general county fund. Candidates will also be asked to comment on the proposal to regulate professional bondsmen.

The association discussed the advisability of a law which will compell the total refund of road taxes to those incorporated towns which maintain their own streets.

B. H. Dolby, Republican candidate for House of Delegates and a member of the association, was present at the beginning of the meeting, but left when discussion of the questionnaire started. Mr. Dolby stated that he did not want it to appear that he had any hand in drawing up the questionnaire.

Peeds Farmer Tries To End Life With Gun

Special to The Washington Post.

Fredericksburg, Va., Sept. 25.—An attempted suicide, the second in 24 hours in the vicinity, occurred early this morning when J. D. Bowen, 66-year-old farmer, of Peeds, Westmoreland County, tried to end his life by firing a pistol bullet in his head at his home. The ball pierced the left eye and tore away a section of the skull. Physicians at the local hospital, where he was brought by his son, have despaired of his life. No cause was given for the act.

S. Wyndham Perrin, 33, of Richmond, former tobacco company employe, remains in a critical condition at the local hospital after he fired a pistol bullet in his stomach at the Princess Anne Hotel, where he was stopping.

Facing Traffic Charges, Virginian Kills Self

Special to The Washington Post.

Lynchburg, Va., Sept. 25.—Martin L. Lane, 32, printer, committed suicide here today at his home on White road by shooting himself in his forehead. Dr. J. Burton Nowlin, city coroner, gave a certificate of death by suicide.

Lane was facing trial on charges revolving around an automobile accident and driving an automobile while intoxicated. He came here several years ago from Macon, Ga. His widow and a small daughter survive.

Zaro Agha Seriously Hurt By Broadway Hit-Run Auto

New York, Sept. 25 (N.Y.W.N.S.).—Zaro Agha, the Turkish Methusaleh, who claims 156 years on this earth, was injured seriously tonight when brushed off an "island" sidewalk at Broadway and Sixty-first street by a hit-and-run automobile. Attended by three physicians, he is in his suite at a midtown hotel, in a critical condition from internal injuries and possible fractures of the skull and legs.

Agha, his great-great-grandson, Ahmet Mussa, and Assim Ridvan, his manager, were waiting on the island, close to the curb, intending to return to the hotel, when a large limousine with a liveried chauffeur, came by, with its left running board over the sidewalk. The running board brushed Agha's legs, knocked him down and his head struck the metal edge of the running board.

As Ridvan and Mussa tried to save him, Agha was spun around and then dropped face down on the sidewalk. Although a letter carrier yelled to the driver, "you've hit a man," the car went on.

Agha's two companions assisted him into the hotel. A private physician was summoned. He found the aged Turk's condition so grave that he called in Drs. H. Lyons Hunt and Anthony Bassler, specialists, for a consultation. Later they feared to remove the patient to a hospital, so he remained at the hotel.

Police are seeking the hit-and-run car, whose license number is said to have been given by the letter carrier.

Zaro Agha, who hails from Constantinople, has been in this country since July. He has been examined by many prominent physicians, who have announced he may lay claim to at least 120 years. He has had eleven wives.

Colvin Harris, his American representative, said tonight that Agha has nearly completed a book of his life, which includes his adventures fighting Napoleon's army. Included also, he said, is the data Agha has compiled from his appearances before physicians here.

Post Relinquished By U. of V. Editor

Special to The Washington Post.

Charlottesville, Va., Sept. 25.—Because of the pressure of other work, G. K. Crowther, of Baltimore, has resigned as editor-in-chief of "College Topics," student publication at the University of Virginia, issued thrice a week. His successor will be John Page Williams, of Richmond, Va.

Elections to fill vacancies in the managing board resulted as follows: E. D. Dupree, of Pine Bluff, Ark., formerly news editor, now becomes managing editor, succeeding Williams, and A. S. Hooper, of Selma, Ala., and Jun Swan join F. S. Hutchin of Franklin, Va., as the present news editors. H. E. Grotta, of Newark, N. J., has been elected to the post of assignment editor to take the place of William B. Bean, whose illness has made it impossible for him to return to the university. William D. Cabell, of the university, former news editor, has also resigned, due to the pressure of studies. Sports Editors Victor I. Harris, of Newport News, and Irwin L. Bernstein, of Oklahoma City, Okla., have withdrawn from the university and their successors have not been named.

Man's Death Held Result of Blow

Capital Man, Who Was Hurt in Richmond, Expires Without Speaking.

Special to The Washington Post.

Richmond, Va., Sept. 25.—Death of William D. Glotzback, 56 years old, of 1216 I street northeast, Washington, which occurred in Memorial Hospital early today, was the result of a blow to the head, Coroner Whitfield decided, but he was unable to determine whether he was dealt the blow by some one or received in a fall. He was found at Eighth and Clay streets, unconscious on the pavement, in the early morning of September 14. Removed to the hospital, he remained in that state until he died.

An autopsy performed today revealed that he had suffered a hemorrhage of the brain. Glotzback, a stone cutter by trade, is said to have come here in quest of work.

His body was turned over to a son, John H. Glotzback, of 1946 L street northeast, Washington, who directed that it be forwarded to Washington tonight for burial there tomorrow.

Glotzback was identified by papers found on his person. His son and also a daughter in Washington were notified and they were with him most of the time he was at the hospital. He is also survived by his widow, who was unable to come to Richmond because of illness. It was suggested that possibly he was the victim of a footpad but the police investigating the case were inclined to doubt it, as he had some money on him when he was found in the street.

Y. W. C. A. Organization Conference Planned

The 1930 organization conference of the Young Women's Christian Association will open tomorrow morning at Kamp Kahlert, Md., with sessions continuing through Sunday afternoon. The final meeting will be held in Washington Monday afternoon and evening, the closing event being the annual fall dinner for staff ad volunteer workers of this city.

Speakers at Saturday's opening session will be Miss Hettie P. Anderson, general secretary of the Washington Association; Mrs. Thomas Edwin Brown, president of the board of directors; Mrs. Harry E. Frantz, Miss Tania Stadnichenko, Miss Heloise Brainard, Miss Bertha Pabst and Dr. Grace G. Purse.

TARIFF AND HOOVER ACCEPTED AS ISSUES

Garner Says Democrats See Victory in Challenge of Republicans.

BUSINESS PLIGHT CITED

(Associated Press)

The tariff and the Hoover administration were accepted last night as the issues of the November congressional election by Representative Garner of Texas, the Democratic leader.

In a radio speech over the Columbia broadcasting system, Mr. Garner said they had been proposed as the issues by Representative Wood of Indiana, the chairman of the Republican Congressional Committee, and that he "gladly" accepted them.

"If the Hoover administration can be designated as a success," he added, "all past standards must be ignored."

Mr. Garner said a few years ago Mr. Wood had characterized Mr. Hoover as "the most expensive luxury that was ever fastened upon the country." He added, "the events of the past 18 months would indicate that Mr. Wood's characterization of 1920 is even more applicable in 1930."

Desperate Plight Seen.

Discussing the tariff bill, the Texan said recent statistics indicate the Republican leaders "have carried out at least one of their 1928 campaign pledges."

"They have practically achieved parity between agriculture and industry," he continued. "Both are in as desperate plight as it is possible to conceive."

Mr. Garner said defenders of the Hoover administration "are utilizing every method and device to camouflage existing conditions and evade responsibility."

"The latest 'red herring' drawn across the trail," he asserted, "was the alleged discovery of President Hoover's Secretary of Agriculture that Soviet Russia is responsible for the low price of wheat.

Surprised at Hoover.

"The astounding part of this incident is that the President, with his great wealth of experience, should lend his office to the pure buncombe that has emanated from the office of the Secretary of Agriculture.

"As a citizen I resent the idea that any country, through manipulation of our domestic markets, can force down the price of a major farm product, a product upon which the prosperity of millions of American farmers depends.

"If such a condition exists, as alleged by Secretary Hyde, who is responsible? The Republican party has been in complete control, and if that condition does exist the wheat growers should call the party to account."

India Patriotic Body Will Elect Officers

Officers will be elected and plans for a national conference in Washington adopted at an organization meeting of the India Independence League of the District of Columbia, to be held tonight in apartment 109 of the Woodworth Apartments, Tenth and M streets northwest.

The new movement was launched last week by a group favoring Gandhi's tactics of nonviolence, economic boycott and civil resistance for obtaining liberty for India.

SENATE COMMITTEE ENDS NEBRASKA QUIZ

PERJURY EVIDENCE SEEN

Lincoln, Nebr., Sept. 25 (A.P.).—After trailing the activities of a Ku Klux Klan grand dragon through the recent Nebraska Republican senatorial primary, the Senate campaign funds committee left today to inquire into the North Carolina and Tennessee primaries.

Senator Gerald P. Nye, chairman, said the committee would convene again October 14, but it was undecided as yet which primary would be investigated first.

Before leaving for Washington, Senator Nye charged that false testimony had been given in the investigation of reasons why George W. Norris, a Broken Bow grocer, filed for Republican nomination as senator in opposition to Senator George W. Norris.

Evidence of Perjury.

Mr. Nye said he believed there were grounds for perjury prosecutions in connection with the Nebraska hearing.

Testimony regarding the political activities of the Ku Klux Klan came from J. W. Reed, of Lincoln, grand dragon of the Nebraska klan, who testified to his "personal" political investigations and surveys in Colorado and Nebraska.

He told the committee his purpose was to see if "a machine had been set up in the interest of Al Smith and that is my conclusion."

While on the witness stand Reed told the committee that Edward Keating, editor of the weekly newspaper Labor, in Washington, which supported Senator George W. Norris in his campaign for the Republican nomination to succeed himself, was a Roman Catholic.

Charges Nye Klansman.

The grand dragon also told the committee he had been informed in Atlanta that Senator Nye formerly was a member of the K. K. K. Chairman Nye, however, remarked that in 1926 the klan opposed him in his race for the Senate.

Declaring his surveys were "personal," he explained that the klan spent no money in connection with the Nebraska Senatorial campaign and had no connection with the filing of the Broken Bow grocer in opposition to Senator Norris.

Miss Esther Alton, formerly a stenographer in the office here of Victor Seymour, who is now assistant vice chairman of the Republican senatorial campaign committee, and in charge of Western headquarters at Denver, testified that her employer received money "from the East" to pay the expenses of his offices, and Howard Freeman, Lincoln banker, told the committee that a number of checks for large amounts and which were drawn on banks in other States had been deposited by Seymour.

The committee's investigators will attempt to learn who sent the money to Mr. Seymour, Chairman Nye explained.

Reed testified he did not know Mr. Seymour whom Miss Alton testified had taken a straw vote in Nebraska last June to ascertian the "strongest candidate" for the Republican senatorial nomination. Miss Alton had testified Seymour was displeased with the result of the ballot, as Senator Norris was high man, and said that the purpose of Seymour's activities was "to beat Norris."

Thomas Retained As Veterans' Aid

Associated Press Corrects Mistake in Report of Removal.

Through an error in an Associated Press dispatch Tuesday from Saluda, Va., where a Middlesex grand jury indicted five men affiliated with the United States Veterans' Bureau, announcement was made that Robert Thomas, of Richmond, Va., had been removed by action of the April term of Middlesex Circuit Court as committee for George Brooks, Negro World War veteran.

The Associated Press last night corrected the mistake to show that Mr. Thomas still served as committee. The five Veterans' Bureau men, three of whom are stationed in this city and two in Richmond, were indicted on charges of uttering a forgery, perjury and subornation of perjury in the trial in which they sought to have Thomas removed.

New York, Sept. 25 (N.Y.W.N.S.).—The marriage of William H. Hill, powerful Republican leader and chief of the dry forces in up-State New York, to Anne Sands, former musical comedy star, which was announced July 10, actually took place five years ago, it was learned today.

On July 10 it was stated at Binghamton, N. Y., that Mr. Hill and Miss Sands had been married. No other information was given out. Today a correspondent in examining records in another case in the bureau of vital statistics in Trenton, N. J., came across a marriage record showing the Hills had been married October 26, 1925, in Hoboken, N. J.

Mr. Hill when reached in Albany at the Republican State convention merely smiled and said, "Well, I'm happily married."

The 1925 marriage record, originally issued at Hoboken, N. J., revealed that Mr. Hill and Ann La Sablonnierre (Miss Sands' name off stage) were married in Hoboken by the Rev. Joseph D. Peters. Augusta Peters was listed as a witness, while the name of the second witness was undecipherable.

Mr. Hill gave his age as 48, his occupation, real estate agent; residence, Hotel McAlpin; born, Johnson City, N. Y. (The Y looked either like a Y or a J); father's name, William; mother's name, Elizabeth Sowden.

"Who's Who in America" lists William H. Hill, chairman of the Hoover-for-President committee, as a former representative, born in Plains, Pa., in 1877, which would make him 48 years old in 1925—the age listed on his application.

MRS. ALLEN ELECTED BY COUNTY W.C.T.U.

ASSAILS REPEAL FIGHT

Mrs. J. R. Allen, of Allentown, Md., was elected president of the Prince Georges County Women's Christian Temperance Union at its annual convention yesterday in Mt. Rainer, Md. Two sessions were held, afternoon and evening. Election of officers and an address by Mrs. Mary R. Haslup, of Baltimore, State president, marked the afternoon, while Mrs. Jesse W. Nicholson of Chevy Chase, spoke in the evening. Mrs. Nicholson is president of the National Woman's Democratic Law Enforcement League.

New officers of the county W. C. T. U. are Mrs. Allen, president; Mrs. James Severe, of Hyattsville, vice president; Mrs. F. W. Cawthorne, of Mt. Rainier, treasurer; Mrs. L. A. Longley, of Brentwood, corresponding secretary, and Mrs. William N. Mahaffey, of Brentwood, recording secretary. Mrs. Herbert Roby, of Riverdale, was unanimously elected honorary president.

Mrs. Haslup, in her address, said that those bodies favoring repeal knew that the prohibition amendment could not be actually repealed, and that they were working for nullification and disregard of the law. She also referred to the organization known as "The Crusaders," saying that it was almost sacreligious to call them by that name, in view of what the original crusaders stood for.

Judge J. H. Shepherd, of College Park, spoke to the assemblage, telling them that "liquor drinking is no longer popular at the University of Maryland." His speech was a plea for education of the youth to the dangers of intemperance, and he said that the reform at the Maryland college was due to this education. He also charged that enforcement officials were "compromising" with the wet forces, basing his charges on the series of articles by Maurice Campbell, former administrator of the New York district, now writing for The Post, and averred that this would no longer be the case if public sentiment is aroused through education to demand adequate enforcement.

Mrs. Longley asked if the union had any committee which would deal with such moving pictures as a comedy which was shown at a nearby picture house recently. She characterized the film as being "vile and suggestive." Mrs. Haslup advised that the local body cooperate with one of the national organizations looking to the purification of the movies.

Mrs. Nicholson urged the women to take advantage of their franchise and vote for candidates known to be dry. Plans for the State convention of the body in Easton, Md., next month were outlined by Mrs. Haslup.

Candidates of both parties for all offices have been invited to attend a lawn fete which will be given at St. John's Episcopal Church in Mount Rainier on September 26. It is sponsored by the J. Morgan Read Council of the Junior Order of American Mechanics.

Affiliated with the council in the program are the local Daughters of America. Vice Councilor A. S. Bovey will have charge of the festivities. Those candidates who attend are not expected to speak, but they will be introduced to those present.

The Prince Georges County Federation of Women's Clubs will hold an institute in the Memorial Methodist Episcopal Church in Hyattsville on October 2. State officers will have charge, with Mrs. Frank Small, of Upper Marlboro, as chairman. Questions which members would like to have answered at the institute may be mailed to Mrs. Small.

The semiannual meeting of the federation will be held in Suitland, in the community clubhouse, on October 29, with the Suitland Homemakers' Club as host. Mrs. Georgia A. Castle, of Brentwood, is in charge of the program. Mrs. John F. Sipple, of Baltimore, president of the general federation, and Mrs. Sara Whitehurst, also of Baltimore, president of the State federation, have been asked to attend.

The men's Bible class of the Berwyn Presbyterian Church held a supper last night in the church hall. The Rev. A. B. Matson, pastor of the church, was an honor guest.

The newly constituted advisory committee of the American Automobile Association for Prince Georges County has as its head State Senator Lansdale G. Sasscer, who received notice of his selection for this post yesterday.

Other members of the committee are: F. B. Brenberger, College Park; Richard Braedon, Berwyn; Edward B. Dunford, Takoma Park; W. C. Hopkins, Laurel; Clifford L. Johnson, Bladensburg.

PRINCE GEORGES W. C. T. U. OFFICERS

MAJ. E. BROOKE LEE WILL RUN CAMPAIGN

Ritchie Makes Announcement at Montgomery County Meeting.

FACTIONS' UNION URGED

Announcement that Maj. E. Brooke Lee, Democratic leader of Montgomery County, Md., will manage the destiny of the State Democratic campaign was made last night by Gov. Albert C. Ritchie, of Maryland at a meeting of the Montgomery County Democratic workers and candidates called by the county State central committee at the Manor Club, Norbeck.

In making the announcement, Gov. Ritchie lauded the conduct of county affairs by Maj. Lee and paid tribute to the other Democratic candidates of the county.

Gov. Ritchie defended his own administration of the State's affairs for the last eleven years and told the gathering that the Republican charges that he was a one-man ruler of the State through his political machine are not true. Were he willing to build up such a machine, Gov Ritchie declared, he certainly would not overlook the school system, the public health service, State road commission and other job-giving possibilities. On the other hand, Maryland's State civil service merit system is conceded one of the fairest in the country, he said.

Urging the antiorganization Democrats to "play the game" and support the Democratic party now that the bitter primary fight has ended, State's Attorney Robert B. Peter, jr., outlined the developments in the county which are attributable to the efforts of organization Democrats.

"There are no charges of graft, and I tell you in the four years that I have been in office I have never heard the whisper of such a thing in Montgomery County. I know of no person who has been unduly benefited at the expense of the public as a whole, and I do know the whole plan for the development of this county has been to expend the moneys of the county in the most equitable manner and so as to benefit the largest number of persons and taxpayers possible.

"For the last eleven years our great governor has been the executive of our State, and the only thing the Republicans say against him, after all of these years, is that he has been in office too long. I am glad our State has no such law as Virginia, which prohibits the governor from succeeding himself, and that we can keep in office a man like Gov. Ritchie, who is a national figure to continue his great work in directing the progress of our State, which he has so ably done in the past."

The meeting, which was attended by more than 2,000 persons, among whom were prominent antiorganization candidates and workers, was opened by Berry E. Clark, chairman of the county's State central committee, who turned the chair over to Maj. Lee, who introduced the speakers.

Andrew J. (Cy) Cummings, who was elected four times to the House of Delegates from Montgomery County, spoke on behalf of the county Democratic candidates.

Mr. Cummings lauded Maj. Lee and said that he had been responsible for most of the improvement in the county's school and road systems, terming Maj. Lee "the boy that has put Montgomery County on the map." Gov. Ritchie was lauded by Mr. Cummings, who declared that his regard for Gov. Ritchie amounts practically to hero worship. "Some day you will see him ride up Pennsylvania avenue," he predicted.

Among other speakers were Judge John S. Newman, candidate for reelection as judge of the circuit court; former Mayor Jackson, of Baltimore, and former Representative David J. Lewis, of Cumberland, who is a candidate for member of the House of Representatives, opposing Fred Zihlman.

Relatives of Dead Man Sought.

Police are seeking relatives of Andrew McFarland, 51 years old, a roomer at 1002 Eighth street northwest, whose body, fully clad, was found on the bed in his room yesterday afternoon by Mrs. Emma Post, proprietor of the rooming house, where he lived. Heart disease was given as the probable cause of death by Dr. S. L. Tabb, of Emergency Hospital staff. The body was taken to the District Morgue.

MARYLAND PLANS DROUGHT CREDIT AID

Special Fund Proposed by Ritchie Commission to Help Farmers.

DATE FOR USE NOT SET

Baltimore, Md., Sept. 25.—First steps for providing credit for creditless farmers in drought-stricken sections of Maryland were taken today at a meeting of the executive committee of Gov. Ritchie's drought commission.

The committee, headed by Waldo Newcomer, adopted a resolution to create a special fund from which loans will be made to farmers unable to post collateral such as regular banking institutions demand.

The committees' plan is believed to be the first devised by any State to avoid the necessity of forming farm cooperatives or of dealing with regularly constituted banking channels. The committee proposes to create an organization and issue stock, to be subscribed for by banks of the State and the public at large. From the money thus collected loans will be made to farmers. As the loans are repaid, stockholders will be refunded the amount of their subscriptions on a pro rata basis. The mechanism of collecting and distributing the money raised will be handled by banking representatives, who will provide these services without cost. On the loans, however, regular legal interest will be charged. County drought committees are to serve as advisers and see that the funds reach those most in need and deserving.

Details of the plan have been left to Herbert Levy, William L. Marbury and Alexander Armstrong, Baltimore attorneys. They will report to the committee.

It was announced that no steps will be taken to raise funds in the near future and that the committee intends merely to organize the machinery for raising funds when needed. Farmers of the State, it was said, will be in dire need until midwinter. Committee members said it is not at all certain that the proposed loan corporation will ever have to be called into action and expressed hope that even then the number of farmers who will need its services may be small.

GAS SLASH INCENSES SUBURBAN DEALERS

BASKET BALL TO START

FAIRFAX BUREAU OF THE POST.
P. O. Box 245, Fairfax, Va.
Phone Clarendon 2324-W-2.

The contract gasoline dealers along the Lee highway in Arlington County and in the town of Falls Church, Va., are incensed at the action of the large oil companies in cutting the price of gasoline in Washington 2 cents and refusing a like cut to them. They state that these companies have broken faith with them.

Last spring the representatives of the large wholesale companies approached the small dealers in that section asking them to sign up with them 100 per cent, offering them several inducements to do so. Among the benefits was a chance to sell at the same price that prevailed in Washington and make a 3-cent profit, which was 3 cents lower than the regular Virginia price. Washington has a gas tax of 2 cents and Virginia has a 5-cent gasoline tax. Many of the dealers state that they would not have signed the contract if they had not been led to believe that the Washington prices would prevail during the life of the contract.

Most of their customers are Government workers and journey into Washington daily in their cars. There they now purchase gasoline at 2 cents lower than they can at their neighborhood dealers. Several of the dealers yesterday threatened to discontinue purchasing gasoline until the companies agree to let them continue the sale at Washington prices and several orders for future deliveries were canceled by them. The Shell dealers were notified to cut their prices and they did a large business yesterday.

The basket ball season of the Fairfax County Athletic Association will be opened this afternoon with the following schedule of games: Clifton and Falls Church, Lee-Jackson and Herndon, McLean and Oakton.

Other games will be played on the following dates: October 3, Clifton and Herndon, Falls Church and McLean, and Lee-Jackson and Oakton, October 10, Oakton and Clifton, McLean and Herndon and Lee-Jackson and Falls Church. October 17, Herndon and Clifton, Falls Church and Oakton and McLean and Lee-Jackson. October 23, Falls Church and Lee-Jackson, McLean and Clifton and Oakton and Herndon. October 31, Clifton and Oakton, Herndon and Falls Church and McLean and Lee-Jackson.

November 7, Lee-Jackson and Clifton, Herndon and McLean, and Oakton and Falls Church. November 11, Clifton and McLean, Falls Church and Herndon and Lee-Jackson and Oakton. November 14, Falls Church and Clifton, Herndon and Lee-Jackson Oakton and McLean. November 21, Clifton and Lee-Jackson, Herndon and Oakton and McLean and Falls Church.

The team winning the greatest number of games during the coming season will represent the county high schools at Richmond in the tournament for the State basket ball championship.

A marriage license was issued yesterday afternoon to Robert L. Bull, jr., 25, of Prince Frederick, Md., and Elizabeth Wolloston Smith, 20, of Newington, Va. The bride-elect is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Albert W. Smith and is one of the most popular young women in the southern section of Fairfax County. The bridegroom is an Episcopal minister at Prince Frederick, Md. The marriage will take place in the Pohick Church, on the Washington-Richmond highway, on October 1.

After an all-day larceny trial in the Fairfax County circuit court yesterday, lasting until 7 o'clock in the evening, the jury failed to agree, so it was dismissed by Judge Walter T. McCarthy and the case continued until the November term of court. Norman Harold, of Washington, was tried on an indictment which charged that he and Frank Peters, of Manassas, had stolen a calf from H. David on the night of May 30 this year and sold it to a dealer in Benning, D. C. Peters testified for the Commonwealth, freely confessing his guilt, and implicated Harold as his companion in the theft.

The indictment against Everett Mock for driving while under the influence of intoxicating liquor and the second offense of violating the State prohibition law was dismissed yesterday by Judge McCarthy when the counsel for the defense showed the court that the indictment varied from the records of the court and therefore could not be pleaded to. Mock pleaded to driving while drunk during the September term of court in 1929 and was sentenced and placed under a $500 bond at that time. He was arrested again on July 6, 1930, for another charge of the same nature. The indictment related that Mack was convicted in 1930.

The Fairfax County school board held a special meeting and has checked the school accounts of the county treasurer as required by law. Supt. W. T Woodson rpeorted that none of the schools is now suffering from the lack of water, as the janitors have been instructed in the proper methods of conserving the meager water supply. A new well has been drilled at the Vienna School and the well at Oakton deepened.

The only other question considered was that of transportation of the school children. Supt. Woodson reported that he is trying to arrange a bus schedule for the Fairfax School to allow the bus to make a trip at noon so that the first and second grade children, who are now required to spend the full day at school, although they are only in the classrooms one half of the day, may go home. Woodson was authorized to transport the pupils from Great Falls to McLean by train, as there is no bus service to Forestville from that section. The board decided that it will pay the transportation from Idylwood to Vienna, but it will not pay transportation to Falls Church. The Idylwood School was closed this summer.

VIRGINIA HIGHWAYS IN GOOD CONDITION

Only Three Detours on Main Through Routes of State.

NEW PAVEMENT OPENED

Richmond, Va., Sept. 25 (A.P.).—Despite slight rains in most parts of the State, the Virginia Department of Highways, in a bulletin issued today, said road conditions are generally good in Virginia.

There are only three detours on the main through routes of the State, one of 4 miles on route 39 at Waynesboro, one near Roanoke on U. S. 11 and one from Dublin to Pulaski on U. S. 11.

On U. S. route 1, between Washington and Richmond, three bridges were being widened just north of Fredericksburg and temporary bypass bridges are used around them. Just south of Alexandria there was about a tenth of a mile of construction where the new road intersects the old, but it did not cause trouble.

Through the Shenandoah Valley on U. S. 11 there were three short sections of construction between Winchester and Staunton where the road was being widened, but no detours were necessary. These places were found rough for a short distance. From Staunton to Roanoke the only work going on was just north of Roanoke. This section was closed and traffic sent over a detour route by Hollins, which was a good paved road and no longer than the regular highway.

Between Roanoke and Bristol.

Between Roanoke and Bristol there was one detour and two short pieces of construction without detours. All traffic from Dublin west was being sent by the way of Newbern to Pulaski over a narrow macadam road about 8½ miles, and on the two short sections of construction, one near Marion and one near Chilhowie, the only inconvenience being where the new and the old roads cross.

On U. S. Route 60, hard-surfaced road was found all the way across the State from Virginia Beach through Williamsburg, Richmond, Farmville, Lynchburg, Natural Bridge, Lexington and Covington to the West Virginia line near White Sulphur Springs, except 3 miles between Glasgow and Natural Bridge. This section was a little rough and dusty, but in fair condition.

On U. S. Route 170, between Danville and Lynchburg, the new pavement was opened just north of Danville and the detour abandoned. Between Lynchburg and Afton, on Route 18, there was construction under way between Amherst and Lynchburg that was found rough in places where the new and old roads cross.

Road to Sperryville.

On U. S. route 211, the Lee highway, from Washington to Newmarket, by Warrenton and Sperryville, the new pavement was opened to traffic except the section from Warrenton west about 10 miles. Around this section the regular old road of narrow macadam and a fair dirt road will be used for some time yet, but there were no detours.

The Richmond to Danville highway by Amelia, Burkeville, Keyeville and Halifax was in good condition all the way except a 4-mile section between Wyllieburg and Staunton River that will continue rough in short sections but passable.

The oiling scheduled to be started on routes 17 and 804 between Goshen and Warm Springs did not get under way and probably will not be started until some time next week.

On route 39 between Richmond and Staunton the 4-mile detour was still in use, but was expected to be abandoned within the next week. This detour was just west of Waynesboro and through traffic to Lexington avoided it by taking route 809 in Waynesboro) to Greenville. The oiling between Staunton and Monterey on route 39 was finished, and the road is all hard surfaced.

Robert M. Washington Dies of Heart Attack

Romney, W. Va., Sept. 25.—Robert Mortimor Washington, 78, farmer, cattle dealer, one of the most widely known of Hampshire County's citizens, died suddenly at his home, "Ridgedale," this county, Monday night. Death followed a heart attack.

He was a native of this county, having been born in the house in which he died. His mother, before marriage, was Miss Sallie Wright, of Loudoun County, Va. His father was George W. Washington, of this county. He was a lineal descendant of a brother of George Washington. Funeral services were held at the home yesterday.

George L. Peacemaker Dies.

WET PLANK TO SUIT ALL IS G. O. P. GOAL

STIMSON LAUDS HOOVER

Albany, N. Y., Sept. 25 (A.P.).—A resolutions committee preponderantly wet struggled tonight to frame a prohibition plank for the New York State Republican platform which would be acceptable to a convention of pronounced wet tendencies, to the man who will be nominated tomorrow for governor, and to the rank and file of a party which is strongly against prohibition in urban centers and as strongly in favor of it in rural sections.

That the plank will incline to wetness was conceded by all the leaders, including those eager to hold the party in the State in line with the Republican national administration on prohibition.

Of gubernatorial candidates there was little talk today, and of nominees for other State offices even less. The widespread conviction was, however, that if the prohibition plank is in line with the repeal views of Charles H. Tuttle, Federal district attorney at New York, he will be named at the head of the ticket on the first ballot.

Repeal Is Barrier.

One six-letter word—"repeal"—was the barrier in the day of harmonious action in the platform committee, of whom the majority is conceded to be wet. The wets favored an outspoken demand for repeal of the eighteenth amendment, while the dry minority, sought to use a softer synonym.

Each side threatened to carry the fight to the floor of the convention if its attitude was not reflected in the prohibition declaration.

The resolutions committee held an open meeting tonight to hear the suggestion of any interested person regarding the form of the prohibition plank, after which it went into executive session.

Part of today's convention session was given over to the keynote speech, dealing with national issues, by Secretary of State Henry L. Stimson, temporary chairman. Mr. Stimson reviewed the accomplishments of the Hoover administration and said no word about prohibition. He made four points.

Sees Promises Fulfilled.

"First," he said, "no President in recent years has so completely translated his campaign pledges into performance.

"Second, this has been accomplished in the face of difficulties produced by an economic depression and at a time when a large part of the energies of the administration were being devoted to the problems created by that depression. Particularly toward keeping down unemployment and the consequent suffering.

"Third, this was accomplished only by means of effective cooperation between the President and Congress, a cooperation rendered unusually difficult by factional divisions in his own party in the Senate.

"Fourth, these accomplishments were the result of study planning and foresight by the executive, and the constructive solutions thus obtained will be of fundamental and increasing benefit to the public."

POLICE DATA SEIZED IN GANGSTER RAID

under indictment charged with income tax fraud.

Converse, disguised, had been living near the Carleon for several weeks, and said he was certain Nitti had been living there. He declared Nitti must have escaped the raiders by using a subterranean passage.

Cousin of Capone Seized.

Among those captured at the hotel were Willie Fischetti, cousin of Capone, and Tony Apuca, a Capone bondsman. It was in Apuca's room that the confidential police memoranda was found, together with a list of detectives who have been especially active against gangsters.

The raiders predicted that gang records seized might prove as sensational in their ramifications as those found in the safety deposit boxes of Jack Zuta, North Side gang chieftain, after he was slain.

The hotel raid culminated a day of activity against racketeers. A few hours earlier William Jackson, sought as the man who sold the machine guns used in the St. Valentine's Day massacre, was arrested by State's attorney's office operatives in Niles, a suburb.

Secret Line-Up Ordered.

During the afternoon a secret show-up of seven men arrested in connection with an alleged attempt to seize control of 9,000 Illinois beauty shops was held at the criminal courts building. A score of beauty parlor operatives were taken to detective headquarters to view the suspects through an aperture. Their identities were closely guarded. The suspects were arrested after beauty shop operators had complained that an attempt was being made with threats of violence to force them to join the "Master Beauty Shop Owners Association" and pay initiation fees and dues for the privilege.

Police Seek Hoodlums.

Police continue to camp during the day on the doorsteps of 23 missing "public enemies," ready to serve them with warrants charging vagrancy should they return home, and at the same time preparations were being made to enlarge the vagrancy warrant drive against a dozen more suspected hoodlums.

Police Commissioner Alcock announced that cases had been completed against these additional men, but declined to reveal their names.

Police squad cars patroled the streets and as a result three men who declared they were "Cicero gamblers" were arrested after a mile-a-minute chase. A high-powered rifle, fully loaded, was found in the trio's automobile.

Injunction Is Asked Against Fish Dealer

A fish market wrangle came to light yesterday in District of Columbia Supreme Court. Harry Mensh, a fish dealer, who has a stand on Water street southwest, filed suit against Max Zoltrow, who formerly had a stand on the same block.

Mensh claims that in September, 1929, he bought out Zoltrow's business and that the purchase included "good will, assets" and everything else. He also asserts that Zoltrow agreed not to operate a fish market within ten blocks of his former stand. Despite the agreement, Mensh claims that Zoltrow has located anew in the same block, has attracted his customers, and is damaging his business. Mensh wants the court to enjoin Zoltrow from such tactics, claiming breach of contract.

CAMPBELL ADVOCATES DRY LAW REPEAL AS VITAL NEED

On many occasions during my prohibition service I have been tempted to assert my authority and personally make an immediate arrest, but fortunately my better judgment has prevailed and I have contented myself with quietly watching this display of liquor with rancor in my heart. Again, I felt justified in taking this attitude because the policy of Washington since the inception of prohibition has been to enforce the prohibition laws in such a manner as not to antagonize the people by personal harassment so that they might eventually demand repeal.

So I found the best way to avoid this embarrassment was to stick to my work and stay at home.

Now, I can go anywhere, and I find myself almost a human being again.

I play golf, and when it comes time for the nineteenth hole or cocktails before dinner, I find I can look on with perfect equanimity while my friends indulge. What a relief!

In view of what I have written in these articles, it seems appropriate in conclusion to express my personal opinion with regard to national prohibition and the necessary steps to remedy the intolerable condition that exists.

Favors Total Abstinence.

First of all, let me again put myself on record as being a prohibitionist at heart. By this I mean I do not drink myself and desire, above all things, to see a policy of total abstinence adopted by all the people of the United States.

But how to bring this about is the question.

I am convinced myself, and I hope that through these revelations I have convinced many others, that the eighteenth amendment to the Constitution is not the solution. After ten years it has certainly been demonstrated that national prohibition is not conducive to temperance.

Therefore, I strongly advocate the immediate repeal of the eighteenth amendment. As long as that remains there can be no intelligent solution of the liquor problem.

Seeks Respect for Law.

Let us, first of all, reestablish in the American people a respect for law and order that has been completely destroyed by the general disregard and disrespect for the national prohibition act.

But rabid prohibitionists are unwilling to consider this step until some superhuman individual has devised a satisfactory method of control of the liquor traffic.

In view of our experience with prohibition, in my opinion, these persons are unpatriotic and obstructionists to real progress toward temperance.

When a man steps on a tack with a bare foot in the dark, or inadvertently places his hand on a hot stove, he does not wait to look for some other place to rest his foot or hand before he lifts it from the tack or stove.

And this is exactly our position with regard to prohibition today. The right hand of this Nation is burning up in the fires of prohibition and yet must not be removed until some other, theoretically safe place is found to rest it. What utter nonsense!

I believe I have shown conclusively that the evils of prohibition are far worse than the evils it was meant to remedy.

I certainly do not advocate the return of the old saloon, and that will never be. Even the wettest of the wets have never advocated that.

What have we to fear, then, from the repeal of the eighteenth amendment?

Remove this stone wall from the path of progress toward temperance and from our experience, slowly and surely, step by step, in unison devise ways and means for the solution of this problem.

I am not in the least ashamed to admit that I have no solution for this problem that even approaches satisfaction to myself, but I am sufficiently inspired with confidence in my fellow countrymen to know that out of this era of bribery, corruption and crime eventually good will come.

There is no panacea that can be invented by man for the evil that confronts us. We must travel slowly a difficult path, with many dead-end trails, back to normality, and then start all over again.

Suggests Congressional Control.

Probably the greatest mistake the people of this Nation ever made was to put national prohibition in our Constitution. There was no justification for it. National prohibition, if desired, could have been just as effectively accomplished by congressional legislation the same as other laws are enacted.

So brought about, with proper preparation for enforcement, national prohibition might have stood some chance of success. Then there would not have been that constitutional stone wall which prohibits legislative changes to meet changing conditions and mistakes.

I could easily recommend a thousand and one conditions that ought to be investigated and remedied, but it is too late for that now. The festering sore must be removed entirely if our national life is to be spared.

The stream of liquor that inundates us can no more be stopped than the flow of water over Niagara Falls, and I'd like to see 2,000 men try that while a million others worked against them.

Prohibition has put crime and criminals into business, big business. Through profits from this illegal business, organized crime has become so powerful, financially, that it is able to influence both the Republican and Democratic political parties and also to corrupt public officials.

Some of these criminals are today numbered among our most eager political campaign contributors, and for these contributions they expect, and get, protection after elections.

I advocate the repeal of the eighteenth amendment based on no grounds of States' rights, constitutionality of any law or question of personal liberty.

I take my stand on the ground of morality and national integrity, so that "government of the people, by the people, for the people, shall not perish from the earth."

CAPITOL HILL GIRLS WIN FIGHT FOR PRIVATE BEAUTY PARLOR

But to get back to the beauty parlor. The secretaries and clerks of the 96 senators have been trying to get one now for four or five years. Their leader in the movement has been Miss Lola Williams, the secretary to Vice President Curtis.

The argument put up by the girls was this: Naturally, they want to look nice. In order to look nice, they have to make occasional visits to a hairdressing and manicure shop. If they have to go to shops downtown, they are using up time that might better be spent working for their senators. You see, it is more than a question of beauty; it is one of convenience and efficiency.

Mr. Alden agreed that it would be in the interests of the senators to give the women what they wanted and, with the consent of Senator George H. Moses, of New Hampshire, who, as chairman of the rules committee, has jurisdiction over the Senate side of the Capitol, he took the paint jocker and divided it into a barber shop for the male employes of the Senate and a beauty parlor for the women employes of the Senate.

Lest there be some cry about the money of the taxpayers being used in this undertaking, however, Mr. Alden wants to make it clear that the beauty parlor—or, as he insists upon calling it, the hairdressing and manicure shop—will have to be self-supporting.

The shop has been turned over to Miss May B. Verdi, whose family is connected with that of Verdi, the celebrated Italian composer, who wrote Il Trovatore and Aida. It is up to her to charge her customers whatever she thinks is necessary to pay expenses and give her a profit.

G. O. P. MUST STAY DRY, PICKETT WARNS

Methodist Research Official Sees Party Ruin if It Changes Policy.

1928 PLEDGE RECALLED

Kenmore, N. Y., Sept. 25 (A.P.).—The Republican party was described as "under a sacred obligation in regard to prohibition" tonight by Deets Pickett, research secretary for the Methodist Board of Temperance, Prohibition and Public Morals.

"The men and women who gave Mr. Hoover such an unprecedented majority have a right to expect that that party will deal honestly and loyally with them," he told the Genessee conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church here.

"Anything else would be treachery of the blackest hue and would be resented in direct proportion to the confidence shown at the polls in 1928. The Republican party will have to be dry or not at all."

Seven Men Called Dry Foes.

Mr. Pickett said that the fight against the prohibition law was being made by seven rich men who "are trying to discredit the influence and destroy the leadership of men and organizations which have dared to obstruct their plans to seize political control of this country in order that they may establish an annual $5,000,000,000 liquor trade with its enormous profits."

"They are trying to establish control of both of the major political parties," he said, to "'punish" those Democrats who did not support Gov. Alfred E. Smith and "drive out of places of influence every man who does not bow the knee."

"They are attempting to terrorize and intimidate dry persons and groups in our cities by inciting a hostile community sentiment against them, using a skillful and subtle appeal to religious prejudice," he added.

Press Corruption Attempted.

"They are attempting to corrupt the corruptible portion of the daily, weekly and monthly press. They are attempting to promote a well financed program of propaganda among young people. They are attempting to detach certain presumably wet States from support of the eighteenth amendment."

He added that if the prohibition law ever loses, it would not be because of the opposition, "however well financed or however furious it may be," but "because of maladministration or nonadministration of the law by men who are not prohibitionists, who never were prohibitionists and who never will be prohibitionists."

The President, the Attorney General and Assistant Attorney General Youngquist were described by him as drys and he added that if Attorney General Mitchell carried out his "announced policy" of putting drys in charge of enforcement "all down the line, there will be nothing to fear."

Louis Gabriel, of Maryland avenue northeast, near Thirteenth street, was fined $40 in Police Court yesterday on a charge of breaking glass in the street.

Gabriel, according to testimony, hurled a number of empty bottles at an automobile in which a former girl friend persisted in riding by his store on Bladensburg road with another man and another couple. Gabriel is alleged to have broken one of the windows of the automobile. None of the occupants of the automobile appeared as witnesses against him, but a policeman who says he saw it all did testify.

Wife Alleges Cruelty In Filing Divorce Suit

Albert M. Kloczewski, described as the manufacturer of a patent medicine, was yesterday sued for limited divorce and alimony by Olive M. Kloczewski, of Naylor road, near Twenty-second street southeast, in District Supreme Court.

The wife alleges cruelty, resulting in several separations. On Christmas Day, 1928, she locked herself in a bedroom when her husband became enraged and he tried to climb through a transom, she alleges. They were married August 15, 1921. The wife seeks custody of one child.

OUTLINING OF VIEWS BY CRIME GROUP HIT

WILL ASSEMBLE OCT. 8

(Associated Press.)

Protest went up yesterday in the camp of the congressional drys against proposals that the Hoover Law Enforcement Commission outline its views on prohibition.

Senator Sheppard (Democrat), Texas, a dry leader, asserted the function of this commission was only "to determine ways of strengthening enforcement" of prohibition and all other laws.

Senator Brookhart (Republican), Iowa, another dry, said it was the duty of the commission "to give us the facts." He joined Sheppard in asserting it was "the business of Congress and of the people what to do about prohibition."

"I am not interested in what the commission says or does," said Brookhart, "just so they give us the facts. I don't want any concealment of data when they announce their conclusions."

Difference of Opinion.

However, there seems to be some difference of opinion among the drys on the function of the commission. Senator Glass (Democrat), Virginia, an outspoken dry, insisted last session that the commission confine its work solely to the subject of prohibition and make an exhaustive report thereon.

Likewise, there is some difference of opinion within the law enforcement commission as to how far it should go in its report on prohibition. Chairman Wickersham has stated the commission accepts the eighteenth amendment as a part of the Constitution and does not intend to pass judgment upon the wisdom of it. However, he also has promised that should the commission happen to find it to be unenforceable that would be reported.

Kenneth Mackintosh, a member of the commission and a dry, said recently after reading over some "interesting and illuminating" reports before the commission on prohibition that he believed the group should go to the bottom of the prohibition question.

Report to Influence Hoover.

The commission reassembles here October 8 and prohibition will be among the early subjects up for consideration. Its report is expected to have considerable influence on the stand of President Hoover and the Republicans on the wet and dry question.

Here is what Congress, in appropriating $250,000 for the commission's study this year, instructed:

"Investigation of enforcement of prohibition and other laws: For continuing the inquiry into the problem of enforcement of the prohibition laws of the United States, together with enforcement of other laws * * * under the authority and by the direction of the President of the United States, who shall report the results of such investigation to Congress, together with his recommendations with respect thereto."

Chamber of Commerce Drive to Be Outlined

Plans for the five-year expansion program of the Washington Chamber of Commerce will be outlined at a dinner next Tuesday night at the Willard Hotel, it was announced yesterday by Rudolph Jose, chairman of the expansion committee.

Members of the chamber will be called upon to make suggestions in regard to the drive. Figures show that the average income of the chamber of commerce in fourteen cities with a population of 200,000 or more is $130,533 per annum. The combined income of the three trade bodies in Washington is said to be $80,000. Officials of the Chamber of Commerce here believe that these figures show that the organization is not receiving the support it deserves.

It would cost $2,250 to send postcards to all the readers that can be reached any morning by Post Classified Ads.

CLARA BOW BREAKS SILENCE ON GAMING

Redhead Says She Believed Play Was for Only 50-Cent Pieces.

GAVE CHECKS IN BLANK

Los Angeles, Sept. 25 (A.P.).—Clara Bow, filmdom's redhead, has broken a two-day silence to answer assertions that she stopped payment on checks for $13,900 after offering them in payment of gambling losses at a Reno, Nev., hotel.

The actress' statement read, in part:

"While I was at Lake Tahoe, Mr. Will Rogers invited Rex Bell, my secretary, Miss Devoe, and myself to dinner. I did not know the hotel was a gambling place until we reached there. After we had dinner Mr. Rogers went to one of the gambling tables and, naturally, we went with him. I began to play a little at a game called 'twenty-one,' which they call there 'black jack.'

Signed in Blank.

"They gave me 50-cent pieces to play with and I signed some checks in blank, telling the dealer to fill in the amount of the 50-cent pieces he had given me. There were four checks.

"It now seems they claim these 50-cent pieces represented what they call $100 chips and they put enough in the checks to amount to that.

"When the checks reached my bank they called me and said the checks had a slip on them asking the bank to 'wire fate of these checks.'

"This attracted the attention of my banker and I found out for the first time this gambling house claimed I had lost and owed them nearly $14,000, so I told the bank not to pay the checks.

Can See Lawyer.

"If these people think they have an honest claim against me, I will gladly receive any legal document they serve on me, or they can present them to my attorney, Mr. W. I. Gilbert."

The repudiation of the checks was called to the attention of B. P. Schulberg, Paramount Studio official, by James McKay, owner of the hotel. McKay said Will Rogers, film humorist, had introduced the actress at his hotel.

Prior to Miss Bow's statement, issued late last night, Oklahoma's contribution to the films was the only person concerned willing to discuss the assertions of McKay. He denied introducing the actress.

"Introducing Clara Bow to anybody," he said, "is like introducing Hoover to the Senate. Clara and her boy friend, Rex Bell, film actor, were going to dinner one night and I asked them to be my guests. The hotel is not solely a gambling house. A lot of divorcees stay over there in preference to Reno.

Like Old Home Week.

"I saw the wives of so many of my friends from back East that it was like old home week.

"I don't gamble much. Fifty or 75 dollars is my limit. I don't suppose it's going to hurt my reputation much for people to know I've been in a gambling house. I couldn't have been much of a cowboy without having seen a lot of gambling. I've been to Monte Carlo, too. I went over there to see what all these old women were doing bending over those tables.

"Clara wasn't gambling much while I was there. I saw her going around making a few bets, but she didn't appear to be betting much.

"But I don't like this idea of my riding to fame on the skirts of Clara Bow."

Austrian, Turkish Premiers Resign and Cabinets Fall

Downfall of Schober Peril to Land's Business, General Fear.

Vienna, Sept. 25 (A.P.).—The cabinet of Chancellor Johann Schober fell today. The resignation was a severe blow to the greater part of the country, which regards the pretext of the Christian Social Party for overthrowing Schober a frivolous one. The business community believes Austria will suffer irreparable economic damage because of the cabinet's action, which must cause postponement of measures the chancellor had in view for obtaining a foreign loan.

It was expected in official circles tonight that Herr Miklas, president of the republic, would ask the resigned chancellor to carry on the office provisionally, at the same time charging Herr Vaugoin, the vice chancellor, and leader of the Christian Social Party, with the formation of a new government.

The appointment of a fascist, Dr. Trafella, to the office of minister of State railways, yesterday led to the dispute among the Schober ministry. With the chancellor and Vaugoin at loggerheads on that appointment, it was only a question of which would yield, political observers said. The chancellor himself capitulated.

Angora, Sept. 25 (A.P.).—Ismet Pasha, premier of Turkey since November 1, 1927, tonight handed his resignation to Mustapha Kemal Pasha. Official circles expected Ismet to be reappointed as prime minister and charged with the duty of organizing a new cabinet.

The resignation came as the country's single-party assembly for the first time was opened to two-party politics.

Under the eye of the ghazi, sitting in the presidential box, Fethi Bey, leader of the new Liberal party, and sixteen of his supporters took their seats today and immediately opened an attack upon Ismet Pasha's government.

Fethi Bey got the floor and announced he wished to criticize the present government's policies "one and all," but he added that as the government had less than 24 hours to live he would save his criticisms until the formation of a new one.

the present state and construct a new Germany on entirely new lines?"

Hitler, technically a man without a country, it was developed, lost his Austrian citizenship fighting in German ranks throughout the war and had not gained German citizenship. He explained today he had made many attempts to legalize his German citizenship, but so far had failed. He declared today, "I refuse to beg for a citizenship to which I have become entitled before my own conscience."

The Fascist chieftain's opportunity to expose his revolutionary program came in the trial of Lieuts. Richard Scheringer, Hans Ludien and retired Lieut. Hans Friedrich Wendt, before Judge Baumgarten. He was called as a witness and reminded that he had the right to refuse to give evidence incriminating himself.

It was announced tonight a Fascist parade planned for September 28 at Potsdam had been called off.

Reaction in Paris.

Paris, Sept. 25 (A.P.).—The revision of treaties is a more complicated affair than the drafting of a political program. This was the reply made in official circles here tonight to Adolf Hitler's remarks at Leipsic today regarding his revolutionary and treaty-scrapping intentions, the full text of which had not been received at Paris.

So far as France is concerned, officials declared, the treaty of Versailles has been revised as far as it is going to be. The republic never will attack Germany in all probability, even should the Reich default in her reparations payments. But the French army is ready, these officials added, in case German nationalism should develop to the point of attacking, in order to undo the work of the peace conference.

The treaty of peace concluded at Versailles, it was remarked, is all that Europe has to go by; it is what it must go by and anybody who wants to upset it must be considered a trouble maker and must be dealt with accordingly.

The League of Nations would have its say regarding the revision of the treaty which brought it into being, it was recalled, and consequently Herr Hitler and his party would have to do not only with France and Poland in any eventual effort to change the terms of that treaty, but with all members of the world peace body.

Catholics Close Congress in Omaha With Solemn Outdoor Ceremony.

FIRE FAILS TO HALT MASS

Omaha, Nebr., Sept. 25 (A.P.).—Marching through a cold drizzle to the strains of solemn chants, 25,000 Catholics took part in a colorful procession here this afternoon to close the sixth national eucharistic congress.

Thousands more lined the sidewalks about St. Cecilia's Cathedral to witness the public demonstration of Catholic belief in the sanctity of the sacrament of Holy Eucharist.

Preceded by an Army band, the line of marchers, composed of men, women and children, pushed through the rain for several miles, then climaxed their procession by kneeling on the wet cathedral grounds at benediction celebrated simultaneously on three outdoor altars.

A host was borne through the procession by members of the clergy, arrayed in rich vestments, and was placed on one of the altars upon which benediction was celebrated.

A catastrophe was averted during the morning session of the final congress day when fire broke out in the choir gallery of the cathedral, while the Right Rev. John J. Dunn, Auxiliary Bishop of New York, was celebrating mass attended by thousands of nuns and lay women.

The fire was noticed by but a few women in the rear of the Cathedral and these, becoming excited, were quieted by nuns kneeling nearby. Firemen extinguished the blaze while the bishop continued celebration of mass, although apprised of the situation.

Cardinal Archbishop Pietra Fumasoni-Biondi, apostolic delegate to the United States, addressing a meeting of clergy this morning, described the congress just closed as the most impressive festivity he has witnessed during the seven years he has been in America.

Resolutions adopted by the Priests' Eucharistic League which met in connection with the congress, include a recommendation that the Holy See at Rome be petitioned to establish three official "feast days" in addition to those in force.

Those requested would honor "the Priesthood of Jesus Christ," Blessed Juliani Falconieri, and Blessed Peter Julian Eymard.

HEARING SET TODAY ON SMITH CO. PLEAS

TRIAL HOPED FOR SOON

Hearing on fourteen pleas in abatement filed against an indictment in which four officers of the F. H. Smith Co. are charged with conspiracy to embezzle funds of the company, will be held this morning before Justice Jesse C. Adkins, according to an announcement by Assistant United States Attorney Neil Burkinshaw, who represents the Government.

The hearing was scheduled for Wednesday before Justice Oscar R. Luhring, but was continued when it developed that the justice at the time of the indictment's return was an Assistant Attorney General of the Department of Justice, which prosecuted the charges before the grand jury.

At the same time it was learned that Attorneys Wilton J. Lambert and R. H. Yeatman had retired as counsel for Samuel J. Henry, former president of the Smith Co., and that Attorney Harry S. Barger would represent him. Henry, along with G. Bryan Pitts, former chairman of the board of directors; C. Elbert Anadale and John H. Edwards, jr., are named in the conspiracy indictment.

No statement as to the reasons for the employment of Mr. Barger to represent Henry was obtainable yesterday.

Mr. Burkinshaw, in announcing that the hearing on the pleas would be held today, said he had been instructed to clear the way, if possible, for the trial of the four men on the charges on October 8.

MAKING MISCHIEF.

No attempt is now made to conceal the fact that France and Italy have reached a deadlock on the question of naval relativity. An "official" statement from some undisclosed source in Paris asserts that the experts who have recently discussed this question were not expected to agree. But it appears that they succeeded in disagreeing upon every point, so that the governments, if they should take up the threads of the discussion, will find nothing whatever upon which to base an understanding. The experts could not even agree to postpone the question of new programs until 1936, on the understanding that building in the meantime should be for replacement only.

France and Italy stand where they stood at the opening of the London conference. Italy will not be content with anything less than parity, and France refuses to agree to parity. Public opinion in both countries has been stirred up to such an extent that neither government dares to make any concessions.

In this situation Count von Bernstorff, speaking for Germany, sharply criticizes the preparatory arms commission for failing to do anything to advance the cause of disarmament. Lord Robert Cecil replies that it is a most difficult problem, which impatience will not help to solve. Jonkheer Loudon, president of the preparatory commission, announces that a session will be held on November 3.

With France and Italy unwilling to make a naval agreement, with Germany threatened by a Fascist upheaval, and with Soviet Russia pursuing tactics that seem to be inviting war, the time is not propitious for the disarmament of the great powers. They would be foolish, indeed, to strip themselves of arms in the face of danger. Germany, having been disarmed, can properly urge the nations belonging to the League of Nations to disarm, as the covenant contemplates, but hard facts are revealing that this is not the only item in which the covenant enables Europe to play the hypocrite. The covenant reeks with hypocrisy. There is good reason to believe that the "preparatory commission on disarmament" is a shrewd device for avoiding disarmament. It has given all the nations concerned an opportunity to advocate disarmament "in principle" and to remain armed in fact. Count von Bernstorff makes a losing fight when he endeavors to put an end to hypocrisy and bring the League of Nations down to the concrete task of cutting down armaments.

Since realities prevent the nations from disarming, candor should induce them to discard the camouflage with which all their discussions at Geneva are enveloped. Why should they not tell the truth, for a change? If European civilization is to survive it will probably be by force of arms. The squabbles over disarmament sharpen national animosities at a bad time. There is no fundamental reason for a quarrel between France and Italy, but if disarmament visionaries press too hard those two great nations may be driven into conflict. They should be standing shoulder to shoulder against an enemy that hopes to destroy them both. The world may witness the phenomenon of France and Italy helping to save Germany from destruction by the Reds.

All schemes to constrain nations to run contrary to their own ideas of national defense are doomed to fail, and the double-dealing that results from these schemes works for bad feeling among nations. The men who are manipulating the League of Nations are making mischief for the world.

POSTOFFICE BUILDINGS.

Postmaster General Brown has finished an exhaustive survey of the housing of his department and concludes that it is uneconomical for the Government to rent buildings in large cities. Construction of postoffices was suspended during and immediately following the war, and it now becomes necessary to spend millions of dollars catching up. The immediate result will be a further drain on the Treasury, but it will be justified by the ultimate savings.

Mr. Brown does not propose that the Postoffice Department acquire all the buildings it must use. Out of a total of 49,103 postoffices in the country 33,483 are in villages or hamlets where the Government does not contract directly for housing. But the Government owns only a small percentage of the buildings used for postoffices in larger communities. Monthly rental is paid on 10,468 buildings, and 6,526 postoffice quarters are leased.

The program of construction proposed by Mr. Brown concerns only 353 postoffices in large cities, for which rentals of more than $6,000 annually are being paid. To lease these quarters now costs the Government $8,209,763 every year. It is estimated that the Government can acquire these or construct its own quarters for $43,140,000. "Thus, strictly on the basis of appropriations," reports Mr. Brown, "the program can be paid for out of the rentals which would be saved in the next twelve years, leaving the Government with title to properties conservatively valued at $28,000,000 after allowance for depreciation."

Nothing is more obvious than that the Government ought to own its major postoffice quarters. Postmaster General Brown says that every lease is being scrutinized to avoid excessive rentals, but the Government is always at a disadvantage in business deals. If the Government owns a building it is exempt from taxation, but if it leases the same building local taxes are paid in the form of rental. Furthermore, the Government can obtain capital at a fraction of what it costs an individual, and the Government provides its own fire insurance.

Mr. Brown's report is convincing to the public, and it is to be hoped that Congress will also find it so. It will be difficult to expand the budget to cover this item, but economy demands that an extra outlay be made in the interests of ultimate savings.

TWELVE YEARS AGO.

Early this morning, twelve years ago, September 26, 1918, opened the decisive battle of the World War. When measured in terms of destruction it was the greatest effort for mastery ever put forth by man.

The tide of battle in the World War had turned on July 18, 1918. Some 50 British, French, Italian and American divisions by frontal attack violently assaulted 45 enemy divisions on the battle line from Soissons to Rheims. They recovered 600 square miles of territory and captured 22,000 prisoners and 400 cannon.

This brilliant success gave Foch the initiative. He could choose the place of attack. Immediately the Belgians, British and French made great gains in many local attacks on the northern part of the western front.

In the meantime the British manufactured, transported and secretly massed about 500 tanks in the forests near Amiens. On August 8 these tanks in surprise attack led the way for the armies under Byng, Rawlinson, Debenney, Humbert and Mangin. These armies took 1,000 miles of territory, 40,700 prisoners and 650 cannon.

On August 29 these armies drove again and captured 34,250 prisoners and 250 cannon. Again they struck, this time toward the heart and center of the Hindenburg Line. The tanks made a race track of this defense line. The Germans lost 80,750 prisoners and 1,080 cannon.

On September 12 a group of armies under Pershing drove back the old St. Mihiel salient and captured nearly 16,000 prisoners and 400 cannon. This success completed a series of offensives and gave the allies every advantage.

The Hindenburg Line was now cut in two. Foch was master of the situation. The enemy withdrew into two zones for retreat. One line of retreat was a railroad that crossed the Rhine at Cologne. Another—a superior line for retreat—crossed the Rhine at Coblenz.

The mission of what is known as the Somme-Py and the Meuse-Argonne offensives was to cut the line of retreat, which was a series of railroads running through Hirson, Meziers, Sedan and Steney.

Twelve years ago this morning a group of armies under Pershing and a group of armies under Gouraud opened in coordinated assault the decisive battle of the World War. There was no opportunity for maneuver. It had to be by frontal attack.

This coordinated assault was on a front of 40 miles, extending from Verdun west to Suippe. Pershing and Gouraud had 64 divisions and 7,000 cannon in battle action and reserve.

These divisions waded into a labyrinth of barbed wire entanglements. Ludendorff contested every foot of ground to protect the enemy line of retreat. It was a campaign of exhaustion, where every effort was put forth to protect the line of evacuation and avert a catastrophe. The allied armies were delivering the blow that brought Germany to her knees.

UNPROFITABLE AIR LINES.

M. Henri Bouche, editor in chief of the Aeronautique of Paris, recently prepared at the suggestion of the League of Nations a monograph on the economic condition of commercial aviation that is deserving of careful consideration. The dilemma facing commercial aviation, in his opinion, is that where it is most likely to get freight and passengers it offers the least advantage over competitive means of transport, and where it offers the greatest advantages and has the least competition there is little paying load to be had. The huge area of the United States, its great volume of urgent business and other conditions make it the promised land of commercial aviation, yet even United States airlines enjoy only the promise of future prosperity and meanwhile live with the help of postal subventions and private subventions, in the form of the large amounts of capital they were able to find during the speculative period of the last two years.

M. Bouche's study found that there were in 1929 almost 137,000 miles of established air routes in the world, over which were operated some 2,000 planes. These planes carried a total of 14,000 tons of merchandise and mail. Almost without exception, however, the lines failed to earn operating expenses. A line in New Guinea, and others in Colombia, Persia and Bolivia were found to be making expenses, but elsewhere subsidies in one form or another were all that enabled the lines to continue in operation. Reduced to terms of francs per ton, M. Bouche found that the British lines received 20 francs on their European lines and 90 to 100 francs on the empire routes; the French subsidies averaged 17 francs; the German, 14; the Italian, 12 and the American, 11.

The figures are interesting in connection with the summary of aeronautic development in 1929 as contained in the Commerce Yearbook, recently published by the Department of Commerce. In 1929 there was a marked expansion in both scheduled and miscellaneous flying. In the field of scheduled flying more than 25,000,000 miles were flown, or a daily average of 69,000 miles. Nearly 175,000 passengers and more than 7,700,000 pounds of mail were carried. There were 85 routes in regular operation. In addition, more than 125,000,000 miles were flown in "miscellaneous" operations.

In all details, the 1929 record marked considerable advances over the 1928 record. In view of M. Bouche's study, however, one may well wonder who is footing the bill. The answer is of academic rather than practical interest, however, for no one doubts that the airplane ultimately will occupy a position as a transportation medium that will more than justify the cost of pioneering, no matter how great it may be.

American tourists were curtailed by the business depression this year, and spent only $40,000,000 in touring Great Britain.

Farmers, says the health director of Illinois, have the best eyesight. But in view of their persistent overproduction, what can be said about their vision?

NOT A BLANK CHECK

From the New York Herald Tribune.

Senator Walsh, of Massachusetts, is the latest of our statesmen to return from Cuba breathing criticisms, forebodings and hints of intervention under the Platt amendment. It is a peculiar situation. For a long time now there have been vague mutterings from the south of Key West, though as to the actual conditions in Cuba the American public is as badly informed as it was in the days before the 1895 outbreak, which led us into the Spanish-American War. Yet our interests in Cuba are more extensive than in those cheerily altruistic days and perhaps no less significant. The Platt amendment carries with it the possibility of sudden involvements which might lead to unforeseen consequences; we certainly assumed obligations under that instrument, and if they should become operative, or if interested gentlemen should convince us that they had become operative, we might find ourselves abruptly committed to a course leading us into fields into which we had not expected to be led. In some such fashion, at any rate, have almost all our Caribbean entanglements begun.

In so far as Senator Walsh is merely warning against a policy of drift and negligence no one will quarrel with him. Cuba has been badly hit by a world economic depression, which only intensified troubles under which its sugar industry was already suffering, and after the last few lively weeks in Latin America some foresight seems wise. But when Senator Walsh appears to encourage those who have been trying to precipitate an intervention under the Platt amendment, when he suggests that we have a responsibility to insure the Cuban people "the right to exercise their basic privilege to declare who shall govern them," it seems time to insist again that the Platt amendment is a strictly limited document, precise in its terms, and not a blank check authorizing us to wander over the Gem of the Antilles bestowing good government whenever we like.

Under the terms of the amendment the Cuban government "consents that the United States may exercise the right to intervene for the preservation of Cuban independence, the maintenance of a government adequate for the protection of life, property and individual liberty" and for carrying out the terms of our treaty of peace with Spain. We do not know what the precise state of affairs in Cuba may be, but it seems to us that it would be very difficult to prove that the Machado government is not "adequate for the protection of life, property and individual liberty," or that American intervention would tend toward the maintenance of a government any more adequate to those ends. Yet without such proof we have no right to intervene.

American diplomacy should always be alert to developments anywhere that might seem to affect us under our treaty obligations. But it is a duty which must perforce be left to the diplomats, because public opinion is too clumsy and badly informed to supplant them. Certainly, to stir up popular enthusiasm for intervention while the wisdom or necessity for it is still dubious, is not helpful to any one—especially not to the Cubans.

COOKING EN ROUTE.

It may be old, says the New Orleans Times-Picayune, but it is new to us and was new up in Maine, where the fact recently got into the newspapers. It was sprung by a lady automobile tourist who at meal time lifted the hood of her automobile and took out several pans, with their food contents piping hot and ready for the table. Why, indeed, should not the surplus heat of the motor be put to such a service? Why should not some up-'n'-comin' manufacturer introduce a well-thought-out kitchen equipment under the hood so that a tasty meal might be prepared en route? Judicious use of the temperature that now runs to waste might boil, stew and even bake while the car is reeling off its 40 or 50 miles an hour, perhaps with heat control buttons on the instrument board and a handy loophole through which the chef could stir the beans or stick a straw into the cake to tell when it was baked to the proper point. A slight attachment to the radiator would render egg-boiling a cinch.

A Lie Is No Less a Lie Because You Hear It Often.

By ROBERT QUILLEN

PEOPLE live without fear in the shadow of a volcano. When the earth trembles and molten lava races down the mountainside, they flee in terror; but they return to bury their dead and rebuild their houses, and again they live and laugh and labor and love without fear of death.

The accustomed thing has no terrors.

The evils and crimes and wrongs to which people are accustomed are accepted as details of a normal existence.

Habit dulls the mind like a drug.

If the first few automobiles manufactured years ago had raced through crowded streets and along busy highways, leaving behind them the broken and bleeding bodies of 30,000 victims within a year, no power on earth could have saved the drivers from the noose.

There would have been no talk of "unavoidable accidents." No coroner's jury would have held a driver blameless. There would have been no callous talk of "unfortunate sacrifices to progress." Jokesmiths would have made no capital of the mutilated bodies. The horror-stricken world would have been in arms against the new scourge, and the law or the people would have suppressed it quickly.

Stop a moment and think. If anybody should tell you that mere repetition of murder or arson or kidnaping would cause you to excuse it as a necessary evil of civilization, you would feel insulted.

You would not concede that your convictions are so weak and your mind so easily influenced that perjury would no longer offend you if you heard much of it.

What, then, is your reaction when careless killers are not even held for trial?

Isn't it a hard commentary on our boasted intelligence that we no longer think slaughter dreadful because we are accustomed to it?

Are we really above the level of simple savages if mere repetition can dull our minds and reconcile us to wholesale butchery?

There are no "unavoidable accidents." Every death is a result of carelessness or folly. And to condone the slaughter is to brutalize ourselves and confess the loss of our power to reason.

THE ONCE OVER

By H. J. PHILLIPS

A LETTER TO A LOSER.

Sir Thimas Lopton,

Somewhere off Brenton's Reef (if not on it).

Dear Sir Thomas: Well, it is all over and you lost again and I am sorry. The American people were afraid you wouldn't lift the cup, but they didn't think the New York Yacht Club would rub it in like that even if it could. I still can't figure out why Mr. Vanderbilt should make a spectacle of the Shamrock the way he did, unless he dislikes your tea.

* * * *

However, it proves nothing in particular, except that a yacht can't beat a machine. To me it is just the same as if when the British sent a race horse over here to meet Zev, we had sent in an airplane with a horse's neck and a strong odor of equine liniment and insisted that it was a race horse. The Enterprise (which must have been named after the fellow who thought up all those various gadgets on her) was a trick boat and you might as well have been out there racing her in a trolley car.

* * * *

But don't feel downhearted. You are more popular than ever as a result of the four straight defeats, as nobody relishes the public spectacle of an 80-year-old sportsman far away from his native land taking a cruel beating with unnecessary ruthlessness. The impression of the man on the street is that we might have let you take a race or two, if only as a gesture of friendship. Why we were in such a hurry to win will always be one of yachting's major mysteries, unless Mr. Vanderbilt had an appointment to make a fourth at bridge in Chicago or some place by Friday noon.

* * * *

After all, though, you should console yourself with the thought that the races were held so far away that few people saw them anyhow.

* * * *

Remember, Sir Thomas, that being licked four straight times in a yacht race doesn't hurt as much as if you were a ski-jumper, a golfer, or the Brooklyn Nationals. Even when you win a yacht race it is nothing very personal and you are not expected to indorse anything or go into vaudeville. Which is why so few people go in for it.

Most people are a bit thick about yachting any how and their sympathies are always with the fellow who doesn't make good at it.

* * * *

So cheer up. You may think you would be happy to win the cup, but it would really be the end of you, as you wouldn't know what to do if you were put in a position where you couldn't challenge for it. As things turned out, you can build another Shamrock. This will keep you in good spirits for another long spell, whereas, if you couldn't do this you would get to thinking about your health or something. In 1940 you can come over again and by that time maybe we will decide to give you a break and race you with a yacht that has no electric cigar lighters, self-winding spinnakers or mainsail zippers instead of the old-fashioned buttons.

* * * *

Who can tell? There must be some justice.

With my deepest regrets,

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR.

Can the Eighteenth Amendment Be Repealed?—Kelly Miller Points Out Some of the Obstacles.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: Possession is nine points of the law. The prohibitionists are intrenched behind the constitutional stronghold from which they can not be dislodged. The thing is done and can hardly be undone unless by practically unanimous consent.

It requires two-thirds majority in both houses of Congress to propose an amendment legally, or what is more difficult to secure, the application of the legislatures of two-thirds of the several States. It is not thinkable that the wets can secure any such support within any calculable time.

The repealists must rely for support upon the large cities and urbanized States. The rural communities are generally dry. While the majority in the House may be controlled by the concentrated population in our large cities, the Senate is subject to no such influence. The great majority of the States are rural, with prohibition proclivities. It requires only thirteen States to block repeal. The 1930 census discloses that there are thirteen rural States, with an aggregate population of less than 7,000,000, which can effectually checkmate 35 of the more populous States, with fifteen times their population.

It must also be kept in mind that the genuine prohibitionists are imbued with the spirit of the moral reformer and will not retreat a single inch nor surrender one iota of political advantage.

On sober analysis, one wonders by what possible arguments the vociferous wets can convince themselves that repeal of the eighteenth amendment is feasible, and by what possible means do they hope to bring it to pass. KELLY MILLER.

Chairman Lewisohn Explains Budget Plans Available Through National Thrift Committee.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: Thoughtful people realize this is the time to prepare for prosperity and opportunities that are certain to come as has always been the case in our American history. Quite a number of readers of your paper have already reorganized their money methods by adopting part or all of the "Ten Steps to Success" advocated by the National Thrift Committee, of which I am chairman. This ten-point plan was created during the dark days of the World War and has helped many thousands of people on the way to financial independence.

Our committee has just published a neat, small wall poster giving these ten points, together with the calendar of daily topics of national thrift week, January 17-23, which is sponsored by the National Thrift Committee of the Y. M. C. A. We also have available for free distribution a pamphlet by E. A. Hungerford, our budget book editor, on a "Child's Money Program," giving important suggestions on training children from early youth through college. This contains actual budgets used by the author's children during high school and college days. A copy of the poster and the leaflet will be sent to any of your readers who will send postage stamps to cover mailing.

The committee also has prepared a convenient 32-page budget book, with records for twelve months, which is distributed each year by the thousands. A copy of this book will likewise be sent to those desiring it, but we ask them to inclose 10 cents in postage to cover cost of mailing, wrapping, &c.

May I, through your columns, appeal to parents to instruct their children early in life on the powerful influence of money for good or evil on human character?

ADOLPH LEWISOHN.

New York,

Republicans Could Have Done Better, Says Democrat Who Makes Points Against Will R. Wood.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: Chairman Will R. Wood refers to the possible election of a Democratic Congress as a "calamity," and pleads for support of the President in order that he may carry out his policies. One does not have to have a long memory to recall that in 1918 when President Wilson, in the midst of a foreign war, very properly asked for the election of a Congress in sympathy with his policies, Mr. Wood was one of those Republicans who raised their hands in horror.

He also makes the false claim that a lower tariff always results in business depression and unemployment. That is exactly what has occurred under the highest tariff ever enacted!

Mr. Wood makes a whining attempt to place responsibility for present conditions on the Democrats by reason of delay in the passage of the tariff bill. Well, it really is too bad that the wicked Democrats would not let the Republicans pass the tariff bill! What is more to the point, it is only another illustration of the inability of the Republican party to legislate for the business of the country. Why did they not go ahead and pass their tariff bill? They had the necessary votes. Why did they not amend the stupid rules of the Senate? Furthermore, had they followed the President's suggestion and limited tariff revision to agricultural items, the bill might have been passed more promptly and the business of the country suffered less.

Why Should the Spirit of North America Be Proud, Asks Mr. Rapp.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: Why North America speak scorn of other countries when itself disordered? Chicago is great city, but ruled by insurgents. I read of riots in Union Square of New York. Is it revolution? Now President Hoover menaced by savages in wild Repidan mountains, but where is North American army? You have trouble enough, why scorn of other countries?

Guns Salute Officials at Army Show

Secretary Adams, With Gov. Pollard, Are Welcomed.

A SALUTE of nineteen guns welcomed the Secretary of the Navy, Mr. Charles Francis Adams, and the Governor of Virginia, Mr. John Garland Pollard, to the Army War College yesterday and sped them on their way. An escort of cavalry accompanied these honor guests, so the picturesque ceremonial of their arrival and departure contributed in no small measure to the colorful aspect of the great three-day military exhibition and carnival which opened auspiciously.

It was "Virginia day" at the fete, so Gov. Pollard was received with official honors, also paid to the head of the Navy. The Secretary of War and Mrs. Hurley were present, appearing with Gen. and Mrs. Charles P. Summerall and Maj. Gen. and Mrs. William D. Connor, in the role of hosts.

After a tour of the exhibition, the group of dignitaries occupied ring side seats to view a spectacular pageant: "Perils of the Plains." Thrill followed thrill in this epic of the Oregon Trail, with its slow moving procession of covered wagons, oxen drawn, its groups of pioneer men and women, its attack by Indians and its final stirring rescue by cavalry.

Gov. Pollard was accompanied by his daughter, Miss Sue Pollard, the youthful "First Lady of Virginia." In a scarlet frock and a small close-fitting hat of the same shade, she looked for all the world like a red bird. Mrs. Edward Everett Gann, sister of the Vice President, sat with the official party to view the pageant and others with them were the Assistant Secretary of War, Col. Frederick Payne; Mr. and Mrs. Alfred I. duPont, of Wilmington; and Miss Catherine Huston. Most of the group had previously been guests at the luncheon given by Brig. Gen. Albert J. Bowley for Gov. Pollard.

Mrs. Gann wore a summery frock of chiffon printed in a flower design of dark blue and rose, with a big hat of beige straw. Mrs. Summerall had also chosen a printed chiffon frock, with which she wore a navy blue picture hat and smart little blue shoes.

After the performance tea was served at the Officers' Club, with Mrs. Summerall doing the honors at the tea table and with many of the ladies who had been playing bridge through the early afternoon joining the company. Today Mrs. Gann will be at the tea table and tomorrow Mrs. Hurley will preside. For the "bridge drive," a feature of the carnival each day, stunning prizes have been provided. The lucky winner at contract each afternoon will carry off a luncheon set of rose-tinted porcelain, with a set of goblets, also rose-tinted, going to the winner at auction. A flower-decked table, set with this wear, is a decorative feature of the room set aside for bridge.

Mrs. Gann, Mrs. Hurley and Miss Pollard released the birds for the pigeon derby, which was featured in the afternoon's entertainment. Visitors crowded the midway, with its merry-go-round, its Ferris wheel and its booths devoted to games which had a particular appeal for children. There was dancing on the tennis courts, afternoon and evening, and two military bands made continuous music. Tables were scattered about under the trees for the enjoyment of ices and soft drinks. Pretty girls in fetching costumes sold hot dogs, chewing gum, candy, smokes and chances for pretty much everything under the sun including two enchanting Pekinese pups. Dinner, under direction of Mrs. William D. Connor, was served in a great mess tent between afternoon and evening shows, with many pleasant parties arranged by those who cared to remain for the evening's program and see the fete in its glamorous "evening dress" of searchlights and Japanese lanterns.

Among those glimpsed at the carnival either as participants or spectators were Mrs. Sidney Cloman, Mrs. Merritte W. Ireland, Mrs. James E. Fechet, Col. and Mrs. Parker West, Mrs. Hugh Drum, Mrs. Charles Nelson Riker, Mr. and Mrs. Otto Wells, who had come from Norfolk for the occasion and were guests of her brother-in-law and sister, Lieut. and Mrs. Martin Cahill, of Fort Myer; Brig. Gen. and Mrs. George Van Horn Moseley, Col. and Mrs. Harry Cootes, Col. Campbell B. Hodges and Capt. George Forster.

Mrs. Hoover is expected to attend the carnival, probably this afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur Return to Capital.

Brig. Gen. A J Bowley, assistant chief of staff, entertained at luncheon yesterday at the Army and Navy Club in celebration of Virginia day at the Military Carnival. The guests were the Secretary or War, Mr. Patrick J. Hurley; the Governor of Virginia, Mr. John Garland Pollard; the Assistant Secretary of War, Col. Frederick Payne; the Chief of Staff, Gen. Charles P. Summerall; the Deputy Chief of Staff, Maj. Gen. W. Preston Brown; Miss Suzanne Pollard, Mrs. Taylor, niece of Gov. Pollard; Maj. Gen. and Mrs. George Van H. Moseley, Mr. and Mrs. Alfred DuPont Dr. and Mrs. N. Addison Baker, of Richmond; Miss Catherine Huston, Col. and Mrs. H. N. Cootes, Col. E. Warner McCabe, Col. Creed Cox, Col. Campbell Hodges, Col. and Mrs. C. B. Moore and Col. and Mrs. Robert Guggenheim.

Capt. Emory Land Ordered to Washington.

Ordered to duty in the Navy Department, Capt. Emory Land will come to Washington shortly, accompanied by Mrs. Land They have been on the West Coast for some time, Capt. Land being attached to the U. S. S. Texas and serving as fleet constructor. For his next tour of duty he will be in the war plans division of the office of naval operations.

Although trained as a naval constructor, Capt. Land has been chiefly associated with aviation development in the Navy. When last on duty in Washington he served as assistant chief of the Bureau of Aeronautics. Detached from his duty, he was given leave of absence to do aviation work with the Guggenheim interests, devoting a year or two to this task before resuming active service with the Navy. He is a cousin of Col. Charles A. Lindbergh. Capt. and Mrs. Land have many friends in the Capital to welcome their return.

October Bride

Underwood & Underwood.

MISS ANNE SEDDON KINSOLVING, daughter of the Rev. Dr. and Mrs. Arthur B. Kinsolving, who will be married in Baltimore on October 18 to Mr. John Nicholas Brown, of Newport and Providence.

Mr. and Mrs. Homer Saint-Gaudens, of Pittsburgh, are at the Mayflower. They are accompanied by M. Henri Matisse, of Paris; Mr. Glyn Philpot, of London, and Mr. Karl Sterrer, of Vienna, three well-known painters on the European jury of award, who will be judges at the International Exposition of Paintings to be held at the Carnegie Institute of Pittsburgh, beginning the middle of October and continuing for six weeks. Mr. Saint-Gaudens is director of Fine Arts at the Carnegie Institute.

A new recruit to Washington's debutante parade is Miss Sally Cary Fairfax Harrison, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fairfax Harrison, who will be formally presented to society here and in Baltimore. The permanent home of Mr. Harrison, president of the Southern Railroad, and Mrs. Harrison is at The Plains, Va., but for several years they have maintained an apartment at the Hay-Adams House for the winter months. This season, however, it is understood that they will take a house in Washington in order to be able to entertain for their daughter.

In Baltimore Miss Harrison will be presented by her aunt, Mrs. Charles R. White, who will give a tea for her on October 19. She will spend part of the winter with Mrs White. Miss Harrison's brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Baird, of The Plains, have taken an apartment at 2001 Connecticut avenue for the winter. Mrs. Baird was formerly Miss Ursula Harrison.

Miss Doran Is Wed To Mr. Fontain.

The marriage of Miss Frances Lorraine Doran, daughter of Mr. James M. Doran, Commissioner of Prohibition, and Mrs. Doran, and Mr. N. Graham Fontain took place yesterday afternoon at 5 o'clock in All Souls' Unitarian Church, the Rev. Maurice F. White performing the ceremony. Mr. Fontain is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Fontain, of Miami, Fla.

Mrs. Harmon J. Swink, of Rock Spring Road, Va., was matron of honor. Miss Mary Jane Klare was honor maid and Jane Warren, small daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. E. Warren, was the flower girl.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a lovely gown made on princess lines. It was of egg shell satin and fell in circular folds to the floor with a semi-fitted bodice relieved by old lace at the neck line. The sleeves were long. She wore a tulle veil held by orange blossoms and carried cream colored roses.

The matron and maid of honor wore gowns of brown chiffon over gold, the dresses made with fitted waists and quaint puff sleeves. Gold turbans and short brown lace mitts completed the picturesque effect of the costumes. They carried yellow chrysanthemums. The little flower girl had a dress of yellow organdie and carried a basket of yellow rose petals.

Mr. Ernest Holmes Fontain was best man for his brother and the ushers were Mr. Bennett King, of Rock Spring Road, Va.; Dr. John H. Fontain, of Washington, brother of the bridegroom; Mr. Gerard H. Gober and Mr. W. Donald Brock, of Washington.

After the wedding a reception was held at the home of the bride's parents, 3135 O street, after which Mr. and Mrs. Fontain left for a wedding trip. They will make their home in Miami. Mrs. Doran's costume was of Copenhagen blue chiffon. She wore long shell pink gloves and a corsage of pink roses. Her hat was of black velvet.

For her traveling costume the bride chose brown silk tweed, handsomely tailored, with accessories to match. The new residence will be at 1638 Northwest Eighth Terrace, Miami, where they will be at home after October 15.

Mr. and Mrs. Gordon James and their son, Mr. Donald James, of Boston and New York, and Mr. E. C. Yellowly, of Chicago, were among those from out-of-town who came for the wedding.

Brazilian Diplomat Entertains for Colleague.

Senhor Mauro de Freitas, second secretary of the Brazilian Embassy, entertained at dinner last evening at the Carlton in honor of Senhor F. C. Branco, Clark, Brazilian Minister to Cuba. The other guests included Senor Don Oscar Blanco Viel, first secretary of the Chilean Embassy; Senor Don Manuel Valdes, second secretary of the Chilean Embassy; Senor Don Jose T. Baron, Charge d'Affaires of Cuba; Senora de Barra, Mrs. Theresa Rennert, Miss Mary Dawes, Miss Elizabeth Hume and Miss Jeannette Hume.

Miss Bullard Will Be Wed Tomorrow

General's Daughter and New Yorker Are to Marry.

Miss Rose Bullard, daughter of Maj. Gen. Robert Lee Bullard, U. S. A., retired, and Mrs. Bullard, of New York, will be married tomorrow to Mr. Edmund B. Bellinger, son of Mrs. Marie C. Bellinger, of New York, and Brig. Gen. John B. Bellinger, of Washington. No formal announcement was made of the engagement.

The wedding will be small and will take place in the Church of the Magdalene, Bedford road, Pocantico Hills, N. Y., the Rev. Father Deneen officiating in the presence of the families only. Mr. Bellinger and his bride will live at 166 East Ninety-sixth street, New York, after October 10. Miss Bullard was educated at the Convent of the Sacred Heart at Manhattanville, New York.

Mr. Bellinger was graduated from West Point in 1918 and from Fordham Law School. He is practising law in New York. He is the brother of Mr. Frederick Coudert Bellinger, of Capt. John B. Bellinger, and of Mr. Rene DuC. Bellinger, and is a grandson of the late Mr. Frederick R. Coudert, of New York.

Gen. Bullard is one of the most famous military figures in the United States. When in 1925 he was retired he had participated in all the major warfares of the country from early Indian raids and skirmishes of 1885 to the World War.

His 40 years of active service constituted one of the most colorful careers of professional soldiering in the army. The peak of his fame was reached at the second Battle of the Marne in 1918, when he refused to obey the order of a superior to retreat and wrote the famous message concluding, "we will counter-attack," swinging the tide of the battle finally against the German offensive. Since his retirement Gen. Bullard has devoted the greater part of his time to activities of the National Security League of which he is president. In addition to his fame as a soldier he has commanded attention by his writings which are valuable to military records of the country.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Bruce Howe have closed their villa, Berry Hill, at Newport and will arrive shortly in Washington to open their winter home.

Mrs. Philip H. Sheridan and the Misses Louise, Irene and Mary Sheridan, of Washington, are among arrivals at the Weylin Hotel, New York. Mrs. Fleming Newbold is also at the hotel.

Col. and Mrs. Royden E. Beebe, of Fort Ethan Allan, Vermont, accompanied by their son, Midshipman R. E. Beebe, are passing some time at the Powhatan.

Mrs. Julien Jaquelin Mason will entertain at luncheon at Rauscher's today in honor of her cousin, Mrs. Richard F. Amphlett, of Worcester, England.

Mrs. Richards Plans Luncheon for Daughter.

Mrs. Ralph Richards has sent out invitations for a luncheon on October 18 at the Mayflower for her debutante daughter, Miss Betty Richards. The party is the first on the calendar for the younger set and the guests will be a group of this season's debutantes. Miss Richards, who has traveled extensively and received part of her education abroad, will continue her studies this winter, taking several courses at George Washington University.

Student Council Plans Dance at G. W. U.

The Student Council of the George Washington University will entertain at a reception and dance for all students of the university tonight in Corcoran Hall.

In the receiving line will be officers of the student council. Mr. Joseph Howard, president; Miss Maud Hudson, first vice president; Mr. Hearst Duncan, second vice president; Miss Edith Norris, secretary, and Mr. John Kennedy, treasurer.

Dancing will take place in the assembly room and refreshments will be served in the college yard. Entertainment will be furnished by members of The Troubadours and Les Jongleurs, student dramatic organization.

Patrons and patronesses are the President of the University and Mrs. Cloyd Heck Marvin, the Dean of the University and Mrs. Howard Lincoln Hodgkins, the Provost of the University and Mrs. William Allen Wilbur, the Acting Dean of Columbian College and Mrs. John Donaldson, the Dean of the Graduate School, Dr. George Neely Henning, and Miss Alice Henning; the members of the administrative committee of the School of Medicine and their wives, Dr. and Mrs. Oscar Benwood Hunter, Dr. and Mrs. Walter A. Bloedorn and Dr. and Mrs. Joseph H. Roe; the Acting Dean of the Law School and Mrs. Charles S. Collier, the Acting Dean of the School of Engineering and Mrs. Arthur F. Johnson, the Dean of the School of Pharmacy and Mrs. Louis F. Bradley, the Dean of the School of Education and Mrs. William Carl Ruediger, the Director of the Division of Library Science and Mrs. Alfred F. W. Schmidt, the Director of the Division of Fine Arts, Prof. Norris I. Crandal; the Director of the Division of Special and Extension Students and Mrs. Elmer Louis Kayser, and Mr. and Mrs. Albert Barrows.

Commander and Mrs. E. K. Lang have arrived at the Powhatan from New York City for a brief visit.

Maj. Daniel Johns Donovan, District auditor and budget officer, and Mrs. Donovan, have moved into their new house, 2924 Cortland place, Woodley Park.

Mrs. Charles A. Shafer, who recently celebrated her ninety-fifth birthday, will spend the month of October at the Chalfonte-Haddon Hall, Atlantic City.

The engagement of Miss Winifred Wessel, daughter of the Chilean Ambassador to Copenhagen, to Mr. John Booth, son of the American Minister to Denmark, Mr. Ralph Harman Booth, has been announced.

M. Claudel Returning to Washington

French Ambassador and Gen. Gouraud Are En Route.

Crossing on the Ile de France, the Ambassador of France, M. Paul Claudel, sailed on Wednesday from Havre for New York and will come to Washington to superintend the work, which will be started soon, on the new French Embassy. With the Ambassador is Gen. Gouraud, military governor of Paris, who was delegated only 48 hours in advance of sailing time, to represent the French government in Boston at the American Legion convention. It will be the fourth time the famous general has enjoyed the hospitality of the American war veterans.

Two months ago Gen. Gouraud attended the reunion of the Rainbow Division in the United States.

Mme. Claudel, with her daughters, Mlle. Reine Claudel and Mlle Renee Claudel, will return to Washington early in November.

Rear Admiral Laning Will Be Dance Guest.

Rear Admiral Harris Laning, president of the Naval War College at Newport, and Mrs. Laning, will be the guests of honor this evening at the opening dance to be given by Capt. Joseph R. Defrees and other naval officers at the torpedo station. What Today Means to You

By MARY BLAKE

"LIBRA."

IF September 26 is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from 11 a. m. to 1 p. m., from 5 p. m. to 6:15 p. m. and from 11 p. m. to midnight. The danger periods are from 9 a. m. to 10:30 a. m. and from 3 p. m. to 4:30 p. m.

Events on this date will be a "mixed grill" of good and bad, although none of ultra importance are astrologically indicated. Writings favor you. All clouds which loom across your path will have silver linings, and pleasure will follow pain. Social accomplishments.

Chilren born on this September 26 will be active and enterprising, but will be changeable-minded and lacking in continuity. They will excel in sports, rather than in their studies. They are mentally too lazy to win scholarships, although they have the brain capacity.

As you were born under Libra, the sign of the balance, it is natural for you to have an orderly mind, a well-balanced nature, and a most dispassionate judgment. You are able to weigh and balance all things mentally. You love harmony so much that it hurts you exceedingly to be thrown in inharmonious atmospheres or to live with people with whom you can not vibrate in peace.

You are remarkably intuitive, and you are thus enabled to draw from two sources—the seen and the unseen world. You will find, however, that your "bunches" are your safest bets. You have psychic gifts waiting to be developed. You are rather impatient and careless, but your personal faults are easily forgiven, because you are usually so even-tempered and amenable to all good influences which may surround you.

You are fitted for positions of refinement—such as secretarial work or that of a librarian. Your artistic ability could be sold as a decorator, designer or modiste. You are easy to work with, and you are almost too anxious to do more than your share. Your sense of justice controls all your actions of life. There is a certain lack of decision observed in your make-up, and you generally wait to see "what happens," or what is done by others before moving yourself. There are many voyages to and journeys in distant countries pictured for you.

Successful people born September 26:

4—William B. Rising—chemist.

5—Stephen B. Elkins—lawyer and politician—Secretary of War under Harrison.

6—Irving Batcheller—author.

Dare Interprets the Mode

Paris, Sept. 25.

THINK of all the truly lovely dresses you have ever owned. Wasn't there something essentially elegant yet entirely simple about them? There was in mine. Somehow I always knew when a certain dress was going to become one of my few "favored gowns."

Of course, one presumably likes all the dresses one buys. But sometimes we buy one for a certain reason or a certain mood which, while we know we are going to like it very much, we also know it will just be for certain moods and certain occasions.

When one is buying a very special gown one should take more things into consideration than just possible present and future moods. A gown that incorporates all the lines that are graciously becoming to your figure; one that is the best shade of a becoming color; one that is beautifully made and finished; one that has distinction and individuality, yet not obviousness; one that is of the mode yet not so blatantly of the mode that it will quickly go out of style—this will be one of your most beloved gowns, which you will always remember with pleasure, yet with a pang of regret at its short life.

"Oh, dear, must I wax rhapso-er-rhapso—what is that word, again?—over aprons!" Whereupon as I am becoming very, very untrue to my deah publik, Mamzelle comes fluttering in with jasmin tea, and a perfect love of a wee apron that looks like a misplaced chiffon handkerchief tied demurely over her business dress! Then I don't find it half as hard to tell you for the fifth time this week that these cunning tea aprons are all the rage now, so much so that in fact women are just looking for excuses to wear them, such as serving jasmin tea for instance to a cantankerous employer.

Anyway, the French-maid who is Spanish made almost all of the twelve that I designed for you this week, some for herself because I insist upon her looking pretty around the house, some for myself, and the rest for gifts. All in all, wouldn't you say offhand that you had better sit down and make out that stamped, self-addressed envelope to send to the Dare Department of the Washington Post for those twelve tea apron designs?

* * * *

How about an outfit like the Phillipe et Gaston ensemble I have illustrated for you today, for business? There's the dress first of all up in the left-hand corner, or part of it anyway, then in the right-hand corner the dress with its long-sleeved jacket and likewise its detachable cape. You wear the cape you see, either with just the dress alone or with the dress and jacket. And the whole ensemble is made of tweed.

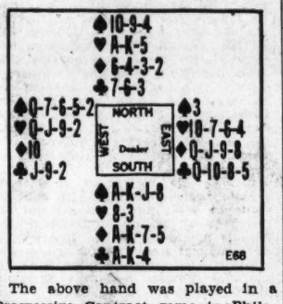
WORK ON BRIDGE

CONTRACT BRIDGE.



The above hand was played in a Progressive Contract game in Philadelphia last spring. There was a considerable difference of opinion exhibited among those who held the South hand as to whether it should be bid an original three No Trumps, two No Trumps, two Spades or two Diamonds; all of these bids were made. It had a count of 22, but the worthless doubleton in Hearts made a game bid at No Trump or even two No Trumps a most foolhardy venture.

When South bid two Spades initially, North jumped to three Spades and South to four, but due to bad distribution they were set. When South started with two Diamonds, North bid three Diamonds, South three Spades, North four Diamonds and South five. Disaster followed this bidding.

When South opened with the rash declaration of either two or three No Trumps, North and South made game when he made the proper opening bid of two Spades, his side failed to go game, but that was not the fault of the two-Spade bid. Of the Souths who started with two Spades and were fortunate enough to have intelligent partners who raised the Spades from two to three, not one made the proper response on the second round of bidding.

Having made his two-bid on a four-card suit, South should have answered North's jump to three by bidding three No Trumps to show the character of the Spade suit. Of course North, with only three Spades, would have let the three No Trumps stand, so sound bidding would have been rewarded in his hand as rash bidding actually was.

At No Trumps Declarer easily makes three-odd by taking three Spades, two Hearts, two Diamonds and two Clubs.

At the time that this hand was played the artificial two-Club bid had not been introduced; had it been used all would have been easy for Declarer. Answering his bid of two Clubs, North, to show that he held an Ace and King, would have bid two No Trumps; and South then knowing that his partner had the winning Hearts (South had all the other Aces and Kings) would have bid three No Trumps.

Uncle Sam's Home Hints

PANBROILED STEAK WITH MUSHROOM SAUCE.

(Bureau of Animal Industry.)

To pan broil a steak, sear it on both sides in a lightly greased sizzling hot skillet, then reduce temperature and cook to the desired stage, turning the meat to insure even cooking. Do not add water and do not cover. From time to time pour off accumulated fat so that the steak will not fry. A thick steak after searing may be successfully finished in a hot oven (450 degrees Fahrenheit), slip a rack under the steak in the skillet and the meat will cook evenly without being turned. This is a convenient arrangement, for full attention may then be given to other last-minute preparations for the meal.

Place the steak when done on a hot platter and season with salt, pepper, and melted butter. Garnish with parsley and serve at once.

No definite time can be given for cooking a steak because of the varying thicknesses, degree of heat applied and personal preference. A steak 1½ inches thick will probably require 20 to 25 minutes to cook medium rare under the flame of a gas oven.

Mushroom Sauce.

Canned or fresh mushrooms may be used. Wash fresh mushrooms, separate caps from stems, trim the stems and cut in pieces. Cook one pound of mushrooms in two tablespoons butter in a covered pan 5 to 10 minutes at moderate heat. Season and serve with the steak.

Stag Night Is Planned By Cosmopolitan Club

Inauguration of the fall social season with a stag night on October 16 is planned by the Cosmopolitan Club, according to the report of the committee on social affairs headed by Stokes Sammons and announced at a meeting of the club in the Carlton Hotel yesterday.

Gordon Bonnette, captain of the bowling team, reported that he is arranging for fall and winter bowling matches with other civic clubs in the city. Guy Dove, as Cosmopolitan of the day, made a brief address.

Four-H Club Champions Elude Crowd and Marry

Oklahoma City, Sept. 25 (A.P.).—Evading about 800 4-H Farm Club boys and girls here for the Oklahoma State fair, who planned to be on hand at their wedding, Miss Frances Smith, 1925 world's 4-H Club girl champion, and Ford Mercer, 1924 world's boy 4-H champion, were married quietly today.

The ceremony was set ahead several hours. The Rev. Frank M. Sheldon, pastor of Pilgrim Congregational Church, read the marriage service.

Indoor and Outdoor Gardens

By JANE LESLIE KIFT

A WINDOW BOX FIND.

LET met start with the assumption that you want a window box. It would, indeed, be strange if you didn't. You may feel that the money spent on cyclamen was wasted last year, or at most yielded a minimum return for your investment. Perhaps the result was unsatisfactory. You are not certain about that, but anyway, you are not going to repeat the experience.

Or perhaps this year you spent so much money on recovering the furniture that you have no money left for flowers. And yet—those empty window boxes are a tragedy. You know some one has said:

"For every evil under the sun
There is some remedy or none.
If there is one, go and find it;
If there is none, never mind it!"

Well, let me tell you that I have found the remedy for the empty window box—or rather, I have found three. All perfectly good schemes. The aftermath of any one of them will be a delightful bit of green the entire season.

The first essential to a successful window box is rich soil. A good combination is one composed of good garden loam, sand and manure, equal parts. Drainage is a second essential. After you have filled the boxes, level off the soil, and you will be quite ready to begin to seed. Note I say seed, not plant, and this is literally what I mean.

Each morning when you prepare your grapefruit, carefully save the seeds, lay them on a plate and dry them in the sun. When you have a sufficient number, plant them in your window boxes. Set them one inch and a half apart each way. Keep them moist, never wet, while they are germinating.

In a few weeks you will notice that they are beginning to peep up above the soil, and in less than two months you will have a box of the most shining foliage you ever saw. Such a box will cost nothing, except your labor, and will be a real joy the entire winter.

The second scheme is quite different and will cost a little more. After you have prepared the soil, sow it with parsley seed. Parsley plants are among the most beautiful of foliage plants. The leaf of this herb is most "wonderfully and beautifully made." It is fluted so closely that it resembles a series of rosettes. It has a rather thick foliage which, within a few weeks, will completely hide the soil. A window box of parsley is beautiful and well worthy a place in any room. And you can keep thinning the leaves for kitchen use without in the remotest way injuring the plants.

The third suggestion is to secure a few tops of that pernicious but altogether lovely weed, the Wandering Jew—a weed tabooed by the landscape architect but quite beautiful when grown in the confines of a wooden box.

Almost immediately after planting the tops will take root and begin to grow and will soon fill the boxes with most lovely green leaves and wee, star-like, golden flowers.

In the spring burn the contents of the box, for if one seed should find its way onto your lawn it would soon take possession and your grass would be choked out.

Son of U. S. Minister To Denmark Engaged

Copenhagen, Sept. 25 (A.P.).—Engagement of John Booth, 24-year-old son of the American Minister here, and Miss Winifred Wessel, daughter of the Chilean Minister, was announced last night at a dinner in the Chilean Legation.

Young Booth came to Copenhagen with his parents last spring and, deciding not to return to his home in Detroit, became connected with a bank here. His fiancee's family is wealthy.

The Rime of the Goofus Mariner

The Goofus Sailfish seemed becalmed
Upon the Goofus Sea,
And that was very strange because
The winds blew merrily.

"Why don't you move?" I asked of him,
Quoth he, "Alas-alack,
I've come out here to sail about
Without a starboard tack!"

Just then he hailed a hardware store
Which drifted by astern;
But whether he bought a starboard tack
I didn't wait to learn!

Sooner or later, a cigarette is judged on taste alone

24,584 LICENSES IN YEAR

Elimination of compulsory jail sentences which were provided when the present traffic law was enacted was urged by William H. Harland, director of traffic, in his annual report submitted to the District Commissioners yesterday.

The jail sentences were prescribed in the law as a harsh deterrent, but have not been found to work out very well, it was said.

Mr. Harland would have eliminated the compulsory jail sentence for third offense speeding, second offense reckless driving, and first offense driving while drunk.

Enactment of a certificate of title law, such as now is in effect in many States, was urged for the District by the traffic director.

There were 24,584 new drivers licensed by the District in the last year, Mr. Harland said. Permits of 77,801 others were renewed in the course of the year. License fees, including duplicates issued, amounted to $309,317. There were 1,339 operators' permits revoked or suspended in the course of the year. Of these 792 were restored.

There were 13,957 persons who applied for permits in the year who failed to pass the examination and were refused permits, the report said. The number of those examined was 55,161.

Purchase of a master timing device for use on Rhode Island avenue is being arranged and if this works successively it is planned to extend its use to other streets.

Law on Taxi Markings Tightened by Officials

The District Commissioners, it was disclosed yesterday, have amended the police regulations to help the Public Utilities Commission enforce its edict requiring taxicab companies and operators to have their names plainly marked on the side of their cabs.

The Utilities Commission was practically powerless to enforce its edict inasmuch as the only penalty prescribed was the general one of $200 a day prescribed in the utilities act for violation of commission orders. The police regulation adopted by the District Commissioners prescribed that the names must be marked in letters at least two inches high with a stroke at least a quarter inch in width. A penalty of not more than $40 fine for violation was prescribed.

Accused Pair Fails To Attend Court

Bonds Restored, However, When Judge Learns One Is in Hospital.

When Aaron Trachtenberg and William Osborne failed to appear in Police Court yesterday to answer charges of assaulting Policeman V. V. Vaughn, of the Traffic Bureau, Judge Gus A. Schuldt ordered their bonds forfeited. Later, however, when he was told that Osborne still is in a hospital and Trachtenberg is in Atlantic City trying to obtain witnesses in his defense in another case, the bond forfeitures were set aside.

Trachtenberg was under $200 bond on the assault charge, while Osborne was under a $500 bond.

Trachtenberg also is under bond of $5,000 for appearance Monday before the United States Commissioner on a charge of passing counterfeit money.

Police Search for School Girl.

A police search for 14-year-old Virginia Strickland, of 2229 Shannon place southeast, was begun yesterday when the girl disappeared after leaving her home to attend school. She was wearing a black polka dot dress and tennis shoes, her parents reported.

"King of Poland" Held At Embassy's Request

Appearing at the Polish Embassy where he is said to have declared himself to be the "King of Poland," a man identified as Jan J. Syty, 37 years old, Polish citizen, yesterday was held by police for mental observation and sent to Gallinger Hospital.

More than $500 in cash, a portable typewriter and a quantity of baggage were taken from the man at Police Headquarters. He said he arrived in this city Wednesday from San Francisco, Calif. Embassy officials reported that he has called at a number of consulates of Poland in recent weeks.

District Scout Group Wins Notable Honor

A ribbon carrying the rating of "standard council," an honor accorded to only 6 of the 60 Boy Scout councils in Region 3, will be awarded the District of Columbia unit at the annual regional meeting of the organization in Atlantic City October 3-4. The award is presented to those councils which have shown outstanding progress and growth in all phases of scout work.

The body of Policeman Frank J. Scoville, of the Traffic Bureau, who was killed Tuesday in an automobile accident, was sent ot Geneva, Ohio, last night for burial. Six members of the Traffic Bureau took the body to the station.

All flags at police precinct stations will remain at half-mast until after the funeral today. A verdict of accidental death in connection with Policeman Scoville's death was returned yesterday after an inquest. Evidence showed that he was driving at high speed and that the collision with the truck, driven by Bertram Bryant, of 230 First street southeast, could not have been averted.

Policeman Scoville is survived by his wife. He was considered one of the most efficient members of the Traffic Bureau and had been cited three times for efficiency and bravery.

Wife Is Not Dutiful, Is Claimed in Divorce

Declaring that the wife whom he married 17 years ago recently had gone on house parties and carried on in a manner not consistent with her duty as a wife, James A. Nettles, of Georgia avenue northwest near Kansas avenue, yesterday asked the District Supreme Court to award him a limited divorce from Mrs. Myrtle Nettles, of Alexandria, Va.

Nettles charges that his wife deserted him and that when he went home March 8, last, he discovered that three of their eight children were missing. Later, he states, the police found the children seated on a curbstone. The couple was married December 25, 1913, at Mobile, Ala., according to the husband's petition.

Soldier Turned Over To Military Authority

Charged with driving while drunk and leaving after colliding, Amos Moody, an Army private, was arraigned in Police Court yesterday before Judge Isaac R. Hitt, and was ordered turned over to military authorities.

Moody is alleged to have caused a number of automobile collisions last Sunday while driving his automobile between Hains Point and the Lincoln Memorial.

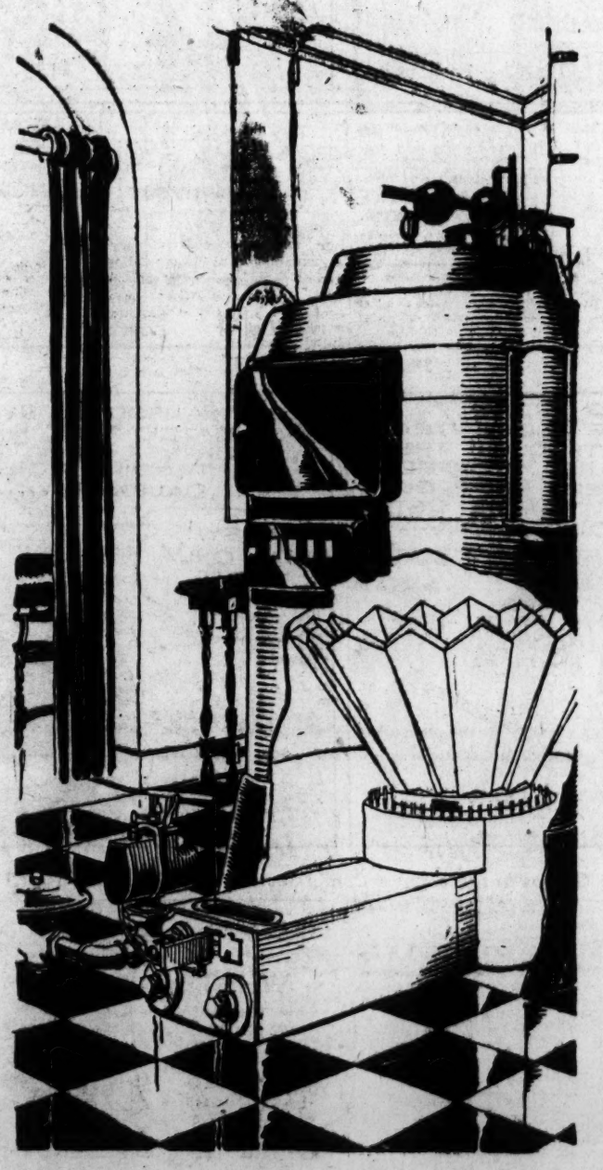
Here is JANITROL



Janitrol can be quickly installed in your present heating plant without any inconvenience to you. There is a Janitol for every type of furnace or boiler.

Our heating engineers can give you an accurate estimate, based on years of experience, of just what Automatic Gas Heat will cost. Call the House Heating Department, National 8280.

A conversion burner for $175 that will give you Automatic Gas Heat in your present plant

This is good news for home owners of Washington who are not yet convinced that they can afford the luxury of Automatic Gas Heating.

Special arrangements have been made so that the first 500 Janitrol Conversion Burners will be sold at the remarkably low figure of $175 installed, complete with all safety devices.

It will mean that you can burn Gas, the Ideal Fuel, in your present heating plant;

That you will no longer have to worry about ashes, dirt, dust, vapors, fuel bin or fuel tank;

That your home will be heated absolutely automatically;

That a single match will be your winter's kindling;

That your home will be heated better than ever before at a price within your means.

Terms are $17.50 down and $5 a month on your gas bill.

Let us give you a reliable estimate of the cost of heating your home with gas The facts themselves will convince you that you can afford the luxury of Automatic Gas Heating.

The Liberal party in Cuba is considering the question of sending a commission to Washington to ask for the reestablishment of the American intervention, or that the United States guarantee fair elections in Cuba.

A rear-end collision today between the east-bound New York Limited and a local passenger train at Paoli, Pa., killed 5 and injured 30.

MISS MYSTERIOUS - - - By Larry Lawrence

SYNOPSIS OF PRECEDING CHAPTERS.

Thelma Townley, affectionately called Babe by her friends at the university, is given a terrific shock when she gets a letter from her guardian, Clement Forseith, saying that he has lost all her money and is going to take his own life. The letter adds that her name is not Townley, and predicts that she will never learn her real identity. Babe tells this to her chum, Violet. A handsome young man, who calls himself Morgan, proposes to her, saying that he knows of her trouble. She suspects him of having a selfish motive, but does not know what it is, thinking that she is penniless. Peter Jones, Milwaukee senior, begs Babe to marry him, but she refuses, feeling that she has no right to marry until she has learned her identity. She is kidnaped. Pete rescues her, while in Milwaukee seeking work, a man, who gives the name of Mac, offers her a strange job. She accepts, meets Morgan at a gambling dive, and goes with him to his apartment. He tells her that Forseith is not dead, and she suspects that he is the man who is trying to capture her, but can not guess the reason. Morgan attempts to hold her in his arms, and Babe accidentally shoots him. Mac arrives at this moment, sees that Morgan is not seriously wounded, searches and finds two old brooches that had been stolen from Babe. She now realizes that she is in love, and can't tell whether she loves Mac or Pete the more, and is worried for fear she has inherited a moral taint from her unknown parents. It only strengthens her resolution to learn her identity. Mac reveals his peculiar game. He is seeking vengeance on a man who murdered some one dear to him many years ago. Babe tells her story, and they realize that the man Mac seeks is Forseith, her guardian and the man suspected of plotting against her. In order to get a line on Forseith, she feigns amnesia, and is arrested and held for mental observation. Forseith tries to get her out of the Emergency Hospital. Pete and Violet rescue her from the police, and Pete and Mac see that they are rivals. Mac is captured by a member of Forseith's gang and taken to the hide-out of a Chicago gangster, where Forseith is staying. Babe finds the place, and is hurt in a wreck. Pete helps her, and they come near to love and an understanding, but when she insists on going to Mac, they quarrel. She runs away, and goes alone into the gangster's lodge. Mac is being tortured when she arrives. She is held prisoner. The gangster known as Scareye and the Boss is full of whisky. He fears that a rival gangster is trying to kill him. Forseith attempts to take a pistol from Lugo, drunken bodyguard of the Boss.

In the fight that follows Mac escapes his bonds, gets hold on Forseith's throat and nearly chokes him to death, trying to make him give up the secret of Babe's parentage. The Boss lumbers into the room, wild-eyed, and starts shooting.

CHAPTER XXVII.

When Babe saw the Boss bolt into the room, his scar, the color of a flamingo, his eyes brilliant with an unnatural shine, her first impulse was to drop flat on the floor. It was lucky for her that she did so, for the man, now raving with delirium, thought he saw men, hordes of men rushing to tear him limb from limb. He fired without aim at the phantom forms. Bullets crashed into the wall above Babe's head. Mac was out of the line of fire, but Forseith, humped up on the floor directly in front of Scareye, was not so fortunate.

One of the wild shots caught him in the chest. The mad rush and shooting was over in a second and Mac and Lugo, who, thoroughly frightened, had been shocked out of his stupor, slipped up behind the Boss, caught his arms and held him firm. He struggled for a few minutes, then slumped down inert. They carried him back to his bed and Mac ordered Lugo to stay beside him and call for help at the first sign of violence. Then Mac came out to help Babe, who had cut away the clothing from Forseith's bleeding wound.

Together they got him to a bed. Mac undressed him while Babe went to look for Sambo. She found the Negro hiding in the pantry.

"Come, come!" she ordered. "You have to help. Rush some more hot water in there and get towels." Sambo hastened to obey. When he came back she asked where the Boss kept his car. Sambo showed her the way to the garage in the basement. The big car was unlocked. Babe got in and started it. She meant to drive to the village and find a doctor, but before starting she decided to have one more look at Forseith, see what his chances were.

Mac was forcing whisky between his lips when Babe returned. "Is there any hope?" she asked.

"I don't think so. I'm afraid he is a goner."

"I'm going for a doctor," she said.

"Don't be a fool," Mac shot at her. "A doctor can't help now and it will mean that we all go to jail. He'll have to report a gun wound."

"I can't help that," Babe protested. "I'm not going to see a man die just to save myself from jail."

"He was due to die years ago," Mac exploded. "Don't waste sympathy on a cur."

Something in Mac's voice angered her. His attitude in the face of death was so harsh that she felt a sudden hatred for him. In that instant she knew that she did not love him, never had loved him.

"I'm going. I have found Scareye's car and I'm going as fast as I can." She started to leave the room, but a whispered word held her back. Forseith was speaking. "No. Don't go," he said. "I'm through. A doctor can't help me. Stay. I have something to tell you." He spoke slowly and very carefully as if trying to conserve his strength.

Babe was tempted to stay. This dying man, she believed, held the secret of her life. If she left him now she might never learn what she wanted to know more than anything else in the world. She might never learn anything about herself, might be forced to go on through life in total ignorance of her family. She wanted to hear what he had to say more than she had ever wanted anything, but her heart told her she owed a duty that was above self. She owed this man, even though he had robbed her of her birthright, of her name, of all her money, a duty. She could see it no other way.

She was not willing to believe that he was past aid. She feared that it was true, but her conscience told her that she had to bring a physician.

"Wait, wait," Forseith whispered. Babe heard him but did not wait. She ran out of the room, down into the basement, touched the switch that opened the automatic doors and roared out into the drive back of the house. This drive circled a patch of woods and came out at a gateway she had not seen before. Then it led into the hidden circle in front of the lodge. In a few minutes she was on the rough trail and pushing the heavy car as fast as she dared.

The road seemed unending, but at last she reached the dirt road and could speed a little more. Then she was on the main highway driving faster than she had ever driven before. In less than a half hour she had reached the village and found where a doctor lived. Fortunately he was at home.

"Please come with me at once," she cried, bursting in upon him. "What is it?" he demanded.

"A man has been shot. I fear he's dying." The doctor grabbed his case and followed her to the car. She was glad it was not the doctor who had attended her.

Babe raced all the way back, glad that she was too busy to talk to the doctor. He asked no questions. The doctor followed at her heels as she led the way into Forseith's room. One look at Forseith and he knew that the man was past help, but he set to work to do what he could.

Forseith had his eyes closed, but was fully conscious. "Don't bother, doctor," he said. "Take a statement instead." The doctor paid no attention until he had inspected the wound and put on a fresh bandage, then he sat down. "Take it easy," he advised.

"I was cleaning a gun," Forseith said. "It was an accident." The doctor nodded his head. He was willing to appear to believe the story if it would relieve the dying man. But he looked at the finger marks on his neck. Mac saw him look, but said nothing. Babe, too, saw that look, and Forseith understood.

"Playful tussle," he whispered. Then he lay back quietly for a few minutes gathering strength.

Babe was standing close to the bed. There were tears in her eyes. This arch crook had all her sympathy. He opened his eyes and looked at her.

"I have been a fool," he said. "You might have been—my daughter. You would have loved me. I've been a fool." He closed his eyes again. Babe felt her throat tighten. There was an aching pain in it. The pain that tears at one who is crying inwardly and can not let the soothing passion of audible weeping help take the hurt away. This pain was not selfish. It was not for herself, for her lost opportunity to learn about herself, but for the man who had come as near to being her father as he could without the taint of scheming dishonestly that was part of him.

Babe watched him breathing heavily, gasping for air and saw her own hopes going out with him. The breathing was louder, more strained and then it dropped to faint gasps.

Without opening his eyes he whispered, "I lied to you. You are Thielma Townley, daughter of as brave a man as ever lived."

Babe's heart danced for joy. She had been right. Her father was a man to be proud of. If she never learned more, still she would be able to face the world without shame. But Forseith was whispering again. She stooped low to hear.

The words were almost inaudible. "Money—Morgan—brooch—." Babe took Forseith's hand in hers and held it. Now tears were coming. He saw them and smiled. It was as if he had seen a pleasant vista unfolding before him. He read forgiveness in her tears and seemed happy for that. Again he whispered. "Money . . . Brooches. Understand?"

Babe did not understand but she nodded her head as if she did. The dying man smiled and breathed his last. Babe sank down in a chair and wept.

The doctor waited for a time then spoke as gentle as he could to Babe. "There will have to be an inquest before I can sign a death certificate."

Babe nodded.

"I'll send the coroner," the doctor said. "Will you drive me back, please?"

"Oh, yes. Certainly Babe answered. Together they went out to the circle where Babe had left the car. It was not there.

"It's gone," Babe gasped and felt silly at once for having remarked on the obvious.

"So I see," the doctor said. They rushed back to the lodge. Babe boldly opened the door to Scareye's room. It was empty. "Oh," was all Babe said. She stood there for a moment thinking then turned to the doctor and spread out her hands in a forlorn gesture.

"I'm sorry. What will we do now?"

"Is there a phone in this place?" he asked.

"Let's look then," he suggested, and they went through the lower floors. There was no sign of a phone. They went outside seeking wires that might direct them. They found no wires.

"I guess it means walk," the doctor said. "It's a long, dark hike." He was growing more displeased as every minute passed and Babe could think of no solution.

"Well, here goes," he said, and without a good-by stamped off down the winding trail. There was a moon shining to light the way.

Babe returned to the lodge and sank down. Again that feeling of utter loneliness engulfed her. She tried to take comfort in the fact that she at least knew her own name. She had been buoyed up when she heard those words of the dying man, but now, strangely, they did not seem to solve her problem.

For a fleeting moment she even doubted that he had spoken the truth, but then she decided he would not lie to her just as he was passing into the great beyond. He had said her father was brave. Then she must face this loneliness, this new trouble that was hovering over her, as he would have her face it. But the pain of loneliness would not be downed.

Mac had said nothing to her. Had he sensed the fact that she had suddenly turned from him? She wondered. Even Mac would be some comfort now.

Violet? Gone, too, probably.

Had they both deserted her?

Not a friend in the world. Nothing.

She had not turned on the lights in the room. She seemed lost in a sea of misery, floating alone into oblivion. Her head was bowed and she did not see or hear Mac as he moved quietly to her side.

Where was the joy she had anticipated from learning her name? Where was the thrill of having heard that her father was a man of whom she could be proud? It was all so uncertain. How she longed for some human touch, a hand of sympathy.

"In time the police will come," she thought. "That will be a human touch. They may even charge me with murder." Her flesh crawled at the thought.

Mac put an arm about her. It startled her. She screamed. Now he was talking. His voice was kind.

"Please, Babe, please," he was pleading. "Don't act this way. I love you."

GERMANS GIVE ALIBI IN BLACK TOM BLAST

SCOUT SABOTAGE CHARGE

The Hague, Sept. 25 (A.P.).—Further denial that German agents had anything to do with the Black Tom munitions explosion in 1916 was made today before the mixed claims commission by Germany's representatives. These latter are opposing American efforts to collect from Germany for damages on account of sabotage in the United States before America's entry into the World War.

Dr. Tannenberg, one of the German representatives at the hearing, said that it was impossible for Capt. Frederick Hinsch, whose name has been frequently put forward by the American representative in connection with the Black Tom explosion, to have been connected with the affair. Dr. Tannenberg insisted that Capt. Hinsch, former German agent in the United States, was in Baltimore at the time of the explosion, loading the German U-boat Deutschland.

Dr. von Levinski, the other German counsel appearing before the commission, said that Americans had failed to establish satisfactory evidence that the Black Tom fire and explosion were of incendiary origin. He also insisted that there was no conclusive proof against any German agent whose name has been connected with the explosion.

Dr. Von Levinski produced an alibi for a German agent named Jahnke, attempting to show that the man was in San Francisco on the night of the explosion, where he had been assigned to watch the premises of the Anglo-London and Paris National Bank.

Another German agent named Koenig, whose name has been linked with Black Tom, because at the time of his arrest in 1915 he was found to be in possession of a note book containing a list of "D cases"—which American detectives interpreted to mean "destruction cases"—also is defended by Dr. Levinski. He insisted that the real meaning of "D cases" is not known.

Also he said that the names of Burns and Scott, which appeared on the list, were common in America and therefore, he contended, they did not necessarily refer to the watchmen named Burns and Scott at the Black Tom munitions factory.

Officer Found Guilty Of Murdering Infant

Hazard, Ky., Sept. 25 (A.P.).—B. E. Hill, special traffic policeman and fire chief of Hazard, was found guilty of murder today and sentenced to life imprisonment for slaying Norma Lee Maggard, 21-month-old baby, as she was riding in an automobile with her parents.

Hill claimed he fired at the tires of the automobile to stop it, and that the bullet accidentally glanced into the car.

OVERCROWDING IS CUT

Enrollment in Washington public schools up to yesterday totaled 74,892 children, it was revealed in the office of District School Statistician G. D. Strayer. When the first week of enrollment is completed this afternoon, the total is expected to surpass 75,000.

Of the 74,892 pupils, 50,080 are in white schools and 24,812 in colored. Central High School leads with an enrollment of 2,579. McKinley is second with 2,411.

Efforts are being continued to relieve crowded conditions in elementary schools. Robert L. Haycock, assistant superintendent in charge of these schools, said that satisfactory progress is being made. He asked that parents and pupils in congested communities cooperate in the readjustment work.

Committees on textbook recommendations were named yesterday by Superintendent Frank W. Ballou. The personnel of the committees is comparatively the same as last year. The committee on safety in schools, under the chairmanship of Selden M. Ely, will be continued, Dr. Ballou announced.

PARKER-BRIDGET CO. OPENS NEW STORE

21-YEAR LEASE IS HELD

The new store of the Parker Bridget Co. in the Washington Building at Fifteenth street and New York avenue was opened yesterday. Hundreds of persons visited the establishment during the day and night. Doors were not closed until 10 o'clock last night.

Deep, strong colors that men will appreciate are featured throughout the new store. Walnut, cream walls and marble pillars are the predominating decorative features. An artificial cooling system adds comfort to the spacious corridors and departments. Frank M Low, president of the Parker-Bridget Co., announced that the new store will offer a service of quality at a moderate price. A branch store will be maintained at 3113 Fourteenth street northwest.

The original store on Pennsylvania avenue has been abandoned. The Parker-Bridget Co. has been in business in Washington for more than 40 years, and it is announced that the same policy will be preserved in the operation of the new store. This means that the best apparel obtainable in both domestic and foreign markets will be bought and that the goods will be priced according to the markets.

The lease of the new store will extend for 21 years. In moving to the new section of the city, Mr. Low feels that a larger patronage will be attracted and that old patrons will find the new location an added convenience. The opinion is felt in business circles that the store trade is growing more and more toward the north. With this in mind, the new Parker-Bridget store has been established in the Washington Building, Mr. Low explained.

Furniture and Soup Due for Tariff Hearing

(Associated Press.)

The Tariff Commission yesterday added bent-wood furniture and soups and soup preparations to the list of articles on which it will hold hearings to determine whether the tariff duty should be revised.

The furniture hearing will be held November 20 and that on soup the following day. A number of other hearings have been announced.

Two Passengers, Pilot Die in Airplane Crash

The dead are: G. McDonald and J. G. Gibson, both of Calgary, and Pilot Pat Holden.

Three Are Electrocuted Putting Up Radio Aerial

Pinebluff, Ark., Sept. 25 (A.P.).—Three young men, two of whom were brothers, were electrocuted here early tonight while erecting a radio aerial.

The men, Walter and Lewis Holcomb and Eunice Long, all between 20 and 25, were attempting to string the aerial when it fell across a high tension power line and the resultant short circuit electrocuted them.

The Wyoming is now at Philadelphia for conversion to a training ship, the Utah at the navy yard, Norfolk, Va., to be converted into a radio-controlled target ship and the Florida, at Hampton Roads, Va., from which port she will go to Philadelphia to be scrapped.

Telegram From Canada Says Crater Was Seen

New York, Sept. 25 (A.P.).—The board of aldermen today received a telegram from a man in Moncton, New Brunswick, Canada, saying that three persons had definitely identified a man seen there September 8 as the missing supreme court justice, Joseph F. Crater.

The telegram, signed "M. G. Shaw," was turned over to District Attorney Crain and Police Commissioner Mulrooney was notified. The board had offered $5,000 for information concerning Crater's whereabouts.

CONVICT IS LYNCHED FOR ATTACK ON GIRL

JURY PRAISES SHERIFF

Thomasville, Ga., Sept. 25 (A.P.).—Willie Kirkland, young Negro trusty at the county stockade, was shot to death here today by a crowd of men after he was identified as the assailant of a white school girl.

Leading citizens and officers tried to prevent the lynching, but the sheriff was overpowered. The Negro was shot in the head with a rifle and shotgun. His body was returned to the courtyard and left for county authorities.

The child was accosted by the Negro late yesterday. Her mother heard the child's screams and learned that a Negro had attempted assault. A posse formed quickly, and dogs followed a trail to the stockade. Kirkland was arrested and the girl identified him.

A crowd gathered at the jail about midnight, but later went to the stockade on the report that the Negro had been returned there. Ministers and other prominent citizens urged that the crowd remain orderly. About 4 a. m. the Negro was taken before the girl again, and identified the second time. At 8 a. m. she picked him out from four other Negroes.

The sheriff, realizing the crowd was growing restless, planned to take Kirkland to another jail. As he came out of the stockade with the prisoner the father of the girl raised a shotgun to kill Kirkland, but some one knocked the gun down.

Another in the crowd cried, "Get him," and the sheriff was attacked and disarmed. The crowd took the Negro about half a mile from town and killed him.

Sheriff Davis was the only witness at the inquest and said he could not identify any members of the crowd that killed the Negro.

The jury found that Kirkland came to his death from gunshot wounds or by being hanged by unknown parties. The jurors also said:

"We wish to commend our sheriff for the quiet and orderly manner in which he handled the angry crowd at the jail and stockade and for the prevention of other bloodshed."

Firemen Are Called In Collar Button Hunt

Auburn, N. Y., Sept. 25 (A.P.).—The fire department was called out here today as a result of a search for an elusive collar button.

The collar button dropped from the hands of one of Clement Tortino's sons and, as usual, it rolled under the bed. The youth started to look for it with matches and the flames set fire to the mattress in which were hidden three rolls of paper money.

The damage to the house amounted to a few hundred dollars. The bills were saved.

Woman Rotary Worker Kills Herself in Plunge

Louisville, Ky., Sept. 25 (A.P.).—Miss Belle Cochran, assistant secretary of the Louisville Rotary Club and manager of its office in the Brown Hotel, jumped to her death from the fifteenth floor of the hotel here today. Her body landed almost on the car tracks on Fourth street.

Miss Cochran, who was 38 years old, left a note saying she had lost her "force" and had "lost faith in herself." She had been connected with the club for eight years and her health was believed to have caused her much worry lately.

Jock Whitney Weds Philadelphia Girl

Miss Mary Altemus Bride of Wealthy New York Family Scion.

Philadelphia, Pa., Sept. 25 (A.P.).—Miss Mary Elizabeth Altemus, daughter of Mrs. Dobson Altemus and a member of an old Philadelphia family, and John Hay Whitney, millionaire sportsman and son of the late Payne Whitney and Mrs. Whitney of New York, were married in the Protestant Episcopal Church of St. James the Less, Falls of Schuylkill today.

The wedding marked the culmination of a two-year romance begun through a mutual interest in horses. "Jock" Whitney is a polo player of ability and his bride was once captain of the All-Philadelphia girls' polo team, comprised of young folks whose names appear in the social register.

Due to the recent death of the bride's aunt, Mrs. Arthur Ringgold Spencer, of Villa Nova, the wedding was as quiet as it possibly could be made. Only relatives and close friends attended the ceremony.

The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Endicott Peabody of Groton, Mass., assisted by the Rev. Charles Jarvis Harriman, rector of St. James the Less. The bride's brother, James Dobson Altemus, was best man. The bridegroom was attended by Robert C. Benchley, of New York.

TOKAY GRAPES

GREAT, flaming clusters . . . firm, delicious . . . California Lodi Grapes. Lodi . . . that specially fortunate region of the golden state where the climate, the sun, and the water all conspire to produce the finest, the best-flavored Tokays of them all.

And this year even the Lodi crop has surpassed itself. Nature manages to be generous one year and a bit dour the next. This year's crop, you'll be glad to know, is the best since 1924.

This plentiful crop means moderate prices. But the season is all-too-short. Why not enjoy Lodi Tokays every day of their brief season?

Serve them in salads and desserts, let them add flavor and color to fruit cups. Have them always in your fruit bowl to tempt the children. For grapes have special mineral salts that aid digestion and natural sugar to provide quick energy. Even their skins serve as bulk and roughage.

Start serving Lodi Tokays today. Then get the habit. Your family will be delighted. Fruit stores and groceries all have these flaming grapes. Be sure to add them to your marketing list . . . today.

100 STOCKS DECLINE TO NEW YEAR'S LOWS

Utility and Industrial Lists Are Hardest Hit by Severe Slump.

3,000,000 SHARES SOLD

New York, Sept. 25 (A.P.).—Refusing to accept the cheer it might have had from the firmness of the commodities, the strength of bonds and the cheapness of money, the stock market shrouded itself in gloom today and took another tumble.

Although the net losses of 1 to 5 points did not represent bottom prices touched on the wave of selling that rolled over the market in the afternoon, rallying tendencies in the late trading were feeble, indicating that the shorts felt confident of their position. Sales just exceeded 3,000,000 shares.

The average loss on the day was 3 points and the composite for 90 shares dropped to 156.7, only 2.7 points above the year's low, established on June 24. Utilities were hardest hit, but the industrials were not far behind them.

Market Opens Strong.

Only at the opening did the market exhibit strength. The initial gains were quickly lost and prices then began an up and down movement that carried into afternoon, displaying little or no recuperative powers on the rallies and manifesting a willingness to go lower on increasing activity, until the list toppled over toward the beginning of the final hour.

The domestic news, such as it was, was on the whole moderately favorable. A large copper company cut its dividend and two affiliates omitted theirs, but the reduction was smaller than had been expected and the omissions were no surprise.

Net operating income of 21 large railroads for August proved to be about 25 per cent larger than in July, although 28 per cent below August, 1929. Wheat rallied briskly for a time, sending September up to 80 cents. Grains closed steady. Bonds, especially the rails, took another spurt, aided by the easiest time money in two decades. Call loans were available at 1 per cent, but so feeble was the demand that some $50,000,000 went unloaned. In addition, the American Federation of Labor reported a definitely better trend this month in the employment situation.

Sentiment Still Pessimistic.

Despite these favorable factors, speculative sentiment declined to some out of its slump. News of the Austrian cabinet's resignation and the fiery speech made by Hitler, the German Fascist, concerning his plans for opposition to the Versailles treaty, seemed to rekindle nervousness, although sources professing to have an intimate knowledge of central European affairs refused to be alarmed.

The break was not as sudden as yesterday's, but it was none the less violent. Offerings were large in such important shares as U. S. Steel, American Telephone and General Electric, while scores of others dropped to new lows for the week and the number making new minimums for the year reached a total considerately over 100.

Among them were Radio, Gillette, Kennecott, Standard Oil of New York, International Harvester, Texas Corporation, Shell Union Oil, Baltimore & Ohio, Chicago Northwestern and Chrysler. Petroleum and copper shares were particularly weak. The tobaccos and amusements, whose earnings give brighter promise, were firmer. New York City tractions showed strength on a growing belief that unification of the systems was nearer.

Active Share Losses.

Net losses in the more active stocks were not so large, but the cumulative effect of the recent breaks seemed to give them an added importance, especially since the market was approaching the June lows.

United States Steel slid down to 157¾, or 6 points from its year's minimum, closing at 158⅝, off 2⅝. Consolidated Gas, American Telephone, North American, Baltimore & Ohio, New York Central, Westinghouse Electric and Standard Oil of New Jersey also yielded 2 or more net and there were 3-point net losses at the close in International Harvester, American Smelting, Radio and United Aircraft, Eastman Kodak, Electric Auto Lite and Worthington Pump broke 5 and J. I. Case 10. Anaconda, after advancing 2 points on the dividend announcement, was up ⅛ net.

Wheat closed ½ cent lower to ½ cent higher. Corn's net gains ranged from ⅛ to ¾. Cotton sagged 5 to 11 points.

NEW YORK COTTON.

New York, Sept. 25 (A.P.).—Advances from an irregular opening were followed by renewed weakness in cotton today, with prices making new low ground for the movement in the local market.

The new October contract after selling at 10.59 during the early trading, broke to 10.44 late in the afternoon, or 7 points net lower and to the lowest price touched by any contract in New York futures since the earlier years of the World War. Closing quotations were at the lowest of the day with the market barely steady at net declines of 3 to 11 points.

The opening was steady at a decline of 2 points to an advance of 3 points with near months relatively easy under liquidation incident to the issuance of October notices. There was some buying on the relatively steady showing of Liverpool, which was reflected in the later months, while the near month selling was readily absorbed by trade buying or buying by spot houses against sales of later deliveries.

Prices stiffened up in consequence, with new December advancing to 10.82 and May to 11.27 or about 4 to 8 points above yesterday's closing quotations on the more active positions. This bulge met increased offerings, however, which appeared to come partly from the South and the market eased off during the afternoon under local and Wall Street selling influenced by the action of the stock market and the late weakness of grain. New December sold off to 10.66 and May to 11.12 making net losses of about 5 to 11 points with the relative steadiness of near months in the late trading suggestive that the October notices had been stopped.

It was estimated that notices representing about 32,200 bales had been issued in the local market of which 20,500 bales were tendered against the old style and 11,700 against the new style October contracts. There was considerable switching from near to late months during the early trading but the differences between near and late positions showed comparatively little change at the end of the day.

Liverpool cables said that hedging in that market had been absorbed by covering and continental buying, but that business in Manchester was less active with fear of lower prices checking the demand. Port receipts today, 43,547. U. S. port stocks, 2,427,199; exports, 29,419, making 996,622 so far this season.

Hornsby Leads Cubs To Victory Over Reds

Chicago, Sept. 25 (A.P.).—Rogers Hornsby snatched the Chicago Cub reins as they dropped from Joe McCarthy's hands today and steered his charges to a 4-to-3 victory over the pestiferous Cincinnati Reds. The victory enabled the Cubs to remain mathematically in the National League pennant race for at least one more day, as the St. Louis Cardinals needed two triumphs, including today's game, to clinch the title.

McCarthy, deposed in favor of Hornsby 48 hours before with the understanding that he was to finish the season, suddenly requested that he immediately be relieved. His request was granted by President William L. Veeck, who handed the club over to Hornsby shortly before game time.

The contest was a battle of home runs and came very close to becoming a Cincinnati victory in the ninth inning. Leading by 4 to 1 as he went into the ninth, young Bud Teachout, who had pitched effectively, saw Tony Cuccinello crash his second homer of the game over the left field wall and Harry Heilmann, the next batsman, slam one over the same barrier.

Malone Rescues Game for Cubs.

Ford followed with a single and Hornsby stuck his head out of the dugout and motioned Pat Malone to the mound. Malone ended the rally, quickly disposing of two pinch batters.

The first two Cub runs were individual efforts by Woody English and Gabby Hartnett, English dropping a homer into the right field stand in the first inning and Hartnett duplicated the clout in the second. Dan Taylor tallied the third Cub run, sprinting home from first on Kelly's short single to left center in the sixth. Teachout's single, followed by a sacrifice, a single by English and a force-out, brought in the last Chicago counter in the seventh.

Teachout pitched well until he made his two wrong guesses in the ninth. Cuccinello's first homer, a wallop over the left field wall like the second, came in the sixth. Bennie Frey, usually troublesome to Cub batsmen, was slugged for eleven of the twelve Chicago hits in his seven innings on the mound.

Tie Is Now Only Hope Of Cubs in Flag Race

(By the Associated Press.)

The St. Louis Cardinals moved another step nearer the National League pennant as they trounced the Pittsburgh Pirates, 9 to 0, today. Chicago's second place team also won a game, defeating Cincinnati, 4 to 3, but the reduction in the number of games left to play deprived the Cubs of their last chance to win the title outright. They can only tie now.

One Cardinal victory or one Chicago defeat is all that is needed to settle the matter. The standing:

Ruth to Pitch Sunday In Game at Boston

Philadelphia, Sept. 25 (N.Y.W.N.S.).—Babe Ruth will return to the pitcher's mound in Boston Sunday when he starts the Yankees final game o fthe season against the team that brought him from Baltimore obscurity. He will face the Red Sox and will get through the game by hook or crook and a fast ball.

Ruth took a substantial workout on the warm-up rubber today. His fast ball really hopped and his drive was wide. He threw a puzzling knuckle bal lthat floated up to the plate like a phantom missle. He also threw a spitball, but promises not to use this now illegal delivery unless he gets a batter to the three-and-two count.

Tilden Is Sixth Honored By Penn Athletic Club

Philadelphia, Sept. 25 (A.P.).—The name of William T. Tilden, 2nd., was added to the select few who have been awarded honorary membership by the Penn Athletic Club.

Tilden in a brief address paid a compliment to Jones who, he said, had popularized America abroad by his sportsmanship and modest attitude.

Discussing tennis, Tilden said Joseph W. Wear, and Dixon had a difficult task in guiding the Davis Cup program.

"They went in after we lost the cup and have had a difficult assignment," he said. "So far they have done two important things: broken down the morale of the famous 'four musketeers' of France and started to develop a squad that will bring back the trophy in a few years.

Joe Wilhoit Dead; Played in Majors

Santa Barbara, Calif., Sept. 25 (A.P.).—Joe Wilhoit, former major league outfielder, died today after a two months' illness. He had been in business here since retiring from baseball in 1924.

Wilhoit played with the Boston Braves and the New York Giants. He established a Western League record for hits in 69 consecutive games while playing with Wichita, Kans.

QUITS CUBS

JOE M'CARTHY.

Further Duty Declined by McCarthy

By CHARLES W. DUNKLEY.

The "Rajah" assumed charge of the National League pennant contenders just in time to direct them to a 4-to-3 victory over Cincinnati today. Joe McCarthy, the deposed leader resigned after an hour's conference with Owner William Wrigley, jr., and President William L. Veeck, refusing to finish the season, with four games, all with Cincinnati, to go.

Hornsby, who had been named as McCarthy's successor, starting with the 1931 season, immediately was placed in charge. He will direct the activities of the Cubs through the remaining three games of the season, and through the postseason series with the White Sox, in case the club fails to get into the world series, which is regarded as a very remote possibility.

Silent on Future, But Not Downcast.

McCarthy, who was advised he would not be reengaged as manager two days ago, had been expected to finish the season as pilot of the Cubs. But, after mature deliberation, he said he decided it would be for the best for all concerned to retire at once. He did not seem to be at all downcast and made no indication as to his future employment. He said he was in no immediate rush about lining up a new baseball job, and would not say what positions, if any, were open to him.

"I intend to be in Chicago for four or five days," McCarthy said after the conference broke up, "and then I think I shall attend the world series. After mature deliberation, I thought the best course for all concerned would be for me to retire now. That is why I called upon President Veeck today. He has issued a statement that covers the ground fully. I have nothing more to add."

Hour's Persuasion Is Futile.

President Veeck's statement said that in view of the fact that McCarthy was not to be tendered a contract for the 1931 season, McCarthy had made the request that he be relieved of further duties in connection with the club. For more than an hour Wrigley and Veeck attempted to pursuade McCarthy to finish up the National League schedule, but he refused to yield, having made up his mind that the best interests of all would best be served if he retired at once.

McCarthy's contract, which does not expire until January 1, 1931, has been paid in full. He will receive a substantial bonus, provided the club finishes in second place, an offer Owner Wrigley recently made. McCarthy also is down for a slice of the city series receipts.

(Famous Statistician).

THE players who brought Philadelphia its second consecutive American League pennant form a team whose tremendous offensive strength and fine pitching have offset a rather glaring defensive weakness sufficiently to allow Connie Mack's club to lead its field to the wire by a comfortable margin. The A's, in short, are a well balanced ball club, and a club that rises to its heights when the going becomes toughest.

Offensively the team boasts an aggregate batting average of .293. There is nothing sensational about this average in these days when the majors have anywhere from four to eight teams with averages above .300, but it represents a sustained attack which manufactured more than enough runs to carry pitchers like Grove and Earnshaw through to triumph after triumph. The Men of Mack smacked out 1,525 hits for 2,334 bases and from these blows managed to score

Sharkey-Campolo Bout Off Until Oct. 3; Moved Indoors

NEW YORK, Sept. 25 (A.P.).—The fifteen-round bout between Victorio Campolo and Jack Sharkey, scheduled for tonight in the Yankee Stadium, has been postponed until October 3, when it will be staged in Madison Square Garden.

The bout had been called off earlier in the evening on account of rain and tentatively rescheduled for tomorrow night. Garden officials went into a huddle, however, and decided that the match might be more profitably held in the Garden, a week from tomorrow night.

Although the Garden made no announcement of the reasons for transferring the match from the stadium to the Garden itself, it was no secret that it had roused little general interest—scarcely enough, in fact, to warrant holding it in so large an arena as the stadium. The question of possible further postponements because of adverse weather conditions also was believed to have entered into the decision to hold the match in the Garden.

As a result of the transfer, the Garden announced that all the indoor shows already scheduled would be moved back one week.

Sharkey scaled an even 200 pounds when he and Campolo weighed in this afternoon. Campolo, weighing 222½, had less of an advantage than had been expected, as Sharkey registered considerably more than he has for any previous fight.

When the boxers appeared at the stadium for the weighing-in, Sharkey became involved in a noisy altercation with a cameraman and refused to pose for photographs.

Mangin to Play Vines For Coast Net Title

Los Angeles, Sept. 25 (A.P.).—Two of the Nation's leading young net stars, Gregory Mangin, Newark, N. J., and Ellsworth Vines, Pasadena, Calif., today won their way to the semifinals of the men's singles, Pacific Southwest tennis championships.

Mangin won by default over Keith Gledhill, Santa Barbara, after three sets had been played. Mangin had lost the first, 6—2, but won the next two, 6—1, 6—1, when on the doctor's advice the Stanford University sophomore quit the court because of a strained right arm.

Vines, a University of Southern California freshman, defeated Clifford Sutter, New Orleans, national intercollegiate champion, 4—6, 6—4, 6—2, 6—2. The finals will be played Saturday.

Eagles' Fate in Series Hangs on Game Sunday

The Anacostia Eagles will be fighting against elimination when they clash with the Takoma Tigers Sunday at Silver Spring Diamond in a Capital City League intersectional play-off series game.

The Eagles, District section champions, were beaten last Sunday by the Dixie Pigs, titleholders of the Prince Georges County section. Another loss, according to rules governing the play-off, will cause the Eagles to drop out.

The Tigers, champions of the Montgomery County division, are favored to win the impending game on account of their potent hitting.

Cyril Tolley to Wed Dayton, Ohio, Girl

Greenwich, Conn. Sept. 25 (A.P.).—Cyril Tolley, English amateur golfer, and Miss Mary McMahon, of New York City, made application here today for a marriage license under the Connecticut five-day law. Both gave their ages as 29.

Tolley, who is a native of Kidderminster, England, has been married once before. Miss McMahon is a native of Dayton, Ohio.

Gill Gains Semifinals In Edgemoor Tennis

Commander C. C. Gill, seeded No. 1 in the annual Edgemoor Club closed tourney, advanced to the semifinals yesterday with a hollow win over E. J. Raynsford by default. Colin Stam, Capt. A. J. Gore and Jack Purinton are the other semifinalists.

Two teams, Rutley and Howenstein and Stam and Gore, reached the semifinals of the doubles yesterday in easy victories, but Gill and Purinton ran into trouble against A. O. White and Frank Taylor. The match was called after each pair had captured a 7—5 set. It will be completed today. The summaries:

DOUBLES—Quarter-final round, Rutley and Howenstein defeated Wood and Gamble, 8—6, 6—1; Stam and Gore defeated Walker and Hathaway, 6—0, 6—2; Gill and Purinton vs. White and Taylor, 7—5, 5—7, postponed.

Indian Spring Title Won by Mrs. Hoover

Mrs. Perry B. Hoover yesterday repeated her victory of two years ago when she won the women's championship of the Indian Spring Club, defeating Mrs. J. F. Gross in the final round, 5 and 3. She was 1 up at the turn and thereafter had the match well in hand.

The most exciting contest of the afternoon, however, was between Mrs. W. N. Jackson and Mrs. Howard Eales. Notwithstanding the fact that Mrs. Eales has been playing golf only a comparatively short time, she was 1 up on the eighteenth tee. Mrs. Jackson squaring the match by running down a 12-foot putt on the home green. The contest continued to the twenty-second hole, Mrs. Jackson finally winning. Mrs. H. A. Mihills was the winner of the second flight. The summary:

First flight—Mrs. Perry B. Hoover defeated Mrs. J. F. Gross, 5 and 3.

Bartell Fined Remainder of Pay After Row With Pirates' Owner

ST. LOUIS, Mo., Sept. 25 (A.P.).—Dick Bartell, regular shortstop for the Pittsburg Pirates, has been suspended and fined the balance of this season's salary as a result of a row with Barney Dreyfuss, owner of the club, it was learned today.

Bartell had an argument with Dreyfuss over the amount of transportation money he was to receive to cover his trip back to his home in California.

Dreyfuss said the player became "impertinent."

PLAYS JONES

JESS SWEETSER.

Special to The Washington Post.

BOSTON, Mass., Sept. 25.—There were three men on base in the final inning when Joe Cronin rushed over in back of second to make a sensational one-handed stab of Charley Small's great bid for a hit that enabled him to toss to second to retire Bill Sweeney on a force play and cheat Boston out of the ball game with the Nationals today at Braves Field. The final count was 3 runs to 2 in favor of Washington, and if any team deserved better of the fates the Red Sox certainly did.

Shires' Stop Features.

As in the opening game there were plenty of fielding gems and enough to make the game another record affair as far as time goes. It was over in an hour and 26 minutes. "Arthur the Great" Shires made a stop off Tom Oliver in the first that any man would be proud of, while Scarritt in left caught a Cronin drive in the eight that brought back visions of Harry Hooper.

Scarritt really was the big man in the fighting. He got three of Boston's eight hits, one being a double. The Sox made two double plays that were worth the price of admission. The series between the teams now stands 16 to 4 in favor of Washington for the season.

Although Rothrock led off with a double in the second, the Sox did not get their feet into the plate until the fifth. After Reeves had grounded out, Phil Todt tripled against the right center field wall. Warstler skied deeply enough to Rice to enable Todt to score. Heving got a double to center as the next batter, but the scoring was over.

Sox Waste Chance In Eighth.

Boston had a grand chance to tie and possibly go ahead in the eighth. Webb, sent in to bat for Heving, was hit on the shoulder. MacFayden struck out trying to sacrifice, and Oliver forced Webb. Scarritt then laced one against the left center field fence and from the press coop it looked as if Oliver should have been sent into

A's Trample Yankees In 6-Inning Game, 13-3

Philadelphia, Pa., Sept. 25 (A.P.).—The Athletics turned the first game of their final series of the season into a session of batting practice against the New York Yankees today, pounding out a 13-to-3 victory before the game was halted at the end of the sixth inning by rain.

Lou Gehrig accounted for all the Yankee runs in the first inning as he hit his forty-first home run of the season after Reese had doubled and Ruth had reached first on an error. George Walberg held the Yankees to six hits, of which Reese made three.

The champions pounded Ruffing and Johnson for a total of seventeen hits. They drove the first pitcher from the hill in the fourth inning by bunching six hits for as many runs.

SPINACH CAPTURES FEATURE AT GRAW IN UPSET

Perfect Ride By Watters Scores

Mr. Sponge, Caught in Back Lane, Easily Conquered

Luggage Beats Voltear for Perryville Purse.

Special to The Washington Post.

HAVRE DE GRACE, Md., Sept. 25. The twelfth renewal of the Potomac Handicap, a mile and one-sixteenth race that attracted 13,000 spectators, saw William Ziegler, jr.'s Spinach, upset the dope by leading home J. E. Widener's Mr. Sponge, the favorite, with the Sanford Stud Farm's Starpatic third.

Spinach, a 3-year-old chestnut son of Sir Martin—Sweet Thyme, received a perfect ride from Eddie Watters to step the distance in 1:45 3-5 and thus enrich his owner to the extent of $19,700. Those who backed the colt in the pari-mutuels received $17.80 for every $2 invested.

The start was good for all but Ned O., who was backing up in the stall when the starter lifted the latch. As the gelding ran the last mile in 1:37 3-5 to finish eighth after being some dozen or more lengths out of it at the break, one can readily understand what the start cost him.

Mr. Sponge, under Mack Garner's urging, led around the clubhouse bend, but he was unable to shake off Alcibiades, the filly that came on from the West for the contest.

Mr. Sponge Shortens Stride at Cost.

However, Mr. Sponge bested Alcibiades half way down the back lane and just when it appeared as if he was running under wraps he shortened his stride and Watters soon rushed Spinach around him to be leading by a half length at the stretch turn.

In the run to the pay-off line Spinach easily drew away from his field to win as his rider pleased. The tiring Mr. Sponge received a severe whipping from Garner to hang on long enough to save the place from Star Patatic.

The Genesee Stable's Luggage ran a mile and one-sixteenth in the excellent time of 1:45 3-5 to win the Perryville, the day's secondary feature.

They dominated the running the rest of the way home, with Luggage proving the gamer inside the sixteenth pole to win going away. Voltear easily saved the place from W. R. Coe's Cesare.

Form players, who had a disastrous day yesterday, started off on the right foot today when Sonny Workman drove Harry Payne Whitney's Magnifico, the favorite, home ahead of thirteen other 2-year-olds in the day's 6-furlong opener.

Workman broke Magnifico on top and after putting Sir Wrack away went on to the easiest sort of victory over War, one that cost Mrs. Margaret Amory the sum of $45,000 as a yearling. Third money went to the Genesee Stable's Rubio, who closed fast through the home lane.

Rip Van Winkle Scores Upset.

Mrs. Margaret Amory, of New York, who races under the nom de course of the Bagamore Stable, stunned the huge crowd when her Rip Van Winkle won the Bridlespur, a 6-furlong sprint listed as the second race. Rip Van Winkle, well up with the pace, saved ground turning for home when E. R. Bradley's Black Tyrone, the pacemaker, ran out, carrying the Glen Riddle Farm's Sergt. Donaldson with him.

Quick to take advantage of the break, Bejshak shot Rip Van Winkle on top, while Workman astride H. P. Whitney's Pennant followed suit to finish one-two, Black Tyrone came again to be third.

Rip Van Winkle's victory was nowhere as stunning as the defeat of his stablemate, Balko, in the North Brook, also a three-quarter mile dash, held at one to two in the wagering. Balko had to be content with the place. The winner turned up in W. R. Coe's Sweep Out, who broke on top and led every step of the journey to win handily in the excellent time of 1:11 4-5. Third money went to the Montpelier stud's Lost Agnes.

Five Oaks, one that Mrs. P. I. Vanderbeek, of New York, has been running on State half-mile tracks, made a show of the field she met in today's sixth race, a mile and one-sixteenth affair.

At the end of the journey Five Oaks was six lengths in advance of F. Dunn's Druggist, with the Just-a Farm Stable's Sun Meddler third.

Baltimore Pays $42.20 In Winning Final.

Long-shot players scored another triumph in the final race of the program today when the 3-year-old gelding, Baltimore, owned by F. Eaton, won by a length and a half over Fair Albert and rewarded with a mutuel of $42.20 for $2 straight tickets. Tall Grass took third by a nose from Daddy Nelson.

Have a Care cut out the early pace but was supplanted by Fair Albert at the half-mile post. Baltimore, always under restraint, was in the first flight and, rounding the stretch turn, set out after the leader. He passed the tiring Fair Albert at the sixteenth pole.

Two-dollar mutuels paid—MAGNIFICO, $4.80, $2.80, $2.60; WAR, $3.20, $3.10; RUBIO, $5.50.

MAGNIFICO began quickly, raced SIR WRACK into defeat in the first half mile, drew clear when approaching the home stretch and held away thereafter. WAR, prominent and hard hustled, finished gamely and was best of the others. RUBIO, steadied along in the thick of contention, was unable to reach the first two when placed to a stout drive. FLEET FLAG showed a good test. DUNLIN'S LAD could not menace the leaders. BONNIE BARD went well.

SECOND RACE—Six furlongs. Purse, $1,300. For 2-year-olds. Start good from stalls. Won driving; place, same. Went to post at 2:51. Off at 2:54. Winner, Sagamore Stable's b. c. Two-dollar mutuels paid—RIP VAN WINKLE, $25.10, $7.40, $3.60; PENNANT, $2.80, $2.40; BLACK TYRONE, $2.70.

RIP VAN WINKLE, placed forwardly and going in good fashion, responded when called on, secured racing room on the inside and, in a fast finish, was up right at end. PENNANT, slower than usual, early settled in his stride, came through an opening at the stretch turn to close resolutely. BLACK TYRONE showed keen early speed, but when put to a drive, SUN FALCON closed resolutely. FULL DRESS weakened nearing the finish. CONCLAVE was unable to better her position in the final stages. ALCIBIADES tired badly. NED O. was away poorly and ran a winning race.

THIRD RACE—Six furlongs. Purse, $1,400. For 3-year-olds and upward. Start good from stalls. Won easily; place, same. Went to post at 3:24. Off at 3:25. Winner, W. R. Coe's b. f. (4), by Sweep On—Dugout. Trained by B. Creech. Value to winner, $1,000; second, $225; third, $125; fourth, $50. Time, 0:23, 0:46, 1:11 4-5.

Two-dollar mutuels paid—SWEEP OUT, $12.00, $2.70, $2.40; BALKO, $2.30, 2.10; LOST AGNES, $2.90.

SWEEP OUT, going in splendid fashion, raced LOST AGNES into defeat, was steadied until approaching the home stretch and came away smartly when shaken up. BALKO, rated along in near pursuit of the pacemakers, made a determined bid entering the home stretch, but faltered fast in the final sixteenth. LOST AGNES was unable to keep pace with the leaders after the first furlongs. MUD was unable to offer serious contention. ST. PRISCA was never a factor.

FOURTH RACE—One and one-sixteenth miles. Purse, $1,500. For 3-year-olds and upward. Start good from stalls. Won driving; place, easily. Went to post at 3:55. Off at 3:57. Winner, Genesco Stable's ch. c. (3), by The Porter—Weary. Trained by R. V. Boyle. Value to winner, $1,075; second, $250; third, $125; fourth, $50. Time, 0:24 2-5, 0:48 3-5, 1:15, 1:45 3-5.

Two-dollar mutuels paid—LUGGAGE, $8.80, $5.80, $3.10; VOLTEAR, $4.90, $2.70; CESARE, $2.30.

LUGGAGE, under stiff restraint while forcing the pace of VOLTEAR, gained a brief lead when well into the home stretch and held his advantage under stout urging. VOLTEAR went into an easy lead, saved ground all the way and continued gamely under strong pressure. CESARE lacked early speed and was never able to endanger the leaders. BUTTER JOHN went evenly. GOLDEN AUBURN quit badly.

FIFTH RACE—One and one-sixteenth miles. Purse, $20,000 added. The Potomac Handicap. For 3-year-olds. Start good for all but NED O. from stalls. Won driving; place, same. Went to post at 4:30. Off at 4:34. Winner, William Ziegler, jr.'s ch. c. (3), by Sir Martin—Sweet Thyme. Trained by C. Phillips. Value to winner, $19,700; second, $3,000; third, $1,500; fourth, $500. Time, 0:24, 0:48 3-5, 1:13, 1:38 4-5, 1:45 3-5.

Two-dollar mutuels paid—SPINACH, $17.80, $10.10, $6.20; MR. SPONGE, $5.10, $3.40; STARPATIC, $4.90.

SPINACH, outrun until well settled on the back stretch, moved up stoutly to gain a forward position, closed fast under a drive and displacing MR. SPONGE, held the latter safe in the final issue. MR. SPONGE raced ALCIBIADES into early submission, saved ground and held on willingly. STARPATIC, a keen factor throughout, continued gamely when put to a drive. SUN FALCON closed resolutely. FULL DRESS weakened nearing the finish. CONCLAVE was unable to better her position in the final stages. ALCIBIADES tired badly. NED O. was away poorly and ran a winning race.

SIXTH RACE—One and one-sixteenth miles. Purse, $1,300; claiming; for 3-year-olds and upward. Start good from stalls. Won easily; place, driving. Went to post at 5:05. Off at 5:06. Winner, Mrs. P. I. Two-dollar mutuels paid—FIVE OAKS, $6.40, $3.30, $2.40; DRUGGIST, $3.40, $2.60; SUN MEDDLER, $2.70.

FIVE OAKS broke sluggishly, secured racing room on the inside at the first turn, went up on the inside again at the turn for home when displacing SUN MEDDLER, drew into a long lead and increased her advantage at will thereafter. DRUGGIST reached contention with a rush, but was not good enough to keep pace with winner. SUN MEDDLER opened up a winning lead, but tired fast after seven furlongs.

SEVENTH RACE—One and one-eighth miles. Purse, $1,300; claiming. For 3-year-olds and upward. Start good from stalls. Won driving; place, same. Went to post at 5:25. Off at 5:26½. Winner, F. Two-dollar mutuels paid—BALTIMORE, $42.20, $16.90, $6.90; FAIR ALBERT, $3.70, $2.70; TALL GRASS, $4.20.

BALTIMORE was rated under slight restraint first half mile, moved up stoutly rounding the far turn and were down the tiring FAIR ALBERT in stretch run. The latter was never given a breathing spell, was racing at top speed all the way to stall off TALL GRASS. TALL GRASS closed with his usual stretch rush after going very wide rounding far turn. RUNDALE was never a factor.

CENTRAL HIGH SEEN WINNER OVER GONZAGA TODAY

By BOB CONSIDINE.

THE lid will swing off the hottest opening in recent high school gridiron history today—both meteorologically and vernacularly—when Central High's Eleven renews athletic relations with Gonzaga in one of the feature games of the season. The time is 3:30, the place the Central Stadium and the admission is 50 cents.

Coach Ty Rauber, of the Hill Dwellers, will depend largely on his tried and proven ball carriers, Gene Colella, Paul Hinkel, Whitey Cumberland and Larry Pinckney, to atone for the 7-to-3 defeat of 1925 at the hands of Gonzaga. His line is still something of an enigma, to him in spite of frequent scrimmaging of late.

Most of Squad May See Action

Colella, Hinkel, Cumberland and Pinckney are certain to display their attack tomorrow, but nothing definite can be said about the line's lineup. The supposition is that most of the neophytes will see service tomorrow, provided such a procedure does not imperil Central's more than good chance of gaining the decision. Ty will take no risks against Gonzaga. He considers any team turned out by Coach Mitchell as worthy of his sincerest attentions. Central, however, looms the stronger.

Gonzaga is journeying to Central Stadium with more than the idea that they may possibly give the heavier, faster, more experienced team a good run. The Catholics figure that what was once done can be reaccomplished.

Mitchell believes that if Central plays straight football his charges, endowed with a break or two, are going to come close to winning, to put it conservatively. It's the complex attacks of the Blue and White that Mitchell fears.

HITTING AND HURLING MACKS' BIG ASSETS

Only Three Regarded As Heavy Sluggers.

Collectively the Mack line-up presents eight reliable and timely hitters, only three of whom are brilliant blasters. Simmons, Cochrane and Foxx embody most of the power in the Elephants' line-up. All three are hitting at a terrific gait and Simmons and Foxx particularly are hitting with men on the bases. This pair of sluggers are the only home run hitters of any note on the roster of the world's champions, each having garnered 36 circuit blows.

The brand of hurling dished up by the opposition is immaterial to the Macks. They smack any sort with fervor. In spite of the fact that Simmons, Foxx and Miller, three of Connie's more potent clubbers, take their swing from the right side of the plate, there were few right-handers who bothered the champions with any degree of consistency throughout the season.

Earnshaw and Grove Mound Mainstays.

On the mound, Earnshaw and Grove form a capable world's series corps in themselves. They should be good for at least three victories between them, and the fourth will have to be forthcoming from Walberg, Mahaffey, Shores or Quinn if the A's are to win. Although, of course, it is not beyond the realm of possibility for each of Mack's two aces to grab himself a pair of triumphs.

Defensively, the infield lacks the all-around class of the Cardinal quartet. However, Foxx, Bishop, Boley and Dykes form a capable quartet, and all of them are good money players.

Still most of the Athletics' strength lies in the batting box and on the pitching mound. Any team that can score 3 runs on every 5 hits, and any team whose pitchers have gone the full route on 71 occasions, especially when 42 of these full games are credited to two of its hurlers, is bound to give a creditable account of itself in a 7-game series against any team in the world, despite any defensive weakness.

NATS BEAT BOSTON IN PITCHING DUEL

the plate, but Hal Rhyne, coaching at third, held him up and there he perished as Miller rolled out to second. It's easy to second guess, but one has to take chances in baseball.

Washington came right back in its sixth with the tying marker. Rice got a life when his hit took a bad hop and struck Reeves in the chest. Manush tripled to the right corner, Rice coming home. Cronin popped to Warstler, Manush holding third. Shires the Great then laced a long fly to right field. Manush should have scored easily from third, but became the victim of a double killing when he made a false start before Rothrock had the ball and had to go back to touch third. He was out at the plate when he tried to score, the Sox right fielder making a very fine throw to get him.

Harris flied to center opening the seventh, but Hayes singled to center and Spencer got a base on balls. Liska fouled to Miller and when Myer drove a hot one to center over came Hayes. To add insult to injury Rice thumped one into the same place and Spencer tallied. This put Washington in the van.

CHICAGO U. BEATS JAPS.

Osaka, Japan, Sept. 25 (A.P.).—The University of Chicago Baseball Team chalked up its second straight victory over the Tomon Club Team here today. The Tomon Team was made up of Waseda University alumni. The score was 4 to 1.

STRONG SUBS IS BIG NEED OF G. W.

Capable Secondary Players Hunted by Pixlee.

THE uncovering of capable reserve strength is the chief objective of Coach Jimmy Pixlee in his attempt to bring George Washington University a winning football team this year.

Discussing the matter yesterday afternoon, Pixlee stated the Colonials were in for four hard battles this year, and to hope to make any kind of a showing they must be reinforced in every department of the game. Rutgers, South Dakota, Tulsa and the Navy are schools boasting lots of reserve strength as well as first-class regular teams, and to try to cope with them with just an even eleven men on the squad would be suicide.

Finding Reserves Is Problem.

At present, Pixlee could probably place eleven good men on the field, but it would immediately leave him with the problem of deciding who would be the first substitutes. For this reason, he is adopting experimental methods, shifting former regular linemen to the back field, where his "shock" supply is woefully weak.

Carlin, Carter, Wells and Bagranoff form one first-class group of ball carriers and the scheme of making backs out of Sturtevant and O'Brien is the first step in his search for reserve strength. Kriemelmeyer, Hoffman and Berkowitz already boast backfield experience.

It is Pixlee's idea that the above-mentioned foes will send in numerous substitutes as the game wears on and it is in an effort to be prepared to meet their shock troops with fresh material that Pixlee's search is being made.

NEW MENTOR

ALTHOUGH it expects fair opposition from Washington College at College Park tomorrow afternoon, and in spite of the sizzling weather, the University of Maryland football squad underwent considerable rough work yesterday.

While it now seems likely Curly Byrd will start his tentative first team against the Eastern Shore outfit, as many Old Liners as the trend of battle will permit are likely to see action.

Outside of center, which still is unsettled, Maryland more than anything else needs line reserves, and all the forwards who have shown any signs of developing will be sent against the invaders should Maryland get a couple of early touchdowns.

Md. Pushed Last Year By Same Opponent.

However, Maryland started its second team last year against a Washington College aggregation that did not measure up to the team that will visit tomorrow, and the Old Liners were scored on early and had to battle to lead, 13 to 7, at the half. Maryland, though, finally won by the decisive count of 34 to 7.

The Old Liners, if conditions allow, also doubtless will parade two sets of backs and some extras, and it is in ball-toting that the greatest Maryland power lies. Maryland has fourteen backs, and all of them have ability along some line.

PINWOMEN TO MEET.

The Ladies' Independent Bowling League will meet tomorrow night at King Pin No. 2 to discuss plans for the impending season.

VA.U. ELEVEN DRILLS ON DEFENSE

Erasure of Defects Sought Before Next Tilt.

Special to The Washington Post.

CHARLOTTESVILLE, Va., Sept. 25. Virginia's football squad, under Head Coach Earl Abell, and Tebell and Sloan, assistant coaches, has been working hard on Lambath Field this week, in spite of the mid-summer heat, in preparation for the game with Randolph-Macon scheduled for Saturday.

The Cavalier mentor has been working intensively to iron out weak spots which were apparent in last Saturday's game with Roanoke College, especially in defensive play. Tackling and blocking have been featured in this week's sessions.

In the nineteen contests between the two schools, Virginia has won from the Yellowjackets nineteen times. In the series of games, the Ashland Team has been able to score only 14 points, which came from two touchdowns and a safety. One of the touchdowns came last year when R. Bryant recovered a Cavalier fumble and ran 39 yards to cross the Orange and Blue goal line.

Virginia Won by 136-0 in 1890.

In the same nineteen, Virginia has scored 787 points. The largest score came in the first game played between the two schools in 1890, when the Cavaliers rolled up 136 points and kept its own goal line from being crossed. Randolph-Macon made its best showing in 1910, when the Orange and Blue was able to score only 10 points.

Turowsky Loft Wins Race for Young Birds

Army-Silver Spring Open D. C. Soccer Season Sunday

ARMY and Silver Spring will inaugurate the local soccer season Sunday when the two will meet in a practice game on the latter team's field. Play will start at 2 o'clock. The Army Squad is composed mainly of soldiers from Fort Myer.

The Silver Spring outfit will be coached by Jack Smith this season. Smith will also play, and his presence as a coach and player is bound to make the Maryland Kickers a contender for the Capital City League championship.

Another eleven will be organized tonight when the first meeting of the Washington Soccer Club will be held in the offices of Eddie Bruce, 1010 Vermont avenue northwest. Bruce managed the club last year and carried them through a successful season.

District soccer fans will be treated to a match that smacks of the international Sunday, October 5, when an English cruiser will put in here at the Washington Navy Yard. A team representing the visiting ship and the British United Eleven will play a match on the Monument Grounds.

The first meeting of the Recreation League will be held a week from Saturday in the offices of the Municipal Playground Department. Playgrounds that will have teams in the league are Happy Hollow, Park View, Takoma Park, Iowa Avenue, Georgetown, Plaza, Garfield, Hoover, Virginia Avenue, Rosedale, Chevy Chase, Columbia Heights, Cooke and Corcoran.

OLD VA. FOES MEET AGAIN TOMORROW

LEXINGTON, Va., Sept. 25.—When the Washington and Lee Team comes from its dressing rooms onto the field at the Lynchburg Stadium Saturday afternoon to meet the Hampden-Sydney Tigers it will be the fourth meeting of the foes since 1909.

The last time the Generals and the Tigers met was in 1911 at Lexington, with the home team winning, 40 to 0. Coach Pollard directed the Washington and Lee Team that season and his back field of Raftery, now coach at the Virginia Military Institute, at quarter; Bone and Malcolm, half backs, and Burke, full back, ran roughshod over the Death Valley Eleven.

The game in 1910 was hard fought throughout, with Hampden-Sidney contesting every inc hof ground. The Tiger defense cracked for a minute in the second period and Alderson, General full back, went through for a touchdown and then converted. Scoring attempts on the part of Washington and Lee for the rest of the afternoon were futile, and the game ended, 6 to 0. The Blue and White back field that year was Izard, quarter back; Bainard and Waddill, half backs, and Alderson, full back.

Generals Won 1910 Game by 10-0.

The 1909 contest was equally as close, with the Generals again taking the decision, this time by a 10-0 count. Blackburn and Derr scored for the Generals, and the back field was O'Quinn, quarter back; Simms and Derr, half backs, and Davis, full.

Hampden-Sidney, then as now, realizes that to defeat the Generals would be quite a feather in the gridiron cap of the Death Valley team, and the Generals are aware of the fact that the Tigers will battle and battle hard from whistle to whistle. Too many teams, from outside the State as well as within, have tangled with Hampden-Sidney and have had to play the game for all it was worth to come off with the decision.

It will be Washington and Lee's second State game, and Hampden-Sidney's first. Washington and Lee evidently will have the edge, having had a week in which to polish rough edges spotted in the Jacket game last week.

V. P. I. Sophs Expected To Shine in Opener

Blackburg, Va., Sept. 25.—Sterling performances of sophomores, who carried Virginia Polytechnic Institute to a shut out victory over Roanoke College in the opening game in Miles Stadium four years ago, may be echoed in the impending clash here Saturday.

Just as V. P. I. looked to Peake, McArthur, McEver and Tomko to turn back the Maroons in that first game played in Miles Stadium, so V. P. I. will watch a new array of line men this week. Three, perhaps four sophomores will be in the line instead of the back field, where the Pony Express trampled Maroon hopes in 1926.

Al Seamon, who played tackle for the freshmen a year ago, is sure of a place at one end and Johnny McIntire, his prep school team mate has all but clinched his right to the other flank position. Gene Hite, a freshman minstay at guard last year, is slated to play guard ahead of varsity regulars out for the position. There is a chance that Bill Grinus, another recruit from freshman ranks, may land a tackle berth along with Buckner Green, best of a strong tackle array.

VIRGINIANS CHALLENGE.

Two Former College Stars Join Episcopal Grid Staff

Special to The Washington Post.

ALEXANDRIA, Sept. 25.—Episcopal High School's football coaching staff has been increased by two additions. Gus Kamlner, star with the University of Virginia Eleven, and Bob Lawson, who performed on end for Hampden-Sidney College last year, are assisting Head Coach "Bick" Cardwell.

Over 40 candidates are seeking berths on the Cherry and Black Eleven and the coaches will use many players in the game Saturday with Eastern High, of Washington, in order to get a line on their ability.

Eight veterans from the 1929 eleven are again on the scene. They are Hooff, Swift and Stockert, ends; Gooch, quarter back, and Tilton, Brawley, McDonald and Mitchell, half backs. These boys form the nucleus of the eleven this season.

Miss Frieda Mendelson has been elected captain of the St. Mary's Celtics Buddies. Margaret Gorman was named as manager and Edward Harlow as adviser at a meeting last night.

The Virginia Athletic Club Football Team will hold all future practices on the Shipyard Field at night as flood lights have been installed by the V. P. S. Co.

"Doggie" Hamilton, coach of the Del Ray Athletic Club, states his team will inaugurate its 1930 football campaign on Sunday, opposing the G. O. P. Federals in a game on Edward Duncan Field.

The Red Birds will enter the Capital City League. An important practice of the entire squad will be held on Friday evening at 6:30 o'clock.

Herbert Bryant, Alexandria youth starring with the Cavaliers, is rated as one of the threats on the team. Coach Abell is playing Bryant in a half back position. He scored two touchdowns in the Roanoke game last week. Bryant formerly starred at Episcopal High School.

"Wee Willie" Davis, former V. P. I. tackle and, Smily Brown, late of the Virginia A. C., will play with the Celtics Eleven.

"Squire" Given, athletic director of the Alexandria High School, today announced his football schedule for the 1930 season. Nine games will be played by the "Twins" and the season will officially open tomorrow afternoon with a game at Episcopal High School.

Games arranged for the Twins follow: September 26, Episcopal B, away; October 3, National Training School, here; October 10, Hampton High, away; October 17, Devitt Prep, here; October 24, open; October 31, W. and L. High, away; November 7, Fredericksburg High, here; November 14, District game; November 21, Emerson Institute.

Players on the high school squad are Jennier, Travers, Lindsay, Haywood, McCauley, Routzan, Jacobs, and Sampson, back field men; Jackson, Viollet, Harris, J. Luckett, Bruin, Petersila, Sims, Smoot, Moriarity, Fritter, Carr, Studds, Mendelson, Turner, Janney, Kaus, Hudson, De Coss, P. Luckett and Hamilton, all linesmen.

William-Mary Opens Season in Night Fray

Williamsburg, Va., Sept. 25.—William and Mary starts down its 1930 warpath Saturday night when it engages Guilford College, of North Carolina, in one of the first nocturnal battles of the season.

The Bocockmen are as yet untried in actual competition, and because of the almost entirely inexperienced forward wall, the Indian coaches and followers are looking forward to this first contest with much interest. A practice scrimmage game with the Langley Field Post Team last Saturday did not bring out the Indians' ability as it was hoped, although it did demonstrate the line's weakness.

While Coach Kellison is faced with the difficult problem of welding together from inexperienced material a forward wall capable of withstanding the brunt of a Navy, V. P. I. and Harvard attack, Coach Bocock is puzzled over what combination of backs he can use to the best advantage. The Indian mentor has eight ball-carriars, four of these have had varsity experience, but none are good kickers or experienced signal callers.

Soccer Referees Elect Ed Kruse President

Ed Kruse was elected president and G. W. Williams secretary of the Washington Soccer Referees Association at a meeting of that organization last night. The next meeting of the association is set for next Wednesday night in room 2, District Building. New candidates for membership will then be given examinations.

CELTICS VS. NORTHERNERS

St. Mary's Celtics will play one of its final games Sunday at 3 o'clock when Buck Grier's strong Northern A. C. is met. The game will be played on the Saints' field.

C. U. DEPARTS TO START SEASON

TWENTY-six players and Coaches Bergman, Gross and Gagnon will compose the Catholic University party that departs tonight for Boston where tomorrow the Cardinal eleven will open its 1930 campaign against Boston College.

The prospects for a Catholic U. victory are slim, indeed, the only optimistic feeling in this regard being expressed by the players themselves. Boston College is stronger, while Catholic U. is weaker than when they clashed last year. B. C. won the 1929 game by 13 to 6 and had a mighty hard time doing it.

This season Catholic U. meets Boston minus the battering Jack Malevich, full back; the forward passing wizard Gene Murphy; two stalwart tackles, Armand Raiche and Bob O'Connor, and a pair of veteran ends, Oscar Gerth and Ross Zeno. In their places are men of little experience of whom good football performances can not fairly be expected.

But the new Cardinal eleven is confident it will give the Eagles a real battle. This feeling was evident among Brooklanders as early as the start of pre-season training August 25. It will not hurt their chances.

It is expected that C. U. will line up tomorrow as follows: Johnny Lyons and Rocco Blasi, ends; Nick Monaco and Ed O'Brien, tackles; Capt. George Menke and Frank Mullen, guards; Johnny Ambrose, center; Lou Bertoni, quarterback; Frank Donaher and Carl De Mello, halfbacks, and Lester Sheary, fullback.

Johnny Oliver, fastest back in the Cardinal squad, will make the journey but is not likely to play because of a weak ankle. Hugh Flynn, most promising tackle, also will accompany his mates, though not fit for service due to an injured knee.

6 LOCAL BOYS IN SAINTS' LINE-UP

SIX Washington scholastic football products will appear with the Mount St. Mary's Gridmen who meet Georgetown's Hilltoppers at Griffith Stadium tomorrow in the Blue and Gray inaugural. Three of these lads are quite certain of starting the game.

Mike Tracy, former Gonzaga High quarter back, will be seen at end for the Emmitsburg Collegians. He played in the signal-calling berth last year, but has been shifted this year to a wing position by Coach Art Malloy in the hope of compensating the loss of Eddie Ryscavage, star end of the 1929 team.

Tom Brew, another Gonzagan, will perform at guard in the visitors' line-up. He was a back last year. Franklin Holland, a product of Eastern High School, is to hold down a tackle position.

Saints to Show Good Defense.

The three Capital boys among the Saints' reserves are Jake Farrell, center, formerly of Gonzaga; Dewey, half back, whose brother, "Admiral" Dewey, plays with the Mohawks, District independent eleven, and Soens, tackle, formerly of Devitt Prep.

Reports indicate that Mount St. Mary's will present a strong defense, but an offense that Georgetown probably can stop with comparative ease. It is said that the Saints are in extreme need of a hard-running full back who can not only carry the ball himself, but clear the way for other backs. Not since the days of Ed Abbaticchio, present coach of the Mohawks, has Mount St. Mary's boasted a back of this type.

Abby, as he is known to most local fans, gave Georgetown plenty of trouble in an opening game at the Hilltop several years ago. Georgetown eked out a victory by a one-touchdown margin.

Joe Alenty, promising Georgetown right half back, appeared on the Griffith Stadium Field for practice yesterday for the first time. He was injured last Saturday at Point Lookout. Mancell Gillis, full back, also returned from a hospital cot. Neither will play Saturday.

U. of Md Foe to Show Promising Youngsters

Chestertown, Md., Sept. 25.—Coach Tom Kibler and his assistant, Gus Crothers, former University of Maryland player, are lining up their proteges for the initial setto of the season to be staged with the University of Maryland at College Park Saturday. About 35 candidates are undergoing daily drills.

Among the newcomers said to be assured posts on the varsity eleven is Fritz Reinhold, of Baltimore, former Donaldson School player, who will do the punting for the local outfit and who will occupy a place in the back field. Dobbins, recently a star of Crosby High School, of Waterbury, Conn., will also be back of the line, it is believed, and the remainder of the first-string line-up consists at present of letter men of last year.

Among second-string material which is providing plenty of opposition in daily scrimmage, Fennimore, formerly of Forest Park High, Baltimore, is one of the new men with experience, as is also Harries, who comes here from Silver Spring High School near Washington and who played last year on his school eleven.

ASHEVILLE PREXY DIES.

Asheville, N. C., Sept. 25 (A.P.).—Hall F. Corpening, 34, president of the Asheville Club of the South Atlantic Baseball Association, died this afternoon in a hospital here, following an operation. He became president of the Tourists in 1929, purchasing control of the club from the City of Asheville.

CARRIER BOND INDEX REACHES NEW PEAK

MANY UTILITIES CLIMB

New York, Sept. 25 (A.P.).—There was a bull market for railroad bonds again today in the New York Stock Exchange.

Several dozen obligations of railroads moved up sharply into new high ground for the year on the strength of investment buying by institutions and some individuals. Some utilities also improved, and the railroad group set a new high mark in the averages, reaching the highest level in two years.

Irregularity marked the movement of the industrial list and the changes in the foreign list also were of a divergent nature, but the unsettlement which has been almost a daily feature for a week or more appeared to have waned.

Bond buying again received impetus from an easier tone in the money market, as further reductions were made on four, five and six months loans. Call money remained at 2 per cent officially and loaned at that figure outside. On the basis of the past four days the turnover for the week should be close to the highest level of the year.

Large Volume of New Offerings.

There was a large volume of new offerings and the $23,000,000 Chicago District Electric bonds, the largest piece of financing today, was reported oversubscribed. A new issue of $7,000,000 Tennessee Public Service Co. 5 per cent mortgage bonds is being offered tomorrow. Among municipal issues sold today were $3,500,000 Winnipeg, Canada, 4½s and $1,000,000 City of Minneapolis, Minn., 5 per cent certificates.

The long list of new high prices for the year included Alleghany Valley general 4s, Baltimore & Ohio first 5s, Canadian National 5s, Canadian Pacific 5s and 4½s, Cincinnati Gas & Electric 4s, Colorado & Southern 4½s, Federal Light & Traction 5s, Hocking Valley 4½s, Nashville, Chattanooga & St. Louis 4s, New England Telephone & Telegraph 5s, New York Central 4½s and 4s, Nickle Plate 4½s, Pennsylvania 4¾s, Pere Marquette 4s B, Western Union 6½s, and Wabash first 5s.

New York Traction Issues Active.

A feature of the movement of utilities was the widespread activity in New York traction issues. They were strong on the election of directors for the Brooklyn Manhattan Transit interests to the board of the Interborough Rapid Transit. Some gains of 1 to 2 points were registered on a turnover running into large figures.

Obligations of oil companies felt the influence of stocks, as did many bonds with stock privilege features. Amusement company bonds were especially weak. Pathe 7s, Loew's 6s, General Theaters 6s, sold off from ½ to 1½ points, Warner Bros. 6s sagged 2¼ to a new year's low and Shubert 6s lost 3¼ points.

The tone of the foreign market continued to improve. There was a flurry of selling of Austrian 7s on reports that the cabinet had resigned, but the 7s closed unchanged after early weakness. German 5½s sagged ¼ point, but the 7s were unchanged. Buying of other German issues brought advances, some of 1 and 2 points. Chilean and Bank of Chilean issues, were the strong spot in the Latin-American section.

Another large offering tomorrow is the $50,000,000 government of the Argentine nation one year 5 per cent treasury gold notes, proceeds of which will be applied toward payment of notes maturing October 1.

GAS COMPANIES REPORT

By THOMAS M. CAHILL.

Higher fare brought Capital Traction Co. a slight increase in net income, compared with August, 1929, according to its statement for August, 1930, first full month during which advanced fare was in effect. The company's operating statement, filed yesterday with the Public Utilities Commission, showed net income of $16,103.78, a gain of $412.25 over the month last year.

There was a decline in operating revenues, however, those for last month being $314,513.96, or $11,317.60 below those of August a year ago. The number of revenue passengers also fell off, 3,691,440 being reported for last month, or 541,835 less than those of August, 1929.

Operating Expenses Drop.

Operating expenses of the company amounted to $246,034.89 for the month, or $11,004.47 less than those of August a year ago. Operating income, $45,951.48, and gross income, $46,146.03, showed gains of $104.11 and $283.04 respectively. Net income for the eight months of the present year now totals $290,130.66 as compared with $368,557.60 for the corresponding period a year ago, a decrease of $78,426.94. Car mileage operated in August 1930, was 769,932 or 43,173 under that of the month last year.

Warm weather caused a falling off in net income of Washington Gas Light Co. The company's statement of operations for August reveals a net income of $2,829.19 for the month, as compared with $21,639.54 for August, 1929, a decrease of $18,810.35. Net income for the eight months of 1930 aggregates $580,671.94 as against $619,609.83 for the period last year.

The Georgetown Gas Light Co.'s statement showed net corporate income for August of $4,914.90, contrasted with $4,958.87 for August, 1929. That for the eight months is $122,852.89, as compared with $100,520.28 for the period in 1929.

CHICAGO GRAIN.

Chicago, Sept. 25 (A.P.).—In a late selling flurry today the wheat market suffered quick loss of 2¼c a bushel after a rally that earlier had step by step, been attained. The sudden drop in wheat values went hand in hand with reports that James C. Stone, a member of the Federal Farm Board, said he agreed with the theory that the price trend would be downward for the next few years. Many standing orders to stop losses at various set limits were forced into execution by the market tumble, but hurried rallies were in progress as trading came to an end.

Closing quotations on wheat were nervous and irregular, ranging from ½c under yesterday's finish to ¾c gain. Corn closed unchanged to ⅝c higher, oats ¼ to 1c advance and provisions varying from 5c decline to a rise of 12c.

Failure of wheat values to hold upturns today came after a period of rather persistent buying, which to some observers appeared to be a continuance of the purchase movement that late yesterday whirled the market skyward. Buyers today received a further stimulus from word that furious snowstorms were sweeping over the Canadian prairie provinces and that a decided falling off in the volume of arrivals of wheat today at Winnipeg would be continued probably tomorrow and later. Besides, much tough and damaged wheat was reported as already in evidence at points in the provinces of Alberta and Saskatchewan.

Unusual dampness of large quantities of new wheat in France was also reported, and there was talk current that although stocks of wheat in the United States are large, the bulk of the visible supply is now in the show windows, and that the total hereafter is likely to diminish. It was further stressed that flour millers are doing a big business, and that wheat feeding to livestock is becoming of immense proportions. However, all such encouraging factors were temporarily lost sight of in the selling rush that overwhelmed the market near the end of the day.

Strength in the corn market faded out suddenly when wheat prices broke. Corn values, though, recovered better than wheat did, smallness of receipts of corn here tending to check selling pressure on future deliveries. Oats paralleled the action of corn.

Provisions were easy owing to scantiness of demand for lard.

Closing indemnities: Wheat—December, 80⅜@80½; 84¾@84½; March, 83¾, 87½; May, 86½@86⅝; 90⅝@90¾. Corn—December, 80½@80⅝; 83¼@83¾; March, 81½, 85¼; May, 83¾, 87⅛.

The volume of new construction undertaken in the 37 States east of the Rocky Mountains during the week ended September 19 maintained the increased rate shown in the preceding week, F. W. Dodge Corporation reports. The total volume of all construction was $86,413,500, which brought the daily rate for September to $13,861,200, compared with a daily rate of $13,892,700 for August and $17,776,100 for September last year. The daily rate of contract letting for residential building alone was $4,114,100 for September, against $3,306,800 for August and $4,695,200 for September last year.

E. B. Reeser, president of the American Petroleum Institute and the Barnsdall Corporation, said today before leaving for Tulsa, Okla., that the crude oil situation is the strongest in years from the standpoint of actual production, with continued adherence to pronation programs and that the refinery position continues to improve. Recent reductions in gasoline prices, he said, were due to the wide spread heretofore existing between wholesale and retail prices, which encouraged secret debates and commissions, which under the new price structure will be largely eliminated.

Directors of the F. & W. Grand-Silver Stores, Inc., have approved purchase of the Canadian chain of Metropolitan Chain Stores, Inc. The stores will be taken over about September 29 and the acquisition will mark the entry of Grand-Silver into Canada.

Arrangements have been made for the sale of a New York Stock Exchange membership for $275,000, a reduction of $25,000 from the last previous sale.

The daily statement of the New York Federal Reserve Bank today showed withdrawal of $1,000,000 for export to Canada. There were no imports, but stocks of earmarked gold increased $5,000,000. The bank's statement for the week ended September 24 showed imports of $245,000 for Latin-America. Exports for the week amounted to $3,010,000, of which $3,000,000 went to Italy and $10,000 to Germany.

Potatoes Decline During Past Week

Other Fresh Produce Show Few Price Changes, Says Report.

Fresh produce, with the exception of potatoes and peaches, showed few price changes during the past week, while celery sent to Eastern markets dropped to record low prices, according to the latest report of the Bureau of Agricultural Economics. Peaches advanced slightly, and potatoes (both Irish and sweet) registered declines of 10 to 25 cents per 100 pounds. Moderate to liberal supplies of potatoes were reported in all leading markets.

Early fall varieties of apples continued to supply a dull market. Much of the fruit being loaded in the Martinsburg district of West Virginia ranges from 2 to 2½ inches in size. The smaller variety brought f. o. b. prices of $2.25 per barrel, but Jonathans of the 2½-inch minimum brought $4.25.

Cabbage and onion markets remained generally dull. Sacked onions of standard grade, 75 per cent 2 inches and larger, were selling on an f. o. b. basis of 85 to 90 cents per 100 pounds in the Rochester district of western New York.

Curb Review

With activity at the best level of the year a half dozen of the most active petroleum stocks, including Standard of Indiana, broke into new low ground for the year, on losses ranging from 1 to 4 points. Recessions in the general list ranged from a small fraction to 25 points.

The reactionary trend which carried many stocks to the lowest level of the year gained headway during the afternoon in sympathy with the trend on the big board. It followed a morning of uncertain price movements when many pivotal issues which have been under pressure steadied. Oil shares, however, moved downward from the start and the unsettling influence gradually spread to the rest of the market.

Standard Oil of Indiana, which has been fairly well supported in recent selling movements, broke sharply under a heavy volume of offerings, selling down 2 points and closing 1¼ off. Cosden sagged 5 but regained half of its loss, but together with Standard Oil of Kentucky, Gulf, Vacuum and Richfield with warrants rested on new bottoms at the close. Cities Service was very steady, moving narrowly to finish three-eighths off.

There were indications that the principal interest of the bearish element had swung from utilities to petroleum and industrial issues, for the reaction in the utility group was less violent than yesterday. Electric Bond & Share found support just above yesterday's low and lost only a quarter. However, United Light & Power, American Light & Traction, United Gas, Central States Electric, American & Foreign Power warrants lost about a point each and American Gas & Electric, Electric Power & Light warrants, Tampa Electric and New England Telephone & Telegraph 2 to 4.

There was further crumbling of quoted values among industrials. Aluminum, Ltd., dropped 25 points to a new year's low, Consolidated Mining 12, Huyler's of Delaware preferred 20½, Continental Shovel preferred, Cooper Bessemer, Crocker Wheeler, Aluminum Co. of America and U. S. Radiator sagged 2 to 5, most of them to new lows for the year. Among the most active stocks, weakness of Fokker Aircraft, off 2¼, and Technicolor, down 1¼, both to new 1930 lows, stood out.

Small losses were the rule among investment and holding company shares. Ungerleider Financial slid 3 points on thin sales. Goldman Sachs lost seven-eighths.

Packers' Hearing Set for October 7

Hearing on the petitions for modification of the packers consent decree signed February 27, 1920, by which the "Big Four" packing companies agreed to divorce themselves from unallied industries, was set yesterday by Justice Joseph W. Cox in District of Columbia Supreme Court for October 7.

Immediately after the United States Supreme Court held last year that the consent decree was valid, Swift & Co. and Armour Co. and allied groups filed a petition for modification. Despite the fact that the United States Supreme Court mandate was received more than a year ago, no effort so far has been made to enforce the decree.

At the same time that the date of the trial was set, it was learned that attorneys for the Swift and Armour groups have obtained a blanket subpena by which they can call all out-of-town witnesses they desire to testify at the hearing. While the names of the witnesses could not be learned, it was understood that in the group are a number of millionaires who are now or have been affiliated with the packing industry.

Slayer of Maine Girl Is Sentenced for Life

Portland, Maine, Sept. 26 (A.P.).—James M. Mitchell today pleaded guilty to the furnace slaying last July of Lillian I. MacDonald, fellow employe in a Portland bookstore, and was sentenced to imprisonment for life.

The girl left the office of the stationery firm on Saturday morning, July 12, to pay off various employes. On the following day her charred body was found in the furnace of the building.

Wrench May Be Clew In Indiana Child Killing

South Bend, Ind., Sept. 25 (A.P.).—An eight-inch monkey wrench, believed to be stained with blood, was found by police today in a tool box at the home of Mrs Theresa Hobart, sweetheart of George S. Meyers, who is now being held in the Indiana State Prison following his own confession that he murdered 8-year-old Marverine Appel.

Finding of the wrench is the first tangible clew the police have since Meyers' confession. In his story, he is alleged to have admitted strangling the girl and then striking her on the head with a monkey wrench. Police were uncertain whether the stains on the wrench found at Mrs. Hobert's home were of blood, but were to analyze the tool this afternoon.

CLAIRVOYANTS

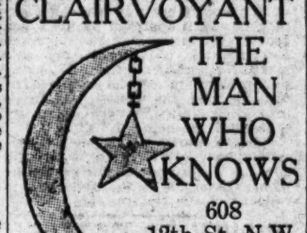
608 12th St. N.W.

Over Woolworth's 5c & 10c Store



This strange man sees the way and tells it all. Just what your life has been, just what it will be. Tells you when and whom you will marry; whether husband, wife or sweetheart is true or false. Tells as to changes, travel, lost or absent friends, divorce, wills, deeds; whether it is best to buy or sell. He tells the good and the bad. A visit will convince you of his wonderful power.

Something tells you this is the man. You feel the impulse to call. Do not delay.

PUBLIC NOTICES

ZONING COMMISSION, D. C.—SEPTEMBER 19, 1930. In accordance with the provisions of Section 3 of an Act of Congress, approved March 1, 1920 (Public No. 153, 66th Congress) entitled "An Act to regulate the height, area and use of buildings in the District of Columbia and to create a Zoning Commission, and for other purposes," notice is hereby given that a public hearing will be held in the Board Room of the District Buildings, beginning at 10:00 A. M., October 1, 1930, for the purpose of considering the following proposed changes in the boundaries of the use, heights, and area districts, to wit: 1. CHANGE FROM RESIDENTIAL, 60', C AREA TO SECOND COMMERCIAL, 60', D AREA: lots 809, 812 and 814, square 24, being alley lots in the square bounded by N. M. 24th and 25th Streets, N.W. 2. 1 Killed, 1 Wounded Raiding Chicken House

Ocala, Fla., Sept. 25 (A.P.).—An unidentified youth is dead and a man who told authorities he is Jack Willis, of Norfolk, Va., is in a serious condition from gunshot wounds, inflicted, it was learned, when they were caught robbing a chicken house on the farm of W. M. Shockley near here early today.

Shockley heard a disturbance among his chickens, slipped from his house and when he saw two persons emerge from the hen house carrying a sack, fired twice with a shotgun. Both fell and were brought to a hospital here. The unidentified youth died today. Willis told the sheriff he did not know the name of his companion.

NEWS OF LATEST HAPPENINGS IN MARYLAND AND VIRGINIA

MILITARY CARNIVAL THRILLS 15,000 AT FIRST EXHIBITIONS

Gov. Pollard and Daughter Are Honor Guests on Virginia Day.

INDIANS BEATEN AFTER ATTACK ON SETTLERS

Warfare Methods of Past Compared With Those of Present.

Old mehtods of warfare contrasted strikingly with the new yesterday afternoon and night as the annual Military Exposition and Carnival oponed for a three-day run at the War College. The one was an encounter between plainsmen and Indians along the Oregon trail; the other was an Infantry detachment resisting an airplane attack in a manner unknown even in the World War.

Approximately 15,000 persons attended the two performances and witnessed military exhibitions on land and in the air. In the numerous booths they saw the stuff of which armies, war tanks, aircraft and the like are made.

Yesterday was Virginia day, and Gov. John Garland Pollard of Virginia, was guest of honor along with the Secretary of the Navy, Charles Francis Adams. A salute of nineteen guns dreeted their arrival as the carnival formally opened at 2 o'clock, and an escort of Cavalry accompanied them to the grandstand. Gov. Pollard was accompanied by Miss Sue Pollard, his daughter and his hostess.

"Perils of Plains."

The show presented at the carnival, afternoon and evening, rivaled a three-ring circus in its varied angles of interest. Hardly had one attraction finished than another began. Each event was described so that every one on the field could hear by means of an extensive amplifying system.

Probably the most colorful exhibition was the "Perils of the Plains" pageant. Trodding slowly down the field came a long line of oxen drawing covered wagons that swayed like ships at sea. The oxen had come all the way from St. Mary's County, Md., to portray a picture from the frontier days.

Aboard the wagons and on horseback were prototypes of the men and women who blazed the Western trails and made the West safe for the white man. Ahoy, or avark, a half-breed trapper comes to warn the plainsmen of the approach of Indians. As hastily as possible with the oxen, they form a circle, and soon the Redskins are upon them, yelling and hurling fiery darts.

Capture of Indians.

But scarcely before your sympathy for the entrapped pioneers reaches a high emotional peak, a detachment of blue-coated Federal soldiers arrive and capture the Indians.

In truth, the pageant has more thrills than the similar battle shown in the nickel days of the movies.

In contrast to this is the encounter between a regiment of infantrymen, led by huge tanks and flanked by machine gunners, and several airplanes. Rifles, machine guns and the heavier tank guns spit fire as the planes swoop low and drop bombs that fairly rock the grand stands.

Silent, or undirected, drills of the Third Battalion, Twelfth Infantry, and later artillerymen in intricate maneuvers drew much deserved applause.

The "fireflies" and "looping comet" of the Air Corps attracted attention far beyond the confines of the War College as they did their stunts against an inky sky.

Armored cars, capable of doing 60 miles an hour, ran around the field and then staged a mock battle with aircraft. The Thirteenth Engineers of Fort Humphreys erected a bridge in 6 minutes 25 seconds and then blew it up.

Naval Airplane Device.

Among the booths every activity of the War Department is exhibited in manner understandable to the laymen. Huge planes, tanks, and small guns and shells are open to inspection. In addition there are a score or more of entertainment booths, hot dog stands, a dancing pavillion, or what you will.

A feature which drew the largest crowd was a machine designed to give you all the ups and downs of an airplane ride without leaving the ground. A device that rang bells, turned on an electric fan or flashed various colored lights just from the movements of one's hand in front of a light is another novelty.

The shows will be repeated this afternoon and night and tomorrow, today being Maryland day and tomorrow District day. Proceeds go to the Army relief fund.

W. C. T. U. Will Meet In Hampton Next Year

Danville, Va., Sept. 25.—The Virginia W. C. T. U. ended its forty-eighth annual state convention here today after selecting Hampton as the 1931 convention city. Today's session was featured by the unveiling of a memorial to the Rev. John R. Moffett, former pastor of Moffett Memorial Church of this city, who was shot and killed during a bitter wet-dry campaign many years ago. At the ceremonies he was termed "Danville's martyred prohibition pioneer." Prohibition has been the topic in addresses and demonstrations throughout the three-day meeting.

Mrs. Howard M. Hoge, Lincoln, will serve another year as president, having been reelected for the thirty-third consecutive term. All other officers were also reelected.

Funeral Services Held For Mrs. Fred Clarke

Special to The Washington Post.

Danville, Va., Sept. 25.—Mrs. Fred Clarke, well-known resident and church worker, passed away at her home here yesterday following a long decline in health. She was a lifetime resident of Danville and an active worker in the First Presbyterian Church.

She is survived by three sons, the Rev. Arthur H. Clarke, of Hinton, W. Va.; Prof. John A. Clarke, of Elon College, N. C., and Walter F. Clarke, of Washington, D. C. Funeral services were held this afternoon at 4 o'clock at the residence.

NOTABLES AT ARMY WAR COLLEGE CARNIVAL

WITHIN NEXT MONTH GAS RATE CUT SEEN

SMALL BLAZE IN SCHOOL

BUREAU OF THE POST.
Tel. Clar. 509. Clarendon, Va.

With the announcement yesterday from the Washington Gas Light Co. that residents of the District of Columbia would have a reduction in gas rates effective October 1, word came to Arlington County from officials of the company that residents of the county are assured of a reduction in their gas rate, which it is hoped will be effective not later than October 15.

Delay in perfecting the rate both for Arlington County and portions of Maryland was explained by officials of the company that the figures have to be worked out and submitted to the local commission as to what charges shall be made by the companies serving Arlington County and nearby Maryland.

While no definite figures could be learned last night, assurance was given that the rate for Arlington County will be as favorable as that for the District of Columbia.

It was stated that it is the hope of the company to have the rate both for Arlington County and nearby Maryland by the end of this week.

Directors of the Alexandria Gas Co., which was recently taken over by the Seaboard Trust Co., of Boston, have secured a charter permitting them to operate in Alexandria and its environs, according to dispatches received yesterday from Richmond.

Work of laying the storm drainage pipe in Virginia Highlands will be started today, according to an announcement made last night by County Engineer C. L. Kinnier.

The pipe, of 24-inch diameter, will be laid from Frazier avenue, crossing the tracks of the Washington-Alexandria Railway, where it will connect with a pipe which crosses Potomac Yards.

Unanimous indorsement of the proposal for a change in the county government to the county-manager plan with election of five members to the county board at large was given by the Lyon Village Citizens Association at its meeting held last night at the home of I. C. Buchanan.

Many questions were asked which were fully explained by members of the Arlington County Civic Federation committee which for many months made a study of the question and recently made its report recommending the county manager plan which was adopted by the federation.

It was announced that a house to house canvass is being made in the village by the committee in charge of circulating the petition which will next week be presented to Circuit Court Judge Walter T. McCarthy requesting that November 4 be designated as the day for holding an election on the question.

It was explained that should the question be carried at the election if held in November the change will not become effective until January 1, 1932. Members of the county board would be elected at the general county election in November, 1931.

Fire said to have been caused from the fumes while workmen were patching the floor in one of the rooms of the James Monroe School at Aurora Heights yesterday afternoon for a time threatened to become serious. The flames were extinguished by firemen from Clarendon without causing any serious damage to the building other than fill it with smoke.

The Arlington Post, No. 139, American Legion, has determined to arouse more interest among members and completed plans yesterday for what will be known as "The Legion Weekly Luncheon Club of Arlington County."

County Engineer C. L. Kinnier announced last night that he will meet with officials of the Arlington-Fairfax Railway Co. at Clarendon today to consider plans for having the company relocate its tracks at a point where they cross the Wilson boulevard at Clarendon. Engineer Kinnier stated the reason for asking that the location of the tracks be shifted is to make room for erection of the monument which the Arlington Post No. 139, American Legion, wishes to locate in the center of the roadway.

Mrs. John E. Nevin, registrar for Clarendon Precinct No. 1, announces that she will be at her home, 225 Marion avenue, Clarendon, Saturday, October 4, at which time she will register all persons otherwise qualified to vote at the November election.

This will be the last opportunity for persons wishing to participate in the November election as registration books will be closed at midnight Saturday, October 4.

An elaborate program has been arranged to greet Frank T. McFaden, of Winchester, Va., grand master of Masons in Virginia, who, with C. B. Laycock, of Arlington County, district deputy grand master, will tomorrow night pay an official visit to Columbia Lodge, No. 285, A. F. and A. M., in the Masonic Temple at Clarendon.

An invitation has been extended to all Masonic lodges within district 54. The Master Mason's degree will be conferred.

The George Johnston Society, Children of the American Revolution, will meet at the home of the president, Mrs. C. W. Maffett, 240 Strickler avenue, Clarendon, tomorrow night at 8 o'clock.

Republicans to Meet In Annapolis Tomorrow

Special to The Washington Post.

Annapolis, Md., Sept. 25.—Anne Arundel County Republicans got the jump on their rival Democrats by way of campaigning for the State ticket. The G. P. O. candidates, headed by Mayor William F. Broening, for governor, now en tour of the counties of the Eastern Shore, will visit Annapolis Saturday afternoon and a reception and informal mass meeting will be held at the Maryland Hotel at 3 o'clock.

The Democrats have fixed October 11 as the date for a big mass meeting in Annapolis. Gov. Albert C. Ritchie, seeking reelection to a fourth term, and his running mates on the State ticket, and also Representative Stephen W. Gambrill, up for reelection, will address the gathering in the chamber of the House of Delegates at the State House. The meeting will be at 7:30 in the evening.

MOVIE MAN TO DEFY SABBATH SHOW BAN

FINE, JAIL PRESCRIBED

Special to The Washington Post.

Martinsburg, W. Va., Sept. 25.—The management of a local theater, which announced inauguration of Sunday movies on September 28, said today that the plan would be attempted despite an official warning issued by Mayor Chris H. Dailey of Martinsburg, declaring such a showing is banned under a city ordinance and that he would proceed to enforce the ordinance if the Sunday showing were attempted.

The management said that it was prepared to meet any contingency. The theater is owned and operated by Warner Bros. The mayor's warning, published at his request for information of citizens and theater management, said that the ordinance provided for imposition of a fine ranging from $5 to $20 or imprisonment from 1 to 30 days. He indicated that both fine and imprisonment would be invoked.

The ordinance forbids operations of "all bar rooms, shops, stores, &c." on the Sabbath, and is designed to prevent all labor on that day, except in enterprises operated for necessities and charities, he said.

Mayor Expresses Skepticism.

The mayor expressed skepticism as to the announced intention of the theater management in saying its primary reasons for starting Sunday movies was to assist local deserving projects through giving them a portion of the Sunday receipts. He declared that he regarded it as an effort to evade the statute.

"My attention is called to advertisements appearing in a local newspaper, and by posters, stating that the Apollo Theater will open on Sunday, the 28th day of September, 1930, for the showing of pictures both in the afternoon and evening, for which a charge will be made to patrons. I wish to say that I had no knowledge of this contemplated action on the part of the owners of the Apollo Theater until my attention was called to an advertisement.

"I am bitterly opposed to this theater or any other theater operating on the Sabbath day, and shall do everything in my power as the chief executive of the City of Martinsburg, to prohibit such a procedure.

Will Enforce Ordinance.

"I have done and shall continue to do, everything in my power to assist in every way legally possible all civic organizations and the public generally, but do not approve of the use of the Sabbath as a means of assistance to local civic organizations.

"If the owners and operators of the Apollo Theater or any other theater in the City of Martinsburg attempt to operate on the Sabbath day, I will enforce the ordinance of the city to the full extent."

Charles Town Resident Succumbs at Age of 70

Special to The Washington Post.

Charles Town, W. Va., Sept. 25.—William H. E. Brown, a well-known resident of Charles Town, died at his home yesterday at the age of 70, after an illness of ten days.

The deceased for more than 25 years had been connected with the C. F. Wall Co. Surviving are two sisters, Mrs. Samuel Taylor, of Baltimore, and Miss Emma Brown, of Charles Town; two brothers, J. Walter Brown, of Charles Town, and Adam W. Brown, of Washington, D. C.

Virginia Fall Hay Crops Attacked by Army Worm

Richmond, Va., Sept. 25 (A.P.).—The fall army worm, after campaigning in nearly every other section of the State, has crossed Chesapeake Bay and attacked the crops on the Eastern Shore.

G. T. French, State entomologist, said today the worm has appeared in large numbers in both Accomac and Northampton counties, and County Agent W. O. Strong, of Accomac, has written the State Department of Agriculture that "the army worm is destroying hundreds of acres of our fall hay crops, such as rye, wheat and crimson clover."

POLICEMAN'S ESTATE IS SUED BY LANDLADY

DRUG STORE IS ROBBED

907 Prince St., Alexandria, Va.
Phone Alexandria 523.

Cornelia E. Adams has filed in the corporation court for this city notice for judgment for a board bill and other services against the estate of the late William E. Candler, former deputy city sergeant, in the sum of $4,117.50.

The papers are made out against City Sergt. R. H. Cox, as sergeant administrator of the Candler estate, and specify that the late deputy sergeant owed board from June 1, 1925, to September 9, 1930, or five years, three months and ten days, at $10 a week, amounting to $2,745. There is also a notation for the remainder of the amount sought, which is alleged to be due for cleaning and taking care of Candler's room for which a charge of $5 a week is made. The case will be called on October 13.

Candler died a few weeks ago leaving no will, and his estate is estimated to amount to more than $10,000. His nearest relatives are said to be nieces and nephews who live in Delaware. No disposition of the estate has yet been made.

The Washington police are holding three young men who are charged with entering and robbing the Rexall drug store, at Mount Vernon and Peyton avenues, Potomac, early yesterday morning. The articles missing, which are valued at $25, include four boxes of cigars, twenty cartons of cigarettes and other small articles. Entrance to the store was gained by forcing a window on the Peyton avenue side of the building, and the intruders left by the door opening on the same street.

The names of the suspects who are being held are Darwin Corso, 20 years old, of Quincy street near Fifth street northwest; William R. Johnson, 19, of Roxboro street near Sixth street northwest, and Wesley B. Harding, 18, of Georgia avenue near Rittenhouse street northwest. Warsants were made out in Alexandria for the boys and left at the District of Columbia police headquarters.

L. M. Boley, of 1636 King street, manager of a chain grocery store, reported to the police yesterday that his store was entered during the night, but nothing was missed. Entrance was gained by breaking iron bars at a rear window. Crumbs on the floor of the store indicated that the burglars had eaten cakes and crackers before leaving.

The city council held a special meeting yesterday afternoon to consider the gas franchise and also a petition from the Standard Oil Co. of New Jersey for permission to use the entire Washington street front of the lot at the southwest corner of Washington and Wilkes streets as a gas filling station, but owing to the absence from the city of City Attorney Carl Buswesky both matters were deferred to an adjourned meeting to be held at 3 o'clock this afternoon. The presence of the city attorney is necessary to present the legal phases of both matters.

Several street improvement resolutions were offered and passed. They dealt principally with the block of South Patrick street, between Wolfe and Wilkes streets, which will connect South Patrick street to the Richmond highway with a continuous hard surface road, as this street will be the logical way to divert truck traffic when the Mount Vernon boulevard is completed.

The Alexandria Trades Council, representing organized labor in this city, has gone on record as being unalterably opposed to the proposed increase in water rates by the Alexandria Water Co., which announced recently that the city council would be asked to pay for the water used for fire fighting purposes, and also that an increase in the flat rates charged property owners would be requested of the State corporation commission.

The trades council also decided to cooperate with all other organizations in the city which are opposed to the contemplated increase, and it was announced that in the near future a mass meeting will be called at which the citizens may launch a movement against the increased rates.

The meeting, which was held in Carpenters and Joiners Hall at Prince and Royal streets Wednesday night, was presided over by Howard T. Colvin, president of the Alexandria Trades Council.

Living models for the American Legion style show, which will be held in the Armory the week beginning Monday, were announced yesterday by Mrs. Anna Haslett Meeks, chairman of the models committee, to be Miss Eura Reed Haslett, Miss Anita Noble, Miss May LaPorte Moore and Miss Dorothy Smith.

The feature of each evening of the style show will be a vaudeville program, and among those participating will be the Alexandria Hawaiians; Lawrence Rowland, in songs; Bill May and D. C. Givins in a blackface skit; Paul Petersilia in songs; Dorothy H. Snellings and Audrey Sheppard in acrobatic and classic dances, and songs by Donald Jamieson and Alfred O'Down, the latter a boy tenor from Washington.

The committee on arrangements for the style show and trade exhibit has announced that everything possible will be done to make the week a real carnival for the entire community, and a cordial invitation has been extended to every Alexandrian to attend. The proceeds of the entertainment will go toward the fund for paying the interest on the loan placed on Gadsby's Tavern, the home of the local Legion Post, and which is being restored to its former condition by the Legion.

The Business and Professional Women's Club will hold its annual Emblem Breakfast on Sunday next at 8 a. m., in the George Mason Hotel, when the emblem chairman, Miss Rietta Butler, will sponsor the presentation of the emblem pageant, Mrs. Helen Springman reading the meaning of the symbols and Miss Esther Moore, Miss Anita Nobel, Miss Irma Wolf, Miss Laura May Peverell and Mrs. Irva Simpson representing the symbols. Miss Alice Whitton is in charge of reservations.

Mrs. Mary W. Troth, president of the club, will preside and the speaker will be Miss Elizabeth Foster, of Norfolk, past president of the Virginia Federation of Business and Professional Women's Clubs.

The meeting of the State Executive Board will be held in Lexington, Va., on Saturday, October 25, and will be attended by the members of the local club who hold membership on the State committees preparing for the biennial convention of the National Federation in Richmond in July, 1931.

In circuit court yesterday William W. Nicholson qualified as administrator of the estate of his father, George W. Nicholson, who left approximately $16,000. There was no will so the four children will share equally.

A called meeting of the Mary Custis Lee-Seventeenth Virginia Regiment Chapter, United Daughters of the Confederacy, will be held on Monday evening, at 8 o'clock, in Lee Camp Hall, to consider a matter for presentation at the State convention to be held in Staunton, Va., the coming week.

Naval Academy To Reopen Today

Annapolis, Md., Sept. 25.—A majority of the nearly 1,500 midshipmen of the three upper classes who have been on leave since August 29, following the summer practice cruise, had returned to Annapolis tonight, preparatory to the reopening of the United States Naval Academy tomorrow for the eighty-sixth academic term. Classes will start Monday morning.

The academy will begin the term with 2,056 students on the roster. The new "plebe" class recruited during the summer has the largest enrollment—840. The senior class has 452 members, the second, 464 and the third, 500.

The midshipmen will see many new faces among the instructors when they go to classes, as the shore assignments of many who were here during the last term expired and they have been transferred to sea duty, others being detailed to fill in the vacancies.

MILLS ARE REFUSED POWERS OF POLICE

CONFERENCE IS CALLED

Special to The Washington Post.

Danville, Va., Sept. 25.—A tense situation among members of the textile union here today was relieved by refusal of Judge Turner Clement, of the Pittsylvania County Court at Chatham, to grant the request of the local cotton mills to have mill executives deputized with State police power to protect mill plants to satisfy insurance companies. Judge Clement held that the situation does not warrant such a step, declaring that should additional police become necessary, they will be provided from neutral sources and not from mill executives.

This development was regarded in the light of a victory for conciliation and in favor of the union. The decision against deputizing mill employed men was reached following information from conferences between Judge Clement, P. J. Hundley, Commonwealth's attorney, H. W. Furlow, assistant State labor commissioner, and four conciliators here seeking to avert a strike.

The conference was called after union members, aroused to a high state of tension upon learning of the mill request, reported the matter to authorities, contending that granting of such a request would establish a cause for trouble.

Union headquarters today reported that a union employe reprimanded a second hand for brandishing weapons. The union employe in question, Joe B. Barrows, informed headquarters that he observed the second hand, known as Slim Jones, showing a pistol to one of the women workers. According to the union statement, Barrows walked over to Jones, took the weapon from him and displayed it to other workers. He then removed the cartridges, he said, and returned the pistol to Jones.

Meanwhile, Federal and State conciliators, who already have heard the union's side of the question, are endeavoring to hear the mill side in a conference with H. R. Fitzgerald, president of the Riverside and Dan River plants. It was intimated that Mr. Fitzgerald probably would receive the conciliators, but doubt exists that he will consent to a round-table arbitration conference at which union officials would also be present.

$500,000 Sought For King College

Bristol, Tenn., Sept. 25 (A.P.).—More than 200 Presbyterians from all sections of the Synod of Appalachia gathered here today to officially launch the King College campaign of completion. Men and women from Virginia, Tennessee, North Carolina and Kentucky attended this session.

Speakers included former Representative Sam R. Sells, Johnson City, Tenn., general chairman; Dr. B. R. Lacy, of Richmond, Va.; the Rev. R. F. Campbell, Asheville, N. C.; Frank K. Rosamond, Chattanooga, and Dr. George H. Gilmer, Draper, Tenn.

The campaign has for its goal $500,000 for endowment and buildings to make King College complete.

Lynchburg Resident For 54 Years Is Dead

Special to The Washington Post.

Lynchburg, Va., Sept. 25.—A. S. White, 75, for 54 years a wholesale grocer here, died last night at his home of an angina pectoris. He retired from active business several years ago, but maintained connection with his old firm, A. S. White & Co., as chairman of the board.

He was a native of Rockbridge County and was graduated from Washington and Lee University in 1877. Two daughters, Mrs. L. F. Turlington, Birmingham, Ala., and Mrs. G. A. Dirom, Lynchburg, survive. Mr. White was an elder of the First Presbyterian Church.

R. E. L. Whitacre Succumbs.

Winchester, Va., Sept. 25.—Robert E. L. Whitacre, 65, for many years prominently identified with farming, fruit growing and educational interests of Frederick County, died today at Whitacre, named for his family. Surviving are a widow, formerly Miss Florence Pugh; two sons, two daughters and one brother.

Home for Synod's Indigent Is Pushed

Site Inspection Committee Is Named After Will Leaves $100,000.

Hagerstown, Md., Sept. 25 (A.P.).—Steps are being taken for the establishment of a home for indigent members of the Potomac Synod of the Reformed Church, provided for in the will of the late George C. Pearson with a bequest of $100,000. The synod embraces Maryland, Virginia, Pennsylvania and the Carolinas.

The bequest, acceptance of which during September was made mandatory, has been approved by the synod general conference, which appointed a committee to inspect sites and make further arrangements looking to construction of the home. The will specified the money was to go into foreign mission work unless accepted for the home.

Many members of the synod governing body are reported to favor a site in Washington County for the home, inasmuch as the donor was a resident of the county.

SURVEY TO SETTLE ELECTION PROTEST

LONG BASIS OF DISPUTE

Work of resurveying the line between Frederick and Montgomery Counties has started. The new survey was ordered after a protest had been entered as to the eligibility of several voters in the recent Democratic primaries. Some dispute arose as to which side of the line about four persons lived.

The survey started near Penns Shop, near Ridgeville, and will be run to the mouth of the Potomac River, a distance of about 4 miles. The end of the Montgomery County line is at a spring in Parrsville, near Ridgeville, which is the converging point of Montgomery, Frederick, Carroll and Howard Counties.

The dispute has arisen at intervals for a number of years and flamed anew in the primaries when it was claimed that residents of Frederick County had been registered and voted in Montgomery County. The Montgomery County commissioners directed Joseph Starkey, county surveyor, to arrange for a resurvey with the surveyors of the other counties.

Dates for the various group meetings of the teachers of Montgomery County high schools were announced yesterday by Superintendent Edwin W. Broome, of the county schools. Teachers in the various departments will meet in the county high schools and plan the year's work and study routine.

Other group meetings planned are: Science, Rockville High School, today; music, Bethesda-Chevy Chase High School, September 29; English, Takoma-Silver Spring High School, September 30; art, Bethesda-Chevy Chase High School, October 1; mathematics, Takoma-Silver Spring High School, October 2; Latin, Damascus High School, October 3; French, Bethesda-Chevy Chase, October 6; shop, Rockville, October 7; history, Rockville, October 8; home arts, home economics, Bethesda-Chevy Chase, October 9; agriculture, Poolesville High School, October 10; commercial, Rockville, October 13. The meetings begin at 3 o'clock and last about two hours.

The Rockville town council will meet Monday night in the town hall in special session to consider the application for a permit to lay gas mains filed by the Washington Gas Light Co. Gas company officials will be present to discuss the petition with the town fathers, according to Mayor J. Roger Spates.

The project has gained considerable support from the citizens of the town, who are anxious to accept the convenience of gas, and it is believed that the town council will act favorably on the application.

County Commissioner Lacy Shaw, Montgomery County member of the centralized almshouse for the Western Shore committee appointed by Gov. Ritchie, yesterday attended a session of that body held in Frederick, Md.

Bureau of Engraving Foreman Is Promoted

Thomas J. Heany, of Chevy Chase, Md., foreman of the plate printing division of the Bureau of Printing and Engraving since 1922, was yesterday made superintendent of the wetting division in recognition of his long service with the department.

The oath of office was administered by Miss May Beckman, superintendent of personnel, in the presence of Director A. W. Hall and division chiefs. Numerous floral tributes were sent by members of Mr. Heany's old division. He entered the engraving bureau in March, 1902.

Democratic House Is Seen by Tucker

Special to The Washington Post.

Staunton, Va., Sept. 25.—Henry St. George Tucker, Tenth Virginia District Representative, addressing city county Democratic committee conference here today, said he would not be greatly surprised to see the Democratic party gain control of the House of Representatives, and possibly the Senate, in the November elections this year.

Speaking of his own campaign for reelection, Mr. Tucker asserted: "I do not particularly desire to hold office, but I believe that by returning to the Congress of the United States I can do something to save this country for the Jeffersonian principles of democracy." He was first sent to Congress from this district 42 years ago.

Mr. Tucker said he was opposed to centralization of education in hands of Federal Government since what might be good for some States would not be good for others.

Speaking of the flexible tariff law, he said that since the present law's recent passage there have been 45 changes made by presidential proclamation, and in 43 instances the changes represented increases.

BISHOP BEAUCHAMP SPEAKS AT OPENING OF CHURCH SESSION

APPOINTMENTS MADE TO BOARD OF EDUCATION

Reports Are Received From Presiding Elders of Eight Districts.

Mindful of the conflicting sentiment within the Methodist Episcopal Church South in the last presidential election, Bishop W. B. Beauchamp, of Richmond, Va., opened the 146th annual meeting of the denomination's Baltimore Conference here yesterday with a plea to "think in terms of unity and harmony, and not division."

"Get rid of suspicion and division, for the spiritual life of the church is the paramount aim of this quadrennium in the church," he told the audience of almost 500 ministers, delegates and laymen at the initial session of the five-day gathering at the Mount Vernon Place Methodist Episcopal Church South.

His welcoming address, marking his first appearance at a gathering of the Baltimore Conference since his appointment to the body by the denomination at its Dallas convention in May, came as the major event on a program which included the appointment of various committees, the transaction of considerable business and an address at the church last night by the Rev. Dr. L. D. Patterson, a returned missionary from China, on the subject, "Missions."

Harrell to Speak Today.

"It is not expected that every one should think alike," declared Bishop Beauchamp. "We must allow every one to have his own opinions. Yet at the same time we must have confidence and trust in one another, and harmony of spirit.

"Think not of some one else whom you think needs blessing. Look first at yourselves. A great spirit of giving depends on a renewal of spiritual life in our church. Nothing will appeal to our people until we receive a baptism of the Holy Ghost. Have faith in God."

The conference today will hear the Rev. Costen J. Harrell, pastor of the Monument Church, Richmond, one of the four ministers in the denomination who have demanded a committee in Southern Methodism to investigate the activities of Bishop James M. Cannon, jr., with power to suspend that official if necessary. Conference leaders, however, announced that the Rev. Mr. Harrell will confine his address to other matters.

Appointees to Board.

Appointment of the Board of Christian Education, in line with action of the Dallas convention providing for creation of a single body to combine in each conference the Sunday school board, the Epworth League board and the education board, proved a high light. Its members were chosen by Bishop Beauchamp upon recommendation of the eight presiding elders in the conference.

The new board includes the Rev. G. H. Felding, of Clarendon, Va.; Dr. J. H. Wells, of Baltimore; the Rev. C. L. DeLong, of Hinton, W. Va.; the Rev. W. G. Winton, of Westernport, Md.; Dr. C. G. Martin, of Harrisonburg, Va.; the Rev. C. T. Collyer, of Edinburg, Va.; S. M. Todd, jr., of Cherrydale, Va.; H. C. Millikan, J. E. Miller, of Covington, Va.; B. F. Mitchell, of Petersburg, W. Va.; Charles S. Graybeale, of Christiansburg, Va.; J. N. Maxwell, of Waynesboro, Va.; G. H. Lamar, of Rockville, Md.; Mrs. E. L. Woolf, of Winchester, Va.; the Rev. W. M. Compton, of Leesburg, Va.; Mrs. W. H. Ballengee, of Goldsboro, Md.; E. Chase Bare, of Alderson, W. Va.; the Rev. J. A. Johnson, of Keyser, W. Va.; the Rev. F. M. Richardson, of Blacksburg, Va.; the Rev. B. V. Switzer, of Staunton, Va.; E. Barrett Prettyman, of Chevy Chase, Md.; N. J. Barrick, Dr. W. A. Shelton, of Emory University School of Theology, Atlanta, Ga., whose appointment as pastor of the Mount Vernon Place Church was announced recently, and Dr. H. Sydenstricker, of Roanoke, Va.

Seven Preachers Admitted.

Seven yuong preachers were admitted to the conference on trial. They included Paul Kemper Gentry and Nat G. Barnhart, of the Alexandria District; William Clay Sponaugle and Charles Lewis Robson, of the Baltimore District; Richard H. Bergdoll, of the Moorefield District; Lawrence Henry Greenwood, of the Roanoke District, and John Henry Davidson, of the Rockingham District.

Five others were elected for deacons' orders. They were Edward Davis Walraven and Albert Hinkle Shumate, of the Baltimore District; Samuel H. Schwartz and Dells C. Alford, of the Washington District and Francis Henry Strieby, of the Lewisburg District.

Reports From Elders.

Reports were received from the presiding elders fo the eight districts, who are the Rev. Dr. E. V. Regester, of the Alexandria District; the Rev. Dr. J. H. Balthis, of the Washington District; the Rev. Dr. M. L. Woolfe, of the Winchester District; the Rev. T. J. Lambert, of the Baltimore District; the Rev. G. W. Richardson, of the Lewisburg District; the Rev. C. M. Hesser, of the Moorefield District; the Rev. Dr. William F. Locke, of the Roanoke District, and the Rev Dr. Harry N. Canter, of the Rockingham District. The Rev. Dr. Cnater, a resident of Staunton, Va., was relected secretary of the conference for his sixteenth successive year.

Appointments were made by the conference to the Bible board, the corporate board of finance, the board of Christian literature, the board of temperance and social service, the commission on the budget, the board of church extension, the board of missions and the board of finance.
